ON THE QUICK STEP.

Every Salesman at his best. Those Summer Suits for Men and Boys on the quick step. Cool, comfortable, splendid fitting, reasonable in price. No wonder they're quick to step. They're just what are wanted. Have you seen the serge suits, $12? They look like other folks' Serge Suits as far as color goes. When you come to compare cloth, make up, fitting, sewing, trimming, then there's no comparison. That's why we have the demand for so many.

Don't handicap your holiday, Monday with a forgetful trifle: Make sure of it before 'tis too late. Let us know, let it be ever so little--no more than a scarf, A Summer Shirt, a pair of cuffs, a straw Hat. It may mean no more than a half dollar's worth to us and yet to you--a day's tranquility of dress.

Liberal prices and plenty of service to please you. This is a better Store than you could imagine for a man in a hurry.

The Prohibition National Convention
Has Begun Its Sessions at Cincinnati Today.

Ex-Governor St. John of Kansas was Temporary Chairman and Made a Brief Speech.

A. A. Stevens, of Pennsylvania, Has Been Selected to Act as Permanent Chairman.

CINCINNATI, June 29.—The music hall of the Queen city has been the scene of many a notable gathering that has left its impress upon the history of the state and of the country, but never has it held a more determined, earnest and enthusiastic meeting of men and women than that which assembled under its big dome this morning. The local committee had done its work well. Bunting, entwined and looped in graceful folds, ran from pillar to pillar between the balcony and the roof, crossing the intervening spaces in picturesque arches. Each one of the pillars, both on the ground floor and above, bore a large painted fac simile of the coat of arms of the various states and territories, supported on the right and left by the stars and stripes.

Over the stage, exquisitely painted on a single canvas surrounded by bunting and American flags of large dimensions, were portraits of well known leaders of the movement, including Neal Dow, Frances Willard, Gen. Fisk, A. B. Leonard, John B. Finch, ex-Governor St. John, and John Black. These were flanked on either side by portraits of Washington and Lincoln, while from the canvas extends to within a few feet of the stage an immense counterpart of the stars and stripes, with an inscription indicating that it was a historical flag made by a devout W. C. T. U. and worn by Woodburg, N. J., and had been unfurled for St. John in 1884, floated for Fisk in 1886, was suspended over the platform at Indianapolis in 1888, and would wave for the nominee of the convention.

But what attracted the greatest amount of attention on the part of the delegates and visitors were the score or more of motes that incandescence of white and blue bunting, ran around the railing of the balcony, making the entire circuit of the hall. Some of these were printed on big letters on white muslin so that they might be seen from the most distant seats. Frances Willard-Stevens, Black, St. John, Stewart and others of the old leaders as they appeared were recognized one by one. At 10:20 Chairman Dickie called the gathering to order and introduced Rep. J. G. Evans of Illinois, who delivered the invocation.

Rev. Dr. Lockwood, pastor of the First Baptist church, was introduced to deliver the address of welcome. Dr. Lockwood spoke as follows:

"National convention of the Prohibition party of 1892: The city of Cincinnati greets you. A Cincinnati greeting never lacks the grace of hospitality; all that the representatives of this city promised your executive committee at Chicago, will be confirmed and more than fulfilled during your stay with us. You will find perfect arrangements and accommodations, unrivaled hostesses and a press, more zealous than you have ever known at any convention, to report truthfully and in detail the proceedings of this body. The guests of Cincinnati are never treated with scant courtesy. On behalf of our best citizens regardless of political opinions, I give you welcome."

"On behalf of the Prohibitionists of Cincinnati, I give you welcome. 'Not many wise after the flesh, not many mighty, not many noble are called' in this city. Your coming has been earnestly desired, that our citizens may learn that in intelligence, culture and, best of all, character, the Prohibition party has never had a peer. On her platform are the ablest orators, among her counsellors the ripest scholars, and in her ranks the cleanest manhood. That in your conventions there is the dignity of moral purpose, the enthusiasm of the purest patriotism, the calm confidence of an unshaken faith. To this you differ from a convention, whose only dignity was in its numbers, whose enthusiasm was inspired in bar rooms, and whose calm confidence was in organized vice. To this you differ from a convention, whose only dignity was in its numbers, whose enthusiasm was inspired in bar rooms, and whose calm confidence was in organized vice."

"You are welcome by those in whom sentiment of loyalty to American institutions has survived. Welcome by those in this city, which is under the common double curse of immigrated depravity and a lawless liquor traffic, are hoping for better things. There is among our American population hidden fires of anger, rumblings of discontent, pent up resentments, which are full of the portent of our victory. The storm, which is slowly gathering has in it the stored up wrath of years, and its work will be swift and sure."

"The insolence and temerity of those against whom you are organized has fostered secret hate even in the servile office-holders in whom all love of country has not perished. From the governor in his chair to the policeman on his beat there is a concealed hatred of the traffic. A great deal of the battle against you is sham battle. Your chief work is to overcome animal gregariousness led by political herders, with the human organization of sentiment and principle."

"A belated and stooped panting impatiently at a Southern railway station. The express agent was hurried in his work. One of his men came with a puppy in his arms. 'Hurry up,' said the agent, 'where is that dog going?' And the man drawled out the answer, 'I dunno, he dunno noddin, dunno, he's ate his tag.' What would be the political destiny of the average Democrat or Republican if he should eat his tag?

"I welcome you on behalf of the most thoughtful, unselfish and best manhood among the labor leaders of our city. They are fast learning, that industrial conditions cannot be improved apart from the improvement of moral conditions. 'The soul of all improvement is the improvement of the soul. The Prohibition party has naturally, logically, become a party in sympathy and in alliance with the labor leaders. I welcome you on behalf of the party in Ohio. We mean that you shall have a royal welcome, and you shall, it could not be otherwise from the Queen city."

Chairman Dickie made a nice reply. The national committee recommended John H. St. John, of Kansas, for temporary chairman, and at the mention of the name of the ex-presidential candidate, the convention made the hall ring with cheers. When order had been restored the ex-governor spoke as follows:

"Members of the convention: I return my thanks and shall ever be grateful for the distinguished honor of being chosen to preside as temporary chairman of this magnificent political convention, the greatest and the grandest in sobriety, moral force and brain power that ever convened on American soil. [Applause.] It represents a party that dares to do right because it is right and condemn the wrong because it is wrong. [Cries of 'that's so.' It stands for peace, prosperity and happiness to every home, and death to every saloon in the land. [Applause.] It demands for women equal pay in the shop and equal say at the polls, [prolonged applause.] a free ballot for the white men of Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and Iowa, as well as for the black of Mississippi, Louisiana and South Carolina, that north and south, east and west, black and white, rich or poor, every human being should have protection to life and property. [Applause.]

"That the expenses of government be levied upon the wealthy instead of the necessities of the poor. [Applause.] We claim that any system which imposes a high tariff on the food, fuel and clothing of the poor, and lets the diamonds of the rich come in free is legalized robbery under the guise of 'protection' and ought to be forever abolished. [Loud applause.] That all money should be issued by the general government, and every dollar, whether gold, silver or paper, should stand upon an equality for all purposes, and that the coinage of both metals should be free. [Applause.] That railway and telegraph lines should be under the control of the government, to be operated at cost in the interest of all the people [applause]; that president, vice president and United States senators should be elected by a direct vote of the people, and that the term for president be extended to six years, with no successive term for any man [cries of 'that's right']; that all monopolies which suppress the people ought to be suppressed; that the legalized traffic for beverage purposes ought to be made a crime against humanity and driven from the face of the earth. [Loud applause.]

"The Prohibition party is the only party that dares to fight this mightiest curse of the world, [Cries of 'that's so.' Here we are, and we have come to stay. From this hour on let no fusion, no deals, no compromise, be our motto. [Loud applause.] Let our platform be broad, clear and comprehensive that all who love God, or home or country can join the procession against the greatest monopoly that ever existed. It destroys 150,000 lives and costs $1,500,000,000 annually, and sends misery, poverty, crime and heartache broadcast among the people. It is a product of Democratic and Republican rule, a damning plot upon our civilization and a sin against God. We are ready to move on to victory."

[Prolonged applause.] Repeated applause punctuated the address, especially the references to the platform and the question of non-fusion. A. G. Wolfenberger, of Nebraska; A. G. Wilcox, and G. W. Stevens, of Massachusetts, were made temporary secretaries.

A motion to adopt the rules of the last convention was amended by the national committee was carried. The committee on platform and the national committee were constituted. W. B. Dean and J. P. Pinkham were named for Minnesota. Pinkham is also a member of the committee on resolutions.

Immediately upon the adjournment of the convention the various committees assembled and proceeded to work. A. A. Stevens, of Pennsylvania, was at 2 o'clock selected for permanent chairman.

DESERTED HIS PARTY.

Senator Stewart Said to Have Quit the Republicans.
OMAHA, Neb., June 29.—It is reported today that a letter has been received in Omaha from Senator Stewart, of Nevada, formally deserting the Republican party. If the letter really exists, it is being kept secret, probably to be sprung on July 4. There is a strong sentiment for Stewart, but he cannot be nominated unless he comes out squarely on the St. Louis platform.

After Frank Shaw.

CHICAGO, June 29.—Que warrant proceedings have been instituted in the circuit court by Attorney General Hunt to forfeit the charter of the Mercantile Telegraph company. It is alleged the company is not carrying out the objects for which it was incorporated, but instead is conducting a pool room and gambling business.

Superintendent Wilder Dead.

OSHKOSH, Wis., June 29.—James Wilder died suddenly last evening at his home in West Algona of dropsy, aged 63 years. He was at one time postmaster of the state senate, and at the time of his death was superintendent of all the United States railway mail business west of the Rocky mountains.

Prof. Dwight Dead.

UTICA, N. Y., June 29.—Prof. Theodore W. Dwight, of Columbia college, died here this morning, after a short illness from heart trouble.

Coal Going Up.

NEW YORK, June 29.—The price of coal was advanced 25 cents today, to take effect Tuesday.

A NEW SECRETARY.

John W. Foster, of Indiana, Selected to Succeed Blaine as Secretary of State.

His Nomination was Forwarded to the Senate Today by President Harrison.

Several Other Appointments to Customs and Land Office Also Announced.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—The president sent to the senate today the following nominations: John W. Foster, of Indiana, to be secretary of state; James Lotan, of Oregon, to be collector of customs for the district of Williamette, Ore.; Capt. A. L. Smith, Fourth cavalry, to be captain and commissary officer of subsistence; A. G. Dodge, of Kansas, to be professor of mathematics in the navy; T. J. Sherwood, of California, to be receiver of public moneys at Marysville, Cal.; F. W. Boogs, of Nebraska, to be register of the land office at Neligh, Neb.

SKETCH OF FOSTER'S LIFE.
A Diplomatic Career Unequalled in American History.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—Hon. John W. Foster, who has been selected to be secretary of state, vice James G. Blaine, resigned, has had a diplomatic career probably unequalled in American history. Born in Indiana 55 years ago, he was educated in the public schools and graduated from the state university. He was admitted to the bar and, in connection with his practice of law, engaged in newspaper work, being connected with the Evansville Tribune. He served in the war of the rebellion, and after its close took a prominent part in the politics of the state.

In 1872, he served as chairman of the Republican state central committee, and in the next year he was appointed by President Grant minister to Mexico. He served successively as minister to Russia and Spain, acquiring himself with great credit, and winning for his country a higher regard than it had previously enjoyed at these courts. While Mr. Cleveland was in the presidential office, he complimented Mr. Foster by sending him as special envoy to Spain to negotiate a commercial treaty, in which he was successful, but the treaty failed of ratification in the senate.

When the McKinley bill made it incumbent upon the department to consummate the reciprocal trade arrangements provided for by section 3 of that act, Mr. Foster was placed in charge of the negotiations. His selection was vindicated by the facility and success with which these arrangements were perfected. Recently he has had charge of the Bering sea negotiations, and was president of the United States to prepare the case for presentation to the arbitrators.

Since his retirement from the regular diplomatic service of the government, Mr. Foster has acted as counselor for the Chinese, Spanish and Mexican legations in Washington, and his acceptance of the office, it is understood, involved a considerable personal financial sacrifice. The senate has confirmed his nomination as secretary of state.

MR. BLAINE'S SUCCESSOR.

Mike DeYoung Claimed Tracy Had Been Chosen.

NEW YORK, June 29.—M. H. De Young, of California, was at the Fifth Avenue hotel last night. "I have a bit of news for you," said Mr. De Young to a newspaper man who hurried to greet him at the hotel desk while he was registering, and the Californian's black eyes snapped with pride as professional eyes snapped at him. "General Tracy is going to take the vacant place in the state department and Governor Cheney, of New Hampshire, is going into the cabinet as Tracy's successor as secretary of the navy. This is straight, and both appointments have been settled upon by the president."

REPORTED FAVORABLY.

Senator Davis' Bill Regarding Retaliation Against Canada.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—The committee on foreign relations today reported favorably to the senate Senator Davis' bill to provide for retaliation against Canada. It provides that when the president is satisfied that Canada discriminates in the matter of tolls against American freight and passengers on Canadian canals or waterways he shall have the power and it shall be his duty to suspend the right of free passage through St. Mary's falls canal to the subjects and vessels of the power discriminating against our subjects and freights. In such a case a charge of not over $2 a ton on freight and not over $5 per passenger shall be charged.

Mr. Hale presented an elaborate conference report on the diplomatic and consular bill, which was agreed to. The senate, immediately after the conclusion of routine business, resumed consideration of the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill, the pending question being on the retention of the Utah commission. The house provision abolishing the Utah commission was stricken out by a vote of 28 to 24. The salaries of the commissioners were reduced to $2000, and it was also provided that commissioners hereafter to be appointed shall be residents of Utah.

A Brute Lynched.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., June 29.—A telephone message from Woodbury, this morning, says that Tom Lillard has been lynched. The brute confessed his guilt before the eyes of his victim.

It either hurts or galls them to see our store crowded all day long for they would not howl as they do. We do not pretend to tell our customers that all goods we handle are made exclusively for or the steamers that brought them over, or the train that brought them over, or the train that brought them over. But we do claim our money is worth more in the market than any other merchants here. Why? BECAUSE we can buy in larger quantities; that enables us to buy at a better price. SECONDLY, the largest importing houses don't call on the small trade, so they must confine themselves to high-priced jobbing houses, who will cut lengths to suit them and stick on a big profit.

POLITICS IN VANS.

Novel Method of Conducting an Election Canvass that is Practiced in England.

A Candidate Who Travels in a Van and Makes Speeches Along the Road.

Wherever a Crowd of Men Gathered a Meeting was Held in Open Air.

They know a thing or two in England about political electioneering, and now have not only all the standard American tricks but a few of their own. Electioneering in vans is the latest, and Mr. Barclay Howard, Liberal candidate for parliament for West Essex, has practiced it so diligently for the past three years that he has familiarized himself with every nook and corner of his division.

THE POLITICAL VAN.

The Epping division of Essex begins near London and runs out thirty-two miles, being but ten miles broad, and the outer part, strange to say, is one of the most rural and isolated regions in England. Mr. Howard and his wife travel in a so-called Bohemian van, one of the kind used by showmen and small peddlers, with two horses attached, and he makes speeches and delivers tracts wherever a crowd can be gathered. In answer to an interviewer he recently gave this account:

"We went at a very easy pace—not more than two and a half miles an hour—and when we came to a hamlet or village, or to a group of men working in the fields, we stopped and talked to them and distributed our literature. We always had a good stock of leaflets dealing with various subjects, which we assented on the way. An extra man whom we had occasionally to help us with the distribution gave us some amusement. One day on nearing a village I called out, 'Now, Bill, where are those packets?' for I had instructed him to arrange them for us. They were not to be found, however. 'This is too bad,' I said; 'they ought to have been ready. Come, sit down and put some together.' He started at once, but soon stopped. 'What's up now?' I asked. 'Oh, I can't find none of them cursed workuses.' This was his paraphrase of 'The Accursed Workhouse.' A bundle of having been fished out, he went on, but there was again a stop. 'There ain't no house o' lord, sir,' was the explanatory exclamation. I was tickled with his clean sweep of that antiradical institution, and still more so when he next announced, 'Oh, I'm sitting on 'em, sir.' This was, not many years ago, an intensely Tory district, and liberal speakers were egged. Now it is the Tory speakers who are in danger. It has also long been noted as one of the worst districts for general discomfort. Mr. Howard says, in general discomfited. 'I should like to add this, that I have never set the men against their masters. Although pledged to go to parliament to represent the agricultural laborer, I think I am called upon to represent the tenant farmer also. I am always urging upon the men that in these agricultural questions the interests of the laborer and the farmer are identical.'

A VETERAN NEWSPAPER MAN.

He Has Retired After a Long and Active Career.

Archibald McGregor, known in Ohio as the Nestor of Buckeye journalism, is one of the oldest newspaper men in the United States. After nearly half a century of editorial work he has retired and is living in easy circumstances at Canton, the same city where his long career as a journalist began. Mr. McGregor was born in Scotland in 1819, and came to America in 1828, locating in Stark county, O. Young McGregor began life as a school teacher, but early in the '40s engaged as editor of the Stark County Democrat. As editor and publisher of this paper he continued until recently, when the Democrat was sold to a stock company.

During President Cleveland's term of office Mr. McGregor was the innocent cause of a sensational incident which created national comment. He was an applicant for the Canton postmastership, and his indorsements were such as to lead to the belief that he would be successful. But Senator Payne caused the appointment to go to another gentleman. When the news reached Canton the Young Men's Democratic club proceeded to hang Mr. Payne in effigy. Mr. McGregor has fine literary attainments and is a poet of ability.

A Thrifty Zulu.
Tip-O-Tip, the only son of the fierce Cetewayo, late king of Zululand, is a young man of considerable ability, and withal an eye (and usually two eyes) on the main chance. Tip-O-Tip is now in America and aims to secure an education before returning to his own people. To raise money to pay his expenses in college he is giving small entertainments in western cities. They consist principally of native songs, chants, translations of the English to the Zulu tongue and in answering questions. He is only nineteen years of age and was induced to come to America by missionaries.

Gloomy Outlook for a Baby.
The daughter of the Chinese minister in Washington is one year old, and is about like other children of the same age, but she has only two years more of happy infancy before her, for when she reaches the age of three years her tiny feet will be swathed in tight bandages to retard their growth and to produce the pearly dimities which seem to be the delight of Chinese visual organs. The torture lasts for three years.

TOMMY ON MUSIC.

He Writes An Essay That Is Worth Printing.

"Now, Tommy," said the new teacher, "you must learn to speak well and write well, and to do this you must have practice, so you can write an essay a week. Is there any subject you would prefer?"

"No'm," answered Tommy, hoping to escape the formidable task.

"Then," said the teacher, "I will give you one. You may write your first essay on music."

Poor Tommy was discouraged. The idea of a boy like him writing an essay on music! All right, he wasn't going to be bluffed, and he told the teacher he would do it.

The next Tuesday afternoon the teacher was handed the following:

ESSAY ON MUSIC.
All noises are of two kinds—musical and otherwise, generally otherwise.

When music began nobody is sure. Mebbe when Adam waked up on creation mornin' and went out to kill a Spring chicken for Eve's breakfast, he heard the first Cow singing contraltos, which made our fourfather feel very bad. It made him worst to go in the house and hear Eve singing "Sweet Violets" to little Cain, who was afterwards a murderer, and no wonder.

Several hundred years after that "Only a Pansy Blossom" was composed, and then began the Dark Ages.

Now music rules the world. (I found that in a book.) No other art or science ever had so many followers—not even Poker. And that is why we have Gilmore's Orchestra and Thomas's Band and the High School Orchestra.

Among the greatest musishuns the world ever seen is Mozart and Beethoven. Sappho gave piano, violin and harmony lessons in ancient Greece, and became so famous that she had a ferryboat named after her.

Mozart is best known by a picture called "Last Hours of Mozart." Sappho, Mozart and Beethoven are dead, but Joe Flinn still lives, because he wrote "Down Went McGinty."

I will close my essay with some sweet music of my own.

Of all sweet words that tongue can speak, The sweetest are these, 'no school next week.' —Detroit Free Press.

Her Reason.
Even an artistic judgment depends on "the point of view." A lady who saw that her servant girl seemed to take a certain interest in the objects of art in her parlor said to her:

"Which one of these figures do you like best, Mary?"

"This one, mum," said Mary, pointing to the armless Venus of Milo.

"And why do you like the Venus best?"

"Sure, it's the easiest to do, mum," answered the girl.—Youth's Companion.

Poker Terms.
A "dusted flush." —Life.

Reassured.
Lady (whose young niece is about to go for a sail with some members of a rowing club)—I should like to go with you, only I am so afraid of drowning. Are the gentlemen good swimmers?

Gentlemen (in chorus)—Oh, no; we can't swim at all!

Lady—Then I think I'll go with you, for in that case you are sure to be careful.—Pauderecke.

Nothing Thrown In.
Landlord of Watering Place Hotel—Does Moneyvug like that south room?

Clerk—Yes, sir, he's delighted with it. Says he takes a sun bath in the bay window every day.

Landlord—He does, hey? We'll look into that; our charges are extra for baths. —Chicago Tribune.

A Plea in Extenuation.
Judge (to prisoner)—You admit having perpetrated the burglary at the government tax office. Have you anything more to say?

Prisoner—I plead extenuating circumstances, as I used the money for paying my arrears of taxes.—Seifenblasen.

Fishing.
A youth beside the water sits, The noonday sun is warmly beaming; His nose and neck are turkey red, His eye with radiant hope is gleaming. He watches close the bobbing cork Advance upon the tiny billows; A jerk, a swirl, and high above He lands a sucker in the willows.

That's fishing.
A fair maid trips the tennis court, A dozen eyes admire her going; Her black and yellow blazer burns A hole right through the sunset's glowing. She drives the ball across the net, And into hearts consumed with wishing She drives a dart from Cupid's bow.

That's fishing.
The politician on his rounds Tackles both workman and stranger; He tries to make them think that he Alone can save the land from danger. He chuckles the baby on the chin, He says your wife looks really youthful, And, though you know you're fifty-five, You look just twenty—if he's truthful.

That's fishing.
My little wife beside me stands And steals a dimpled arm around me; A kiss upon my lip—that's bait— Some information to astound me. Her bonnet is quite out of style, Her summer wrap quite just the using; That lovely one—so cheap—at Brown's Is just the one she would be choosing.

That's fishing.
So, whether the game be fish or men, The bait be kisses, words or bluses— The place at home, by sunny pool, Or teals ground at evening's hushes— The old game the serpent played With Mother Eve in Eden's bowers, And Adam's sons and daughters all Will love the sport to time's last hours.

That's fishing.

CUT DOWN YOUR SHOE BILL

Attention, Mothers and Fathers! Why not have your Shoes and Kid Gloves as well as those of your Children looking like new continually? Why have them looking worn and rough when you can avoid it?

To do this you have only to oil them once a month with Tanner's Oil. Tanner's Oil does not injure but benefits the leather. It is now prepared by us for family uses. It prevents leather getting hard and from cracking, keeps it looking fresh and smooth, makes it soft and pliable and absolutely water-proof. Best of all—Shoes and Gloves kept thusly in good condition—will outwear three pair worn ordinarily. One box should last a family of three or four. On ladies' and children's wear you should use it instead of Blacking. Gentlemen can shine their shoes after using it equally as well as before. All we desire is to have you give it a trial. Shoe Dealers, Glovers, and those Dry Goods merchants who sell Kid Gloves should have it on hand to furnish up their stock that has become shopworn. It will give it an absolutely new appearance. Your youngest apprentice can apply it. Price by mail 40 cents. Special price to Dealers.

EDITOR DAILY CALL, West Superior—Some time ago I received a letter from my brother-in-law, Mr. Kennedy, of Saginaw, Mich., stating that he saw by the Superior papers that Dr. Speer was in this city. Knowing that Dr. Speer had cured my brother about two years ago of rheumatism, I called on Mr. Speer. He, without asking a question, described in detail my condition, in fact, better than I knew myself.

He located every pain, and told me what to do in order to get well. Everything he has done has acted as he said it would. I have only been under treatment a few weeks and I feel like a new man today. The other doctors I consulted would not or could not do me any good; neither were they able to tell me what my trouble was. The pains, mental depression, weakness and pain in the back and bad taste in the mouth, with all the other symptoms, have vanished. I look upon Dr. Speer as a marvel in the treatment of all diseases. Will be pleased to give any further information to anyone calling upon me.

NOTED MAN'S WIFE.

Interesting Gossip About Mrs. Chauncey M. Depew, Who is a Lady of Ability.

Said to be as Brilliant and as Good a Story-Teller as Chauncey Himself.

The Jamaican Exhibit at the World's Fair Will Contain Much of Interest.

Mrs. Chauncey M. Depew, who will in all probability be a leader of society in Washington, is a native of New York city, as both her parents were. Both of them also sprung from old New York families. Her father was William A. Ogden Hege, a merchant of original Huguenot stock, and her mother, who is still living, was a MacNiven.

It is said that in her circle Mrs. Depew is quite as brilliant and quite as good a story teller as the genial Chauncey himself, but she does not devote much of her time to society. She and her husband are devout attendants at St. Bartholomew's Episcopal church, and are very liberal to the church and its charities and active in both. As president of the Ladies' Hahnemann Hospital association she has a great deal of board and committee work to do, and is one of the best solicitors for charitable funds in New York city. Her private charities are also extensive.

Personally Mrs. Depew is of a slender and graceful figure, a little above the medium height, with large, dark and expressive eyes and a clear, rosy complexion. She is very social, quick at repartee and rather witty in general conversation, which, with a superior education and great fund of general information, makes her a very desirable companion. The pride of her life is "Buster," as he is popularly called, that is, Chauncey Mitchell Depew, Jr., their only child.

MRS. CHAUNCEY M. DEPEW.

He is twelve years old, and by the combined advantages of travel and his mother's training is a prodigy of learning. He converses freely in French and German. He knows the history of the United States and has a natural passion for politics. In fact both mother and son take as much interest in public affairs as does Mr. Depew himself, and their talk amuses the railroaders and statesmen a great deal. Two young daughters of Mrs. Depew's sister, who died several years ago, also have a home in the family.

No picture of Mrs. Depew does her justice, as pictures can only show the regularity of her features and not the variety of expression and beauty of coloring. For many years Mrs. Depew acted as her husband's private secretary, and when that work was handed over to an employee he soon got the popular dinner-out engagements so mixed that she had to take that part of it up again. The invitations to Mr. Depew often exceed a hundred per week, and if he accepted half the calls to dinner he would never be at home. He says nothing of indigestion. Nor if he spoke as often as requested would he have time to eat. Of late years Mrs. Depew has appeared in society very little, as several deaths of near relatives have followed each other in rapid succession.

The Jamaican exhibit at Chicago will be under the charge of Lieutenant Colonel C. J. Ward, the commissioner from that island. Everything will be displayed from the fruit trade down to the most ordinary manufactured articles. For example, the fiber industry will be thoroughly explained, the coconut tree and articles manufactured from it, such as the nuts, matting, scrubbing brushes, the new material which is used instead of cotton waste, and everything else that can be obtained of like character. In addition to showing the samples of manufactured articles, such as pottery, tiles, etc., the various sorts of clay will be placed on view. The advisability of having an "afternoon coffee" two or three times a week in the Jamaica court has been suggested, making it a sort of rendezvous where West Indians can drop in and drink Jamaica coffee with their friends. Lectures or talks may also be given.

English Criticism of Irving.
The London dramatic critics do not all kneel at the shrine of Henry Irving, as has been popularly supposed. William Archer says Irving's Richelieu is chiefly interesting to him "as a study in theatrical optics." Bulwer's play was lately revived for Saturday nights at the London Lyceum. The performance was very popular. "To watch it from the stalls," says Mr. Archer, "is like standing beside a brilliant scene painter at his work. He lays on splash after splash of color with a sort of Broddingnagian lavishment, and the fun of the thing is to try to place yourself, by an effort of the imagination, at the right distance for appreciating his intentions and seeing his picture as it is meant to be seen."

On a Street Car.
Pretty Girl—Will you put me off at the next corner?
Conductor—No, miss.
P. G. (indignant)—Why not, sir?
Conductor (blushing)—There's no occasion to miss, but I'll stop the car and let you get off if you wish.—Detroit Free Press.

While Joseph Tolloway, aged fourteen years, of Portsmouth, Pa., was riding in a Reading railroad passenger car, he grasped the branch of a tree from the car window. He was drawn through the window and fell violently on the track. His injuries are serious.

Funny things sometimes happen in church. One of them occurred upon a recent Sunday, when a young man came to church late, slipped into an unoccupied seat and sat down directly on top of a high silk hat belonging to the man in the next pew. The hat gave way with a loud crack, and just then the clergyman's voice arose in solemn accents, reading the first verse of the Psalter for the day: "O Lord, thou hast searched me out and known me. Thou knowest my down sitting and mine uprising."—New York Recorder.

A Fable Worth Remembering.
A tiger once invited a goat to dinner. The goat was tickled to death at the notice of the beast, and wore his spike tailed coat and link sleeve buttons in token of his appreciation. "Can I help you to some of this venison steak?" the tiger asked the goat very cordially. The goat could not eat venison steak, but he dissembled cleverly and preserved a smiling exterior. "My physician," he protested, "positively forbids venison steak."

"There was nothing else on the table, and the poor goat was obliged to sit idly by while the tiger devoured a hearty repast. But the goat was not disposed to deprive himself of the sweets of revenge. He accordingly pressed the tiger to dine with him the following evening.

"The invitation was accepted with thanks, and promptly on time the tiger thrust his hind legs under the goat's mahogany. "Can I help you," sweetly inquired the host, "to some of this fricassee tomato can with brown paper sauce?"

"No, thank you," rejoined the tiger. "My doctor forbids."

"So sorry," murmured the goat in secret glee. "I fear you will have only an unsatisfactory meal."

"Oh, I shall do very well," protested the tiger. Whereat he fell upon and devoured the goat himself.

"Alas!" exclaimed the latter with his dying breath. "I was too funny."

This fable teaches that it is perfectly proper to take an insult from some people without resenting it. It is all a matter of judgment.—Detroit Tribune.

The Light on Limbo Jones.
"Good mornin', Miss Jackson," said Mr. Limbo Jones gallantly to the belle of the quarters.

"I hain' no Miss Jackson," was her discourteous reply.

Mr. Jones looked at her critically. Didn't he know her well? Had he not been courtin' her off and on for a year?

"Hain' no Miss Jackson?" he said questioningly. "who is you, dear?"

"Is Mrs. Lightfoot, sah; da's who I is," and she tossed her head loftily.

"Mrs. Lightfoot? Mrs. Lightfoot?" he repeated slowly. "When dat happen?"

"Last night at seven o'clock, Mr. Jones."

"What Lightfoot is dat you marry, Miss Jackson?"

"Henry, Mr. Jones."

"Henry Lightfoot?" he exclaimed angrily. "What you gwine fur you gwine marry dat lazy, good fer nothin' nigger wen you know I've been co'tin' you fer mo'n a year? What fur you do dat, Miss Jackson?"

"Caze he axed me, Mr. Jones."

Then it was a great light shone on Mr. Limbo Jones, and he went to a sequestered spot and kicked himself across a cornfield.—Detroit Free Press.

A Speech for the Occasion.
A birthday gift was given to a wife by her husband and three children. The youngest, a little ten-year-old, was appointed to make the speech of presentation. She did it after much preparation for the occasion, and this was the form it took:

What Germany's Army Costs.

Some idea may be formed of what it costs to indulge in the inexpressible luxury of a large standing army, when it is stated that Germany since the Franco-Prussian war has spent more than $1,250,000,000 on her army and navy. These are figures which almost take one's breath away, but they are correct notwithstanding.

International Christian Endeavor Convention.

The eleventh gathering of this great body of Christian workers will be held in New York city, July 7 to 10.

At the request of the Minnesota state committee, "The Burlington" has arranged to run a special Christian Endeavor train through to New York, consisting of baggage cars, Pullman's finest vestibuled sleepers and the peerless Burlington route dining cars.

This train will leave Minneapolis at 10:35 a. m., St. Paul 11:10 a. m., Tuesday, July 5, stopping at Winona, La Crosse, Prairie du Chien, Dubuque and Savanna to receive delegates from those points, giving a whole day to enjoy the beautiful scenery along the banks of the Upper Mississippi. A special stop will be made at Hager, Wis., for those desiring to join the excursion.

Niagara Falls will be reached at 3 p. m. Wednesday, where a stop of seven hours will be made. The train will arrive in New York at 10:45 a. m. Thursday, July 7. The entire expense from Minneapolis or St. Paul, including round trip ticket, double berth in sleeping car, meals en route, four days board at Hotel Marlborough and official badge will be $53. This does not include sleeping car and meals on rest trip. A considerable saving may be made by taking a lunch basket—coffee and tea will be served from the dining cars to those desiring. These tickets will be good to return until July 17, but an extension of time to Aug. 15 may be obtained by depositing the ticket with the joint agent in New York on or before the 15th, until you are ready to return, when the ticket will be made good for passage from the hotel to the train.

The usual amount of baggage will be checked through. Applications for tickets by this special train should be made to J. E. Thwing, 805 Sykes block, Minneapolis, Minn., with the following exceptions: North Dakota, R. M. Caruthers, Grand Forks; or W. J. Lane, Fargo; Montana, G. C. Tilly, Helena; St. Paul, Wm. G. PROGRAM OF GAMES

Chairman Wilson, of the Committee on Sports, Prepares a Fine List of Contests.

City Council and Commercial Organizations of Superior to be Invited to Participate.

Everybody Preparing for a Gala Day and the Celebration Will be a Pronounced Success.

Another meeting of the Fourth of July joint committee was held last evening and the sub-committees reported progress. Chairman A. S. Wilson, of the committee on sports reported that he had selected to work with him, Professor Alletthausen, of Turner hall, Walter Lutes, the Y. M. C. A. instructor, Joe Dodge, Colin Thomson and M. S. Burrows. They worked all day yesterday and arranged the program of games which is as follows:

Calisthenics—Duluth Turn Verein; horizontal and parallel bar exercises. Professor Alletthausen's class; sausage competition; dash, 100 yards; egg race; putting the shot; contest; three-legged race; high jump; sack race; pole vault; wheelbarrow race; tug of war, five minutes' pull between five men from Company A and five from Clan Stewart; bicycle race; football match, forty minutes, Duluth vs. West Superior.

The calisthenics and horizontal bar exercises will take place in the pavilion and the others outside. The judges chosen are W. P. Lardner, Simon Clark and Jay Anderson. The starter will be J. Buxton. Entries can be made with Joe Dodge at the Spaulding or Prof. Alletthausen at Turner hall, and all must be in by Saturday evening. The list of prizes is being prepared and some handsome ones will be offered.

The city council and commercial organizations of Superior will be invited to participate, and the West Superior band has been engaged. The grounds are being prepared, and W. B. Welles, of that committee, reported that they would soon be in condition. Prof. Denfeld was at the meeting, and said that he would do his best to get up a Goddess of Liberty float, and also get the school children out. The exhibition of fire works will be a grand one and a large sum will be expended in obtaining material for it. The posters announcing the celebration were issued today and will be spread all over the city and surrounding country.

The grand parade takes place at 2 o'clock and will be the most imposing demonstration of its kind ever seen in Duluth. A number of business houses will have floats and some of them will be very elaborate and handsome. The exercises begin at 2 o'clock in the pavilion. Mayor d'Autremont is to be master of ceremonies and Franklin Paine marshal of the day.

SUPERIOR DOINGS.

Peddler Ordinance Defective—Cullen Issues a Challenge.

The peddler ordinance is defective and will not hold water and Superior is now threatened with an invasion by an army of the gentry. The council will prepare a new ordinance at once.

Richard Cullen has challenged Hon. N. P. Haugen, J. J. Jenkins and Jesse B. Thayer to a joint debate on "The Industrial Wants of the Tenth Congressional District and How Best to Serve Them in the Halls of Congress." He will meet them individually or collectively anywhere they may choose.

Dr. L. B. Shehan has been appointed marine physician in this city. His commission was received from Washington yesterday.

The board of public works has requested a conference with the management of the street railway in the matter of changing the method of laying tracks on paved streets.

About 2 o'clock yesterday morning burglars gained an entrance to the store room of Johnson, Eastlund & Dahl, at Fifth and Huron streets, and stole five hundred weight sacks of flour. The authorities have no clue.

The woolen mills purchased 28,000 pounds of wool from George Dunn, Sparta, yesterday. The mills are using Wisconsin wool exclusively now.

The following circular has been issued by General Superintendent Kimberly, of the Northern Pacific railway. The Lake Superior division of the Northern Pacific system will embrace the lines heretofore known as the Wisconsin division from Ashland to South St. Paul, and the East Minnesota division from Duluth to Staples. The division will be in charge of Superintendent F. Greene, with headquarters at West Superior. Assistant Division Superintendent A. J. Sovereign will go to Fergus Falls. Mr. Greene will bring his private secretary, J. Watson Buford, to Superior.

HAS NO LICENSE.

A Duluth Institution to be Prevented from Working in Michigan.

A telegram from Oshkosh says: "Notice has been received in this city by the American Mutual Accident association that the Northwestern Benevolent association, with headquarters at Duluth, has no license to do business in the state of Michigan."

The notice came from William E. Maple, the state insurance commissioner, who offers to prosecute the parties who have done business in his state if proper evidence can be shown. The notice is the outcome of action taken by the American Mutual Accident association. The Duluth association went into Michigan to do business, over-crowding upon the territory of the Oshkosh association. The latter, becoming convinced that the Duluth company had no right to do business in that state, brought the matter to the attention of the insurance commissioner, with the result as stated. Unless the state of Michigan is vacated by the Duluth association the matter will be brought into the courts.

The Northwestern Benevolent society is probably the institution referred to in the above, but at the company's office here nothing has been heard of any such action. The society has been doing business in Michigan, however.

BROKE THE RECORD.

The Street Cars Carried 22,894 Passengers on Circus Day.

On Monday last—Circus day—the Duluth Street Railway company carried 22,894 passengers. The greatest previous records were on Memorial day last month, when 16,251 people were carried, and on circus day last year, when exactly 14,000 fares were rung up. The increase of Monday is, therefore, 6640 over Memorial day and 8894 over the Ringling circus day a year ago.

AMUSEMENTS.

Another Good Production.

The Miller-Calhoun Opera company had another good audience last evening and pleased everybody in "Boccaccio." The presentation was fully as good as on the evening previous and nothing more could be asked. "Said Pasha" is being given at the matinee this afternoon, and tonight "Boccaccio" will be put for the last time this week.

The "Two Orphans."

The Baldwin-Melville combination had a good audience last evening and the "Two Orphans" was put on in good shape. The company is playing at cheap prices, but has some good material nevertheless. Pearl Melville did good work as Louise the blind girl, and Allen Demond in the characters of Lt. Chevalier and Pierre appeared well. Millie Willard as the countess and Mother Frochard was strong. "East Lynne" tonight.

Dutton, two-story frame dwelling, First street between Sixth and Seventh avenues east, cost $5000; H. H. Hanford, double frame dwelling, Third street between Second and Third avenues west, cost $7000; W. M. Buckley, two-story frame dwelling, Fourteenth avenue east between Third and Fourth streets, cost $2200; Matthew Ettinger, two-story frame dwelling, Glen Avon addition, $2000; George Smith, one-story frame dwelling, Sixth street between Second and Third avenues east, cost $600; Peter Olsen, repairs to dwelling, Fourth street between Piedmont and Twentieth avenues west, cost $400.

The Municipal Court.

John Burke, Michael Hackett and John Murphy acknowledged that they were drunk when arrested and their frankness cost them each a ten day commitment as they did not have the necessary $12 to satisfy outraged justice. Wm. Koigen was arraigned for assaulting Benjamin Benson with a piece of brick and pleaded not guilty. He will be tried tomorrow at 2 o'clock. The cases of the Tower rioters came up this afternoon and were on motion of the prosecution continued until next Tuesday.

How to Become Fleshy.

Dr. Miles' Nervine not only cures all nervous diseases, headache, blues, nervous prostration, sleeplessness, neuralgia, St. Vitus' dance, fits and hysteria, but also builds up the body. "I am pleased to say that after years of intense suffering with nervous disease, headache, and prostration, I tried Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, and in two weeks gained eight pounds in weight. I could not lie down to sleep, but now sleep perfectly easy, and am still improving wonderfully. Cannot say enough for the Nervine."—Mrs. L. B. MILLARD, Waukegan, N. Y. "One customer used Nervine, and gained fifteen pounds in flesh, says Brown & Maybury, Cortland, N. Y." Trial bottles and elegant book free at all druggists.

To do fine dental work is one thing, and to do it at moderate prices is another. Dr. Schiffman does both. He does more than this. He fills the most sensitive teeth without pain by Dr. Hale's new method of painless filling. Most people know a thing or two about the painfulness of dental operations, and would give anything to safely dodge it. There is but one way to do it. Go to Dr. Schiffman in the Woodbridge block. There are now upwards of 500 in this city who can testify to this.

If you want a loan, and want it at the lowest rates and on short notice, Stryker, Manley & Buck is the firm you want to see.

For Picnics and Lunchees.

Have your meat market order your some chickens of the Stephen Produce company.

For the New Store.

E. P. Calder, buyer for Pantan & Watson's crockery and silverware departments, went East last night to purchase goods for their new store. Pantan & Watson will own every department in their new store, and the people can depend on it that this old reliable firm will show a line of goods that would do credit to a city four times the size of Duluth.

Loan Wanted.

GAVE HIMSELF UP.

Ex-Teller McCredie, of National Savings Bank of Buffalo, Surrendered and Bailed.

Each Day Brings New Revelations of Fraud in the Affairs of the Bank.

The Bank Examiner Says it is the Worst Case in His Long Experience.

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 29.—Ex-Teller McCredie, of the National Savings bank, surrendered himself last night on the charge of forgery preferred against him by a depositor. Bail was fixed at $5000, which was furnished and McCredie was released. Cashier Armstrong is still in jail, not having been able to secure bail.

Each day brings new revelations of fraud in the affairs of the bank and yesterday's discoveries were as great as those of any preceding day since the investigation began. Chief Bank Examiner Judson has ceased to talk about the bank's condition and this adds to the conviction that it is more deplorable than has yet been estimated. He did say last night, however, that this was the worst case that he had any knowledge of during a bank experience of twenty-five years.

THE REPUBLICAN CLUBS.

The Platform Adopted Today by the New York League.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., June 29.—A few minutes after 10 o'clock this morning, when President McAlpin and Secretary Hedges came into the convention hall, there were not fifty delegates to the state Republican league convention in their seats. The executive committee of the league has decided to give Secretary Hedges the $3000 salary which he asked as a condition of continuing in office. He will be re-elected. President McAlpin has decided to accept a reelection also.

The platform adopted by the league of Republican clubs today, congratulates the lovers of good government on the bright prospects of a continuation of the national administration as now conducted by President Harrison. It also congratulates the citizens of this state on an aroused public sentiment, which assures the people of a speedy return to fair and honest administration of public affairs in this commonwealth. After endorsing the national Republican platform, the platform goes on to say that in the organization of the American College Republican league, "the young Republicans in the colleges and universities of the nation have performed an act which merits and receives our heartiest commendation and congratulations, and furthermore, that we cordially welcome them to active participation in the affairs of the state."

"Recognizing, as we do, the fact that a large number of women are employed in the factories of this country, which are shielded by a protective tariff from ruinous competition, and recognizing the great influence which women exert upon moral and political questions, therefore be it resolved, that we urge the hearty co-operation of all women in the great struggle for the protection of their rights, for the protection of our homes and for the sides and to this end we invite their assistance."

THIS MAKES EIGHT.

Another Son Born to the Honorable Mrs. Montagu.

LONDON, June 29.—Mrs. Anne Margaret Montagu, who is serving a sentence of one year for the manslaughter of her infant daughter, Mary Helen, has been delivered of a son in prison. This makes eight sons, all of them living, born to the honorable and Mrs. Montagu. Their only daughter was the little one done to death by Mrs. Montagu's cruelty.

Mrs. Montagu has had nearly an average of one child a year since her marriage in 1880. The boys are all fine little fellows, but several of them also have been most cruelly treated by the mother, who has the most severe ideas of parental discipline.

WAS SHOT BY A BOY.

An Accidental Shooting Affair in the Woods at Aitkin.

AITKIN, Minn., June 29.—Last evening as C. A. Pierce and his young son, together with John Chumk, were looking for their cows in the woods young Pierce, who was walking behind with a shotgun and fighting mosquitoes, tripped over a bush and fell.

The gun exploded, the charge of buckshot striking Chumk, who was walking ahead. Young Pierce and his father carried the injured man over a mile, when the boy came to town and telegraphed to Brainerd for a doctor.

WILL BUILD AT ONCE.

The South Shore Road. Will Build Into Duluth.

MARQUETTE, Mich., June 29.—The Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic road has let a contract for its extension from Iron River junction to Duluth, thirty miles, to Henry & Balch, of Minneapolis. They will begin work on Monday of next week and place 2,000 men on the work, as they are to turn the road over in shape for operation by October 1.

THE ANTI-OPTION BILL.

It Will Probably Come up in the Senate Tomorrow.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—The Washburn anti-option bill will come up for consideration in the senate on Thursday. Senator Washburn said today that he had every hope of securing its passage. He will have charge of the bill on the floor, and will probably make a speech that will rally the best he has delivered since his advent in congress. He anticipates energetic opposition, of course, but is of the opinion that the votes pledged will stick, and if they do his measure will become a law.

President Harrison will approve the anti-option bill if the senate passes it. He has given some attention to the measure, particularly looking into the constitutional aspect of it, and is satisfied that the act can do no harm to business interests and may do much good. There seems to be little hope for the enemies of the bill to defeat it. There is only a chance in delay. The Minnesota senator is confident that the majority are for the bill, or at least will vote for it, if it is brought to a vote. The produce exchanges are waging a spirited warfare, but seemingly with no injurious effect. It is said there are over fifty votes for the bill in the senate.

FOR THE WORLD'S FAIR.

An Elaborate Production of the Passion Play Planned.

CHICAGO, June 29.—A strong syndicate representing men of influence and money in both Austria and the United States has been busily engaged for the last few weeks in perfecting the preliminary plans for a dramatic enterprise which, if successful, will surpass anything in the line of dramatic production that has ever been attempted not only in Chicago, but in all the United States as well.

The object of the syndicate is to produce a unique production of the World's fair the Passion Play exactly in the manner that it has been enacted by the people of Oberammergau, Bavaria, for centuries, at intervals of ten years. Yesterday the secretary of state at Springfield granted a license incorporating "The Original Oberammergau Passion Play association," with a capital stock of $500,000. The names of the incorporators are Charles M. Rosenthal, Bernard Hoffman, and Sigmund Zeisler.

REGULAR TEXAN STYLE.

Reached for Their Guns and the Quickest Man Lives.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., June 29.—Jordan Bennet was shot through the body by John Good at Alpine, a small town 500 miles west of here; yesterday. Bennet returned the fire and wounded Good in the hip. Bennet may die. The trouble between the men arose over the marriage of Bennet to Miss Josie Darling on Monday. Good is a friend of the Darling family. He met the couple yesterday and remarked: "Well, Josie, you have got a man at last."

The bridegroom immediately reached for his hip pocket and Good, who is an old hand at the revolver, fired. But one shot was exchanged. The wife rushed herself upon the prostrate body of her husband, and when torn from him was covered with blood. Good, it is said, was an ardent suitor of the girl.

GLADSTONE WELL AGAIN.

Given a Great Reception on His Way to Scotland.

LONDON, June 29.—Mr. Gladstone started today for his campaign in Midlothian. He looked healthy and vigorous and had evidently fully recovered from the shock caused by the assault upon his person. The only sign of the blow which he received Saturday was a shade over the affected eye.

At Chester he was received with great enthusiasm and at every station along the route on his way to Scotland, crowds thronged to see the statesman of the Liberal champion. In reply to the cheers of the people, Mr. Gladstone delivered brief and spirited addresses, in which he urged the importance of ear-liest and united action on the part of the people in the assertion of British rights and the redress of Ireland's wrongs.

A VIOLENT FUSILADE.

Fireworks Exploded by Natural Gas and Several Persons Injured.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, June 29.—Escaping natural gas caused an explosion in the confectionery store of Robert Dent, East State street, at 7:30 this morning. The explosion ignited a quantity of fireworks and there was a violent fusillade for several minutes.

Daniel Kramer was blown into the back yard, his face and body badly burned and bruised, but not seriously injured. The front door was hurled from its hinges and Robert Dent, Jr., who was just entering, was thrown into the street, but not seriously injured. Loss about $1,000.

PROMISED TO BE GOOD.

A Quarrel Between Sullivan and His Backer Patched Up.

NEW YORK, June 29.—John L. Sullivan and his backer Charley Johnson, had a little quarrel at Coney Island Monday night because of John's unsteady habits of late, but the matter has been patched up by Sullivan promising to start at once for his training quarters.

Sullivan will keep his word and start today with his trainer, Phil Casey, for Oyster Bay to begin work. Casey and Sullivan will be constantly together from now on until the big fight event in New Orleans is decided.

BANDITS IN ARMOR

Two Men Who Recently Robbed a California Train Wore Bullet-Proof Vests.

Breastplates Strong Enough to Turn a Pistol Ball of Forty-Five Caliber.

Their Plunder Supposed to be Cashed and People are Searching For It.

Jesse James died by the pistol of Bob Ford, and now Bob has died by an equally cowardly shot. Frank James lives a very retired life and the younger boys are in the Minnesota penitentiary. Still they have their successors, and in some respects the train robbers of today have improved upon the old methods. The latest case from the far west has some features which remind us of the armored banditti of the Middle Ages and the robber castles of the Rhine.

John Gillson and Henry Mortenson started from San Francisco with two sacks of coin—$14,000 in gold and $1,000 in silver—to pay the employees of the Judson

ONE OF THE BREASTPLATES.

Manufacturing works at Emeryville, or B street station, the last suburban stop on the Berkeley railway. Just as the train stopped two men "covered" the specific bearers with revolvers, grabbed the cash, jumped off and into a buggy and escaped. So much the telegraph has told, but there are additional and curious particulars. Three hours later the buggy was found and in it the overalls and other outer clothing the robbers had worn as disguises, also lemons and other materials for the rapid removal of smut from the face. For the robbers were blacked to look like coal heavers.

But what excited most astonishment were the coats of mail found in the buggy. These were breastplates strong enough to turn a pistol ball of 45-caliber. Each was found to fit snugly over the chest, being 14 by 12 inches, and perforated at each corner and fitted with strings for tying. There was also a heavy rubber life preserver to protect the abdomen, and it was so tough that a pistol bullet would not penetrate it. The robbers had cut these things off in their haste, as they also had their overalls.

Mr. Gillson had recovered himself in time to rush to the car door and fire several shots. One of the robbers fell, but if hit he was not badly hurt, as he clambered into the buggy, which was driven off at a rapid rate. There was of course a fine commotion on the train—women screaming and fainting and men shouting, "Don't shoot!" The comedy of it was that as there was a big picnic party on the train, everybody thought it was only a picnic row, and no one tried to stop the men in the buggy.

The theory of the police is that the robbers drove with all haste to the first secluded spot and there, containing a small sum of money and a gold watch and chain, then stripped off their disguises, walked and sauntered into town like innocent pedestrians. So all the boys in that region are searching for the hidden plunder. Be that theory true or false, the robbers certainly took big chances, got away with $15,000 and at last accounts had not been captured.

A Second Lieutenant Anastasy.
The Baroness Dellard was murdered in broad day, in her apartments in Paris, by Lieutenant Anastasy, who secured access to the house in the garb of an ordinary man of business. It was a sensational case, exciting all France, and scarcely a day ago guillotined when Mme. Lecocq, a superannuated servant, had a narrow escape from the same fate. A stranger entered, begged for food and received it. She was then seized by her uninvited guest, who sequestered her throat until the blood came out of her nostrils. The stranger then placed the old woman, who was in an unconscious condition, on her bed, and pillaged the room. He succeeded in getting away with a purse containing a small sum of money and a gold watch and chain. The victim was for two hours in a semi-comatose condition, but eventually regaining consciousness she tottered to her window and shouted for help, which soon came. She stated to the police that she had no knowledge whatever of the would-be murderer, who offered her on entering her room an envelope containing a religious picture.

Algerian Lynch Law.
"Lynch law" has been practically established in Algeria, with the moral connivance of the authorities. This primitive state of things has been brought about owing to the lack of judges and gendarmes. The other day an Arab, who had assaulted and slain a little girl near Constantine, under circumstances of atrocious cruelty, was followed by some of his indignant fellow countrymen, seized by them and flung over a precipice before the police could interfere. In the space of eighteen months eight criminals—some of whom were convicts returned from Cayenne—have been shot for murder and robbery without the benefit of trial by jury.

Throwing Dice for Bibles.
The curious custom of raffling for Bibles took place in the parish church of St. Ives, Hunts, England, recently. The vicar directed the proceedings, and twelve children sat dice for the six Bibles awarded. The custom dates from 1675, and is in accordance with the will of Dr. Wilde, who left £50 to provide a fund for the purpose. It was expended in the purchase of what is still called "Bible Orchard," with the rent from which the books are bought and a small sum paid to the vicar for preaching a special sermon.

EXPOSITION ECHOES.

Miss Jean Loughborough is to be the architect of the Arkansas State building at Chicago.

Frances Willard's bust will occupy a niche in the Temperance building at the World's fair.

The ethnological exhibit at the World's fair will include many curios from the Charlotte islands.

One of the interesting features of telegraphic apparatus at the World's fair will be a representation of Professor Morse laying the first telegraph wire.

The educational exhibit from Wisconsin at the World's fair, it is estimated, will require 6,000 square feet of space, and application for that amount has been made.

Mrs. French-Sheldon, the intrepid African traveler, has applied for space for exhibiting at the World's fair the fine collection of curios and trophies she has gathered.

The Baltimore and Ohio railroad will make an exhibit at the World's fair showing the history and development of railroads from their beginning to the present time.

From California is to be exhibited at the World's fair one of the famed huge redwood trees, or sequoia gigantea. The one selected is 300 feet high and more than 30 feet in diameter at the base.

A movement is on foot in New York to induce the legislature to donate that state's building at the World's fair to the Chicago organization known as the Sons of New York, which is composed of Chicagoans born in the Empire State.

Miss Alice Rilecut, of San Francisco, who was awarded the contract for designing statuary for the Woman's building at the World's fair, says that the conception of the groups is designed "to illustrate all that woman has been and will be to humanity."

At the special request of the empress of Germany the Princess Frederick Karl, aunt of the emperor, has accepted the presidency of the women's commission, which will co-operate with the board of lady managers in promoting the women's exhibit at the fair.

One of the most interesting exhibits in the Government building at the World's fair will be a display of arms, uniforms, tents and flags in use in the United States army at various times since 1776. This display is being prepared in one of the Gray's Ferry arsenal buildings.

ELECTRIC SPARKS.

A mysterious ringing of electric bells in a house in Switzerland was traced to a spider, whose web had connected two wires.

As an evidence of the fact that the present investigations and experiments of electricians are in the right direction, the firefly furnishes direct proof that light may be produced without the accompaniment of heat.

It is said that the gearless motor, for use on electric roads, is rapidly coming to the front. Two strong points in favor of the gearless type of motor are claimed to be increased efficiency and decreased expense of operation.

The longest span of telephone wire in the world is said to be across the Ohio river between Portsmouth, O., and South Portsmouth, Ky., the distance being 3,773 feet between poles. The wire is made of steel and its size is No. 12 gauge.

Two California inventors have, it is said, devised a toll collecting apparatus for telephones. It consists of the usual coin-in-the-slot device, with the addition of a clockwork apparatus that automatically cuts out the telephone when the time for the talk has expired.

An electro-magnetic light coin rejector for the use of bankers or mints is among the exhibits at the Crystal Palace. Coins can be run through the machine at the rate of sixty a minute and come out properly divided into receptacles marked "full weight" and "light."

A new portable incandescent electric desk lamp has been brought out having a flexible arm so arranged that the light can be placed in any desired position. Over the lamp is an aluminum half shade which can be moved around so as to throw the light in any direction.

FIN, FEATHER AND FUR.

The smallest quadruped in the world is the pygmy mouse of Siberia.

Fish are not as cold as is generally supposed. The normal temperature of a fish is 77 degs.; that of man, 98½ degs.

In 1865 there were over 9,500,000 buffaloes on the plains between the Missouri river and the Rocky mountains. All these are now gone, except very few.

Earthworms six feet long are found in Gippsland, Victoria. They live in burrows on the sloping sides of creeks and are the largest variety found in the world.

In some condors the expanse of wing is fourteen feet, though the average is about ten feet. They live on the summits of mountains in air so rare that men's vitality is reduced so that they cannot stand.

Paris gardeners buy toads which they use as insect destroyers. There is a regular weekly sale of these hideous little animals in the French capital. A five franc piece will buy from seven to a dozen of them.

It has been estimated that 25,000 horses are employed in the metropolitan carrying trade in the city of London, that their value is $1,250,000 and the cost for food alone is $200,000. A rule prevails for foraging the horses on threepence an inch per week—that is, a horse costs as many shillings a week as it stands hands high.

MONSTER REPTILE.

An Immense Anaconda that Nearly Got the Better of a Brave Snake Hunter.

Terrible Peril of a Man Who Had a Contract to Collect Big Reptiles.

Re Barely Escaped With His Life from the Onward Glide of the Monster.

"Two years ago last Christmas," said a former employee of Jamrach, the noted dealer in wild animals, to a Detroit Free Press reporter, "I shipped to London a large cargo of South American reptiles. Among them were two 25-foot anacondas—fair sized specimens as such snakes go. They were neatly packed in separate barrels, but one was hardly in shape for traveling as he was just shedding his skin. Being such a well matched pair, I hoped they would pull through all right, but on arrival our friend was dead. The result was that I had hardly got a taste of home comforts when there came a cable calling for another anaconda. I hated anything to go back to the swamps at that time of the year, but I had no choice. Guiana was the nearest port for big snakes and there I went, determined to bury matters. Now, I could have got a dozen fair sized crawlers in a week, but hearing of some monster snakes up country I got the fever and set off to interview them. I hired a boat manned by half a dozen Indians and went seventy odd miles up the Essequibo.

"We tracked several big serpents every day, but none of them came up to my expectations, and after two weeks of fruitless search I began to think I was wasting time on what seemed a fool's errand. Still, knowing the reputation of the country, I kept on, and so I decided to stay yet another week. Three days went by, and still nothing extraordinary turned up. Then on the evening of the fourth I took my gun and went out after game, as I was tired of eating the fish the Indians supplied with unvarying monotony. Before I had gone a mile I brought down a small antelope, and as there was plenty of time to get back to camp before supper I hunted up a shady spot by the side of a little stream and lay down for a quiet smoke. The tramp and the heat had made me sleepy, and I dozed away with half closed eyes.

"About sundown something made me start up, and I saw a light that made my heart jump to my throat. Coming slowly out of the stream, waving its head to and fro, I spied an enormous anaconda. The stream was more than twenty-five feet across, but my gun never spoke again if his head and five feet or more of his neck weren't clear out of the water on my side and a yard or so of his tail on the other. For a moment I sat perfectly still—paralyzed, partly with delight at having at last got on the trail of such a monster, and partly with fright at the sight. There was nothing to do but watch, so I sat there and saw him come wholly out of the water.

"He was about fifty yards away, and I noted his colors were different from the usual run of anacondas. Black on top, he had gray sides with brown spots, and only his belly was yellow. He must have just cast his skin, for it shone dazlingly. For awhile he lay motionless on the grass, then he raised his head and moved it slowly down. How he spotted me, I can't even guess, but when I noticed he was looking straight at me I felt decidedly queer. My gun, a double barrel, was loaded with buckshot, but I had no notion of courting an encounter. Yet it would not do to run, for no man can outfoot a snake. So I sat there, perfectly still, not daring to move, and waited. In a few moments the anaconda dropped his head and lay seemingly motionless, still looking toward me. Watching him closely I discovered he was moving, yet I couldn't detect the quiver of a scale. Then I saw he was coming closer—coming for me—actually staring at me! As the thought flashed through my mind my hair stood on end.

"On he crept—gliding so slowly, so insidiously, I couldn't tell how he moved, but he was getting closer all the time. I don't know if I prayed, but with all my might I strove to shake off the frightful torpor that had seized me. The sweat poured out all over me, but I couldn't move a finger. Thirty feet—twenty feet away. Nearer yet—ten feet—then he raised his head. That movement saved me—before that awful, motionless, gliding approach of death I was powerless, but the sudden break gave me back my powers. To seize my gun, spring to my feet, yell, let fly both barrels and take to my heels didn't take a second. As I fled I heard the brute hissing like a barrel full of mad cats, but I didn't stop to size up the damage. Reaching camp more dead than alive, I hustled the Indians into the boat, and we spent the night five miles down the stream.

"My tale soared the Indians and we set up all night guns in hand. With morning our courage revived and we went back to investigate. The snake had gone—so had the antelope, so I guess I didn't hurt him badly. We tracked him to a dense swamp, but neither money nor threats could induce those Indians to follow him in; to tell the truth, I didn't press them very hard. We left the neighborhood that same day and I contented myself with shipping Jamrach a couple of twenty footers I picked up on my way down the stream. They arrived at London in good shape and, as he never knew what a specimen he had lost, he was perfectly satisfied."

THE JEWEL CASKET.

Knife edge bracelets are worn extensively.

Long silver tossing forks with twisted silver handles are in use.

Oblong boxes for matches have bases like those of silver candlesticks.

Small silver card trays have perforated bottoms as well as perforated borders.

Perforated borders and broken edges, the one or the other, finish all silverware.

Ring holders are made like small silver candlesticks, except that they taper toward the top.

Smelling salts bottles, half crystal and half metal tips, gold or silver, are shaped like cartridges.

Glass bottles covered with perforated silver are so common that it is suspected all are not sterling silver.

Perfume atomizers, the rubber covered with silver netting and the glass with perforated silver, are seen in great abundance.

Circular thermometers of ivory and its imitations bound in perforated ornaments of silver have the central spaces used as a calendar.

Asparagus tongs and broad based servers have been brought out in numbers. The preference seems equally divided between them.

Parasol sticks are sold by jewelers. They are chiefly of natural woods, bamboo sticks prevailing, and are daintily finished with crystal, white enamel, pink and colored quartz.

Oblong silver trays have a small silver candlestick with taper pointed on an elastic string of silver resting from one end of the tray and carried over it. The sealing wax and other implements lie on the tray.

Jewelers get small bisque figures, such as Cupids, with cages and birds, and use them for displaying rings. The rings are hung on the arms and toes of the Cupid. The boy looks very cunning and is sure to attract attention.—Jewelers' Circular.

FASHION'S FADS.

Heliotrope and pale blue are favorite combinations for evening dresses.

Lace peleries, both black and white, will be fashionable for evening wear at summer resorts this season.

For girls who are hunting after novelties there are made to order pretty light shoes with heels of a different size.

Elbow sleeves are appearing on evening dresses, and they are often finished with a deep accordion pleated ruffle of chiffon.

Sashes tied in front and a little to one side are worn with almost every style of gown. The catchiest mode provides for a Roman silk sash.

Several sailor hats have been sent out with the ribbon around the crown in a two looped bow and the ends hanging to the shoulders behind.

Something new in the way of a ribbon bonnet is formed of three wreaths of loops of baby ribbon. The first is green, the second heliotrope and the third maize.

The fashion is revived of making up thin moustache over colored silk slips. White muslin over yellow is a favorite style, and with such a dress is worn a yellow silk sash or girdle.

A pretty summer fash for a lace hat and a parasol of the same material. Valenciennes lace is a favorite style, and the large Prince of Wales feathers erect on the crown is a becoming style.

A popular glove for the summer will be the pale yellow wash chambray skin. They have been found to wash as well as the white ones, which will be worn quite as much as last year.

A very fetching yachting costume is of white serge with a short corset skirt, a white silk blouse waist and a bright red blazer faced with white. A white sailor hat with a red band, a white veil with fine red silk threads run into the edge, red shoes and stockings to match, complete this.—Washington Post.

SCIENTIFIC WAIFS.

Blood travels from the heart through the arteries at the rate of twelve feet in a second.

German scientists are now making an explosive equal to dynamite out of common jute. It is called nitrojute, and is prepared by treating jute with a mixture of nitric and sulphuric acids.

An Austrian inventor has lately patented a cheap and simple means of making paper and cardboard from wood pulp. It is also lustrous, impervious to moisture, is extremely tough and has the appearance of leather.

Cold iron has been rolled so thin that 15,000 sheets, one upon another, would accept only an inch in thickness. So says The Age of Steel, and it adds that 1,200 sheets of tissue paper make but little more than an inch in thickness.

Here is an easy method of determining whether a supposed diamond is genuine or not. Pierce a hole a half inch in thickness, and then look at the hole through the stone. If false you will see two holes, but if you have a real diamond only a single hole will appear.

The helioid anemometer is said to be quite independent of friction for all existing light winds, but it is not so simple in construction as the cup form. The air meter consists of a single screw blade formed of thin aluminium, and made as nearly as possible into the exact shape of a portion of a helioid.

Sound travels by waves radiating from a central point of disturbance, just as waves radiate when a stone is dropped into still water. So far as the hearing of each individual is concerned, these waves move in a direct line from the cause of the sound to his ear, the impact being the greatest in the ear nearest to the source.

FLOWER AND TREE.

Great Britain has 292,300 acres of orchards.

In the desert areas of Chili the wild strawberry thrives in the most luxuriant manner.

In Ashantee and around the woods near Kabba grows a tree resembling in appearance the English oak, which furnishes excellent butter.

A single seed of an Asiatic pempyer planted on Trevis grounds, Berny, propagated a vine as large as a man's body, which in nine weeks grew to a total length of nearly 300 feet and ripened more than 800,000 seeds.

It has been shown that the white elm of our bottom lands and groves yields, one year with another, at a very moderate estimate, 20,000,000 seeds. Now an elm ordinarily lives at least a full hundred years, and consequently in the course of that comparatively short life produces nearly 8,000,000 grains, all coming from one original seed.

LEGAL NOTICES.

City of Lakeside.

Notice is hereby given that whereas a contract has been let for the grading and otherwise improving of Forbes avenue from Summit street to Lake Superior, and the expense of such improvement to be assessed to each lot or tract of land to be benefited by such improvement having been determined by the city council of said city.

Now, therefore, said city council of Lakeside will, at their council chamber in said city at eight o'clock p. m., on Tuesday, the 5th day of July, 1892, meet to review and confirm such assessment, at which time and place all persons interested may appear and make objections to the same. It is proposed to issue bonds chargeable to the real estate benefited by such improvement, to pay for such assessments and such bonds will be issued covering all such assessments except in cases where the owners of the property shall pay the city treasurer within thirty (30) days after the confirmation of such assessment, the amount thereof assessed against their property.

The following is a list of the supposed owners' names, a description of the property liable to such assessment, and the amounts assessed against the same, to-wit:

LEGAL NOTICES.

Lakeside Land Co.

Notice is hereby given that whereas a contract has been let for the grading and otherwise improving of Forbes avenue from Summit street to Lake Superior, and the expense of such improvement to be assessed to each lot or tract of land to be benefited by such improvement having been determined by the city council of said city.

Now, therefore, said city council of Lakeside will, at their council chamber in said city at eight o'clock p. m., on Tuesday, the 5th day of July, 1892, meet to review and confirm such assessment, at which time and place all persons interested may appear and make objections to the same. It is proposed to issue bonds chargeable to the real estate benefited by such improvement, to pay for such assessments and such bonds will be issued covering all such assessments except in cases where the owners of the property shall pay the city treasurer within thirty (30) days after the confirmation of such assessment, the amount thereof assessed against their property.

The following is a list of the supposed owners' names, a description of the property liable to such assessment, and the amounts assessed against the same, to-wit:

Assessment Notice.

Notice is hereby given to all parties interested that an assessment has been made by the board of public works of the city of Duluth, Minnesota, and confirmed by the Hon. O. P. Stearns, Judge of the district court of the Eleventh judicial district, to defray in full the expense of sprinkling Michigan street from Fifth avenue west to Ninth avenue west, and from Thirtieth avenue west to Twenty-fourth avenue west, and from Twenty-fourth avenue west to Twenty-eighth avenue west during the season of 1891 in said city, and that a duplicate assessment roll has been delivered to the city treasurer, and that the amount assessed against each lot or parcel of land

The people are with us, because—No other firm does, can or will sell the same sterling qualities for the same low prices we give.

The Secret of Fine Pastry.

Is wholly in using Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder. The only pure Cream Tarter Powder sold on the market. Other brands contain either ammonia, alum or some other adulterant. Ammonia or alum powders dry out, make the dough too porous, leaving a bitter taste, etc.

No agency has assisted so much toward perfection in cookery as Price's Cream Baking Powder. Its ingredients are simple and so blended as to exist in exact chemical proportions, so after use there is never any excess of either left in the food. Hence there can be no impurities whatever left in the finished food. No bitter taste, no taint of ammonia, but food raised with Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder partakes of the natural sweet flavor of the flour and keeps moist and fresh for days. This powder possesses qualities peculiar to it alone. No other makes such delicious pastry. No other contains the white of eggs.

OFFICE: 326 WEST SUPERIOR STREET

FORECAST FOR JUNE 29.
Local forecast till 8 a. m. tomorrow:
Fair, slight in temperature light northerly winds.

IN DISTRICT COURT

The Jury Calendar Will Probably be Finished Tomorrow and the Jurors Discharged.

Judge Stearns Will Give the Convicted Criminals Their Sentences This Afternoon.

Bates vs. Richards Lumber Case Still on Trial and Will be a Long One.

In district court, before Judge Stearns today, the case of J. Campbell vs. D. Buchanan resulted in a verdict for the plaintiff. The criminal action of the State vs. Andrew Anderson, charged by Minnie Johnson with being the father of her unborn child, is now on trial. There are only two other jury cases to come up this term—one criminal and one civil—and the jury will probably be discharged tomorrow. The convicted prisoners will be sentenced by Judge Stearns this afternoon. There are three of them who will go to Stillwater.

Before Judge Ensign in room 2, the celebrated lumber and log case of Bates vs. Richards is on trial and bids fair to continue all day tomorrow. It will be followed by a civil jury case of somewhat similar nature which will take about the same time to hear and which will wind up the jury list for the present term. The trial of court cases will be taken up by both judges as soon as possible.

TURNED THE TABLES.

A Man Fights a Bear and Gets Knocked Out.

There are a couple of Piedmontese Italians in the city who have a large performing cinnamon bear, but one of them is feeling a little bit sick today owing to an accident. The bear was going through his antics at the corner of Michigan street and Garfield avenue this morning when one of the proprietors, whom the crowd aptly named "whiskers," said: "Ladies and gentlemen, you give me de feefy cents and I fight de bear!" The crowd, and it was a large one, was hungry for sport, and the 50 cents was quickly raised, whereupon "whiskers" put on a pair of old gloves and struck an attitude. He subsequently struck Bruin, who very clumsily tried to parry the blows which were being rained on his neck and head.

The man soon was winded and then rested for a moment and then sailed into the bear again. But Bruin was tired of that sort of thing and his angry little eyes snapped fire. Whack! went a resounding blow on his bearship's head, but that was the last offensive demonstration from the man, for the bear took a short step forward and swung a beautiful left paw on the side of the man's head, which knocked him half way across the street, and it was fully half a minute before he realized what had happened. Then he and his partner started off for another corner, but the Italian was heard muttering: "No fighta de bear more; not for a feefy dolla!"

THE WAR IS OVER

That is the Conclusion of the Prohibition Convention After a Stirring Debate.

Twenty Thousand Dollars Raised in Two Hours for the Party's Campaign Fund.

They Are Having a Monkey and Parrot Time in Deciding on a Platform.

CINCINNATI, June 30.—It was 9:30 when the second day's session of the Prohibition convention was called to order by Permanent Chairman Eli Ritter, of Indianapolis. A prayer of remarkable brevity was offered by J. C. Quinn, Episcopalian, of Fremont, Neb., and the preacher was barely on his feet when W. W. Gibbs, of Virginia, was on his feet with a resolution that read as follows: "Resolved, that it is the sense of this convention that speakers who are accorded the honor of addressing the convention be requested to refrain from unnecessary references or illustrations, that could be construed as a reflection on any of the participants in the late struggle."

Objections were made that the resolution should go to the committee on resolutions without debate. This did not suit the majority of the convention, however, and so the rules were suspended and the resolution was considered. Gibbs made a stirring speech in its behalf, urging that the issues of the war are ended and buried and ought not to be resurrected.

The resolution was finally adopted. Then Frances E. Willard made a characteristic speech, after which there was an appeal for contributions to the campaign fund. W. T. Wardwell, of New York, treasurer of the Standard Oil company, headed the list with $1000. Then Massachusetts and Colorado gave $500 each, and Virginia and Tennessee donated $500 each. J. B. Hobbs, of Chicago, made a personal contribution of $500. Illinois gave $1000, Indiana and Iowa $250 each. Chairman Dickie gave $500. Father Mahoney, of St. Paul, chipped in $100; Kentucky donated $500. Pennsylvania $1700, Ohio $1047, California $500 and New York $1000. That wound up the big gifts, but there were innumerable tens, twenties and fifties. Dr. Evans finally retired with the satisfaction of having raised $20,000 in two hours. The convention then came to a sudden halt at this point for want of something to do, and at 12:15 a recess was taken until 2 o'clock.

The committee on resolutions is having a monkey and parrot time of it in a room over the organ loft. The report submitted by the sub-committee has been torn to pieces, and there is only the preamble and two anti-liquor declarations to show for three and a half hours of heated debate since breakfast. The money plank is the bone of contention, and twenty speeches have been made on the question as to whether the platform should fix and endorse any specific rate of interest. Committeeman Grandon, of Michigan, says that at the present time of proceeding the platform will be in shape for presentation some time before midnight.

THE UNIVERSITY RACE.

Yale, Harvard and Columbia Freshmen Row at Five o'clock. NEW LONDON, Conn., June 30.—The early morning trains brought hundreds to the Yale-Harvard-Columbia boat races. Yale's colors are the most conspicuous among the arrivals, though a big Harvard delegation is on the water. The weather is anything but propitious for a race. The sea is choppy and a dense fog obscures the view for more than 100 yards ahead. The thick mist occasionally condenses into a perceptible rain. The Harvard launch arrived early with several more crimson quarters. A committee composed of Yale, Harvard and Columbia naval directors has been at work all the morning flagging the new 2-mile course. The Freshman race has been postponed until 5 o'clock this afternoon.

BUILDINGS WERE UNROOFED.

Damage Done By a Severe Storm in Illinois.

CARMI, Ill., June 30.—The severest storm that has ever visited this section struck Carmi late last night. Stewart's drug store and the opera house were unroofed, and torrents of water poured into both buildings, doing considerable damage. Sheds attached to Williams' livery stable were destroyed, damaging some of the vehicles. Plate glass in stores was demolished and trees were torn up by the roots.

Carnegie's Men Quit.

HOMESTEAD, Pa., June 30.—Every employee of Carnegie, Phipps & Co. at their Homestead mills is idle today, except the mechanics and day laborers who are engaged on repairs. At 10 o'clock 3,000 workmen assembled in open meeting at the opera house and thoroughly canvassed the situation. Good order prevails.

Arbitration Accepted.

CLEVELAND, O., June 30.—The Broadway and Newbury street railway officials and their striking employees agreed to have their differences settled by arbitration. It is expected that the entire line will be in operation before 5 o'clock tonight.

Norwegian Cabinet Resigns.

CHRISTIANIA, June 30.—The cabinet has resigned and the storming has adjourned.

BIG STRIKE EXPECTED.

Iron and Steel Works to Quit Work at Twelve o'clock Tonight.

MILWAUKEE, June 30.—Promptly at 12 o'clock tonight the workmen at the Bay View mills will drop whatever work they have on hand and leave the place for an indefinite period. If a "run" or "turn" does not happen to be completed before or at that hour, it will be left where it is, as the force that goes on at night will not put in an appearance. The company desired to run a few days after the last of the month, in order to complete several jobs, but the executive committee at Pittsburg refused to allow the men here to work a minute over time unless the company signed the scale today.

It is admitted here by both sides that the future condition of affairs at Bay View will be largely governed by the result of the conference being held today at Youngstown between the Amalgamated associations' executive committee and the Manufacturers' association in the Mahoning and Chenango valley districts. If a compromise scale is adopted there, there is every prospect for the same result at Bay View.

They Will Not Sign.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 30.—The scale presented by the Amalgamated Iron and Steel Workers is still unsigned by the manufacturers, who declare that they will have nothing to do with it. Unless the scale is signed in the meantime, all mines in the Mahoning Valley will be shut down at 12 o'clock tonight.

DECLARED FOR FREE TRADE.

Sir Charles Tupper's Amendment Defeated in the Commercial Congress.

LONDON, June 30.—In the congress of the chambers of commerce of the empire yesterday Sir Thomas Henry Faver, late secretary of the board of trade, assailed the position of Sir Charles Tupper on the subject of the preferential trade relations between Canada and Great Britain. Sir Thomas used vigorous language and commanded earnest attention, although a proportion of the delegates evidently disapproved of his view. He contended that Canadian trade was infinitesimal compared with the trade that would be lost to England by the adoption of Sir Charles Tupper's suggestions. "Should Great Britain," asked Sir Thomas, "forgo $50,000,000 of American trade, in order to secure a probable $11,000,000 from Canada? Conceive of England's position, if the United States should conclude to offer free trade on the condition of being accorded the same terms as Canada, and England should be compelled, by a prior obligation to Canada, to reject the offer."

The discussion was continued with considerable acrimony. Several delegates supported Tupper's view. William McArthur, president of the Liverpool chamber of commerce, strongly opposed it. He declared that Tupper's proposals meant taxation of the British producer for the benefit of the colonies. Sir John Lubbock declared that a 5 per cent duty on raw cotton would place British trade at the mercy of the foreigner.

Sir Charles Tupper changed his motion so as to declare in behalf of the adoption of a five per cent. differential duty in favor of certain home products as against foreign products. Mr. Balfour of Ontario, declared that the Canadians as a people did not favor protection. Mr. Tupper's amendment was disapproved by a vote of 79 against 34 in its favor. Sir Charles Tupper then proposed that the British producer of preferential duties was finally defeated by a vote of 55 to 33.

THE PEOPLE'S PARTY.

Indiana Delegates at Omaha Are Wearing Gresham Badges.

OMAHA, June 30.—Sam T. Jones, delegate, and M. C. Rankin, treasurer of the People's party national committee, both of Terre Haute, who arrived this morning in advance of the Indiana delegation, wear Gresham badges, and assert that several delegates have letters from Gresham which they will show in good time, saying that he will accept the nomination if tendered him. The Georgia delegation are talking strongly anti-Gresham and say they will not support him, Stewart, or any other man who has not hitherto identified himself with the Alliance.

Repairing the Dam.

The board of park commissioners have a force of men repairing the dam at the Thirtieth avenue west intersection of the boulevard drive. It will be completed some time next week, and the site of the artificial lake which is now a hollow mockery will then become a thing of beauty again.

WILL BE A DANDY.

The New Life Saving Station to Be a Handsome Structure.

Lieut. J. C. Moore has returned to Detroit. He will report to the government officers immediately on his arrival regarding the site selected for the life saving station on Minnesota Point. In company with Collector Johnson he examined the site thoroughly and is favorably impressed with it. The appropriation was secured by the efforts of Capt. McDougall and Senator McMillan, and has been available for a number of years, but the department had done nothing until Senator Davis and Capt. Miller stirred matters up.

The life saving station will cost about $15,000, exclusive of equipment, and will be one of the prettiest buildings in the life saving service on either lakes or oceans. It will be a "double ended," and will be equipped with boats for use on the bay or lake. The site is known as Franklin square, but before it can be used an accurate survey must be made, as a church which is close by appears to be built upon a portion of the site.

ANTI-OPTION BILL

It Failed to Receive Consideration Today, Owing to the Lack of a Quorum.

Likely That the Bill Will be Reported Adversely or Very Much Changed.

A Direct Vote May be Reached at the Committee Meeting on Next Thursday.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—Another meeting of the judicial committee of the senate was called for today to consider the anti-option bill, but owing to the lack of an acting quorum an adjournment was taken until Thursday of next week. The probabilities are that the bill will be reported adversely or very much changed, and that a minority report will be presented.

Nearly all the members of the committee are in favor of some sort of legislation to prevent gambling in cereal products, but the Hatch bill is not satisfactory to several of these, and an almost general belief is expressed that such a law is not in direct accord with the constitution.

The national campaign may have some effect in assisting the members of the committee to come to a conclusion, and it is very likely that a direct vote on it may be had at the meeting of the committee on Thursday.

AN IMPORTANT DECISION.

A Court House and Jail Become the Property of One Man.

CLEVELAND, June 30.—In the United States court today Judges Taft and Ricks rendered a decision whereby the Mahoning county court house and jail, valued at $100,000, became the property of Charles C. Young, of Whitestown, N. Y. In 1802 John Young, an ancestor of the plaintiff in the present case, deeded two lots to the city of Youngstown "to be used as a public burying ground."

In 1875, when the county seat of Mahoning county was changed from Canfield to Youngstown, these lots were selected as a site for the court house and jail. Charles C. Young then began suit to recover the property, on the ground that it had been perverted from the use for which it was originally dedicated to the city, and a decision in his favor was rendered here today. By this action of the court Young becomes owner not only of the land, but all the improvements upon it.

Senator McPherson Kicks.

WASHINGTON, July 30.—Mr. McPherson, of New Jersey, announced that he would not abide by the unanimous consent to take a vote on the silver bill tomorrow. He said this was sprung on the senate yesterday with barely a quorum present and in the absence of the members of the finance committee. Mr. Morgan, with some bitterness, replied and a warm debate ensued.

Irish Home Rule.

DUBLIN, June 30.—William O'Brien, in addressing a meeting at Cork yesterday, said the McCarthys had full confidence in Mr. Gladstone and they now knew that his home rule bill would be as good and in some respects better than the bill Parnell accepted in 1886.

Immense Bargains! Our Special Sale And Our Patrons!

BENEFIT SALES.

It either hurts or galls them to see our store crowded all day long or they would not howl as they do. We do not pretend to tell our customers that all goods we handle are made exclusively for or the steamers that brought them over, or the train that brought them to Duluth. But we do claim our money is worth more in the market than any other merchants here. Why? BECAUSE we can buy in larger quantities; that enables us to buy at a better price. SECONDLY, the largest importing houses don't call on the small trade, so they must confine themselves to high-priced jobbing houses who will cut lengths to suit them and stick on a big profit.

THE WAR IS OVER

That is the Conclusion of the Prohibition Convention After a Stirring Debate.

Twenty Thousand Dollars Raised in Two Hours for the Party's Campaign Fund.

They Are Having a Monkey and Parrot Time in Deciding on a Platform.

CINCINNATI, June 30.—It was 9:50 when the second day's session of the Prohibition convention was called to order by Permanent Chairman Eli Ritter, of Indianapolis. A prayer of remarkable brevity was offered by J. C. Quinn, Episcopalian, of Fremont, Neb., and the preacher was barely on his feet when W. W. Gibbs, of Virginia, was on his feet with a resolution that read as follows:

"Resolved, that it is the sense of this convention that speakers who are accorded the honor of addressing the convention be requested to refrain from unnecessary references or illustrations, that could be construed as a reflection on any of the participants in the late struggle."

Objections were made that the resolution should go to the committee on resolutions without debate. This did not suit the majority of the convention, however, and so the rules were suspended and the resolution was considered. Gibbs made a stirring speech in its behalf, urging that the issues of the war are ended and buried and ought not to be resurrected.

The resolution was finally adopted. Then Francis E. Willard made a characteristic speech, after which there was an appeal for contributions to the campaign fund. W. T. Wardwell, of New York, treasurer of the Standard Oil company, headed the list with $1000. Then the state delegations came forward. Massachusetts and Colorado gave $500 each, and Virginia and Tennessee donated $600 each. J. B. Hobbs, of Chicago, made a personal contribution of $500. Illinois gave $1000, Indiana and Iowa $250 each. Chairman Dickie gave $500, Father Mahoney, of St. Paul, chipped in $100; Kentucky donated $500, Pennsylvania $1700, Ohio $1047, California $500 and New York $1000. That wound up the big gifts, but there were innumerable tens, twenties and fifties. Dr. Evans finally retired with the satisfaction of having raised $20,000 in two hours. The convention then came to a sudden halt at this point for want of something to do, and at 12:15 a recess was taken until 2 o'clock.

The committee on resolutions is having a monkey and parrot time of it in a room over the organ loft. The report submitted by the sub-committee has been torn to pieces, and there is only the preamble and two anti-liquor declarations to show for three and a half hours of heated debate since breakfast. The money plank is the bone of contention, and twenty speeches have been made on the question as to whether the platform should fix and endorse any specific rate of interest. Committeeman Grandon, of Michigan, says that at the present rate of proceeding the platform will be in shape for presentation some time before midnight.

THE UNIVERSITY RACE.

Yale, Harvard and Columbia Freshmen Row at Five o'clock.
NEW LONDON, Conn., June 30.—The early morning trains brought hundreds to the Yale-Harvard-Columbia boat races. Yale's colors are the most conspicuous among the arrivals, though a big Harvard delegation is on the way. The weather is anything but propitious for a race. The sea is choppy, and a dense fog obscures the view for more than two yards ahead. The thick mist occasionally condenses into a perceptible rain.

The Harvard launch arrived early with several more crimson quarters. A committee composed of Yale, Harvard and Columbia naval directors has been at work all the morning flagging the new mile course. The Freshman race has been postponed until 5 o'clock this afternoon.

BUILDINGS WERE UNROOFED.
Damage Done By a Severe Storm in Illinois.
CARMI, Ill., June 30.—The severest storm that has ever visited this section struck Carmi late last night. Stewart's drug-store and the opera house were unroofed, and torrents of water poured into both buildings, doing considerable damage. Sheds attached to Williams' livery stable were destroyed, damaging some of the vehicles. Plate glass in stores was demolished and trees were torn up by the roots.

Carnegie's Men Quit.
HOMESTEAD, Pa., June 30.—Every employee of Carnegie, Phipps & Co. at their Homestead mills is idle today, except the mechanics and day laborers who are engaged on repairs. At 10 o'clock 3,000 workmen assembled in open meeting at the opera house and thoroughly canvassed the situation. Good order prevailed.

Arbitration Accepted.
CLEVELAND, O., June 30.—The Broadway and Newbury street railway officials and their striking employees agreed to have their difference settled by arbitration. It is expected that the entire line will be in operation before 5 o'clock tonight.

Norwegian Cabinet Resigns.
CHRISTIANIA, June 30.—The cabinet has resigned and the storming has adjourned.

BIG STRIKE EXPECTED.

Iron and Steel Works to Quit Work at Twelve o'clock Tonight.
MILWAUKEE, June 30.—Promptly at 12 o'clock tonight the workmen at the Bay View mills will drop whatever work they have on hand and leave the place for an indefinite period. If a "run" or "turn" does not happen to be completed before or at that hour, it will be left where it is, as the force that goes on at night will not put in an appearance. The company desired to run a few days after the last of the month, in order to complete several jobs, but the executive committee at Pittsburgh refused to allow the men here to work a minute over time unless the company signed the scale today.

It is admitted here by both sides that the future condition of affairs at Bay View will be largely governed by the result of the conference being held today at Youngstown between the Amalgamated and Manufacturers' association in the Mahoning and Chenango valley districts. If a compromise scale is adopted there, there is every prospect for the same result at Bay View.

They Will Not Sign.
YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 30.—The scale presented by the Amalgamated Iron and Steel Workers is still unsigned by the manufacturers, who declare that they will have nothing to do with it. Unless the scale is signed in the meantime, all mines in the Mahoning Valley will be shut down at 12 o'clock tonight.

DECLARED FOR FREE TRADE.

Sir Charles Tupper's Amendment Defeated in the Commercial Congress.
LONDON, June 30.—In the congress of the chambers of commerce of the empire yesterday Sir Thomas Henry Faver, late secretary of the board of trade, assailed the position of Sir Charles Tupper on the subject of the preferential trade relations between Canada and England. Sir Thomas used vigorous language and commanded earnest attention, although a proportion of the delegates evidently disapproved of his views. He contended that Canadian trade was infinitesimal compared with the trade that would be lost to England by the adoption of Sir Charles Tupper's suggestions.

"Should Great Britain," asked Sir Thomas, forego $500,000 of American trade, in order to secure a problematical $1,000,000 from Canada? Conceivably of the position, if the United States should conclude to offer free trade on the condition of being accorded the same terms as Canada and England should be compelled, by a prior obligation to Canada, to reject the offer."

The discussion was continued with considerable earnestness. Several delegates supported Tupper's view. William McArthur, president of the Liverpool chamber of commerce, strongly opposed it. He declared that Tupper's proposals meant taxation of the British producer for the benefit of the colonies. Sir John Lubbock declared that a 5 per cent duty on raw cotton would place British trade at the mercy of the foreigner.

Sir Charles Tupper changed his motion so as to declare in behalf of the adoption of a five per cent differential duty in favor of certain home products as against foreign products. Mr. Balfour of Ontario, declared that the Canadians as a people did not favor protection. Mr. Tupper's amendment was disapproved by a vote of 79 against 34 in its favor. Sir Charles Tupper challenged the vote, and a final vote will be taken on the subject today.

The congress declared today for free trade by the adoption of Mr. Medley's resolution by a vote of 47 to 34. Sir Charles Tupper's amendment in favor of preferential duties was finally defeated by a vote of 55 to 33.

THE PEOPLE'S PARTY.

Indiana Delegates at Omaha Are Wearing Gresham Badges.
OMAHA, June 30.—Sam T. Jones, delegate, and M. C. Rankin, treasurer of the People's party national committee, both of Terre Haute, who arrived this morning in advance of the Indiana delegation, wear Gresham badges, and assert that several delegates have letters from Gresham which they will show in good time, saying that he will accept the nomination if tendered him.

The Georgia delegation are talking strongly anti-Gresham and say they will not support him, Stewart, or any other man who has not hitherto identified himself with the Alliance.

Repairing the Dam.

The board of park commissioners have a force of men repairing the dam at the Thirtieth avenue west intersection of the boulevard drive. It will be completed some time next week, and the site of the artificial lake which is now a hollow mockery will then become a thing of beauty again.

WILL BE A DANDY.

The New Life Saving Station to Be a Handsome Structure.
Lieut. J. C. Moore has returned to Detroit. He will report to the government officers immediately on his arrival regarding the site selected for the life saving station on Minnesota Point. In company with Collector Johnson he examined the site thoroughly and is favorably impressed with it. The appropriation was secured by the efforts of Capt. McDougall and Senator McMillan, and has been available for a number of years, but the department had done nothing until Senator Davis and Capt. Miller stirred matters up.

The life saving station will cost about $15,000, exclusive of equipment, and will be one of the prettiest buildings in the life saving service on either lakes or oceans. It will be a "double ender," and will be equipped with boats for use on the bay or lake. The site is known as Franklin square, but before it can be used an accurate survey must be made, as a church which is close by appears to be built upon a portion of the site.

ANTI-OPTION BILL

It Failed to Receive Consideration Today, Owing to the Lack of a Quorum.

Likely That the Bill Will be Reported Adversely or Very Much Changed.

A Direct Vote May be Reached at the Committee Meeting on Next Thursday.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—Another meeting of the judicial committee of the senate was called for today to consider the anti-option bill, but owing to the lack of an acting quorum an adjournment was taken until Thursday of next week. The probabilities are that the bill will be reported adversely or very much changed, and that a minority report will be presented.

Nearly all the members of the committee are in favor of some sort of legislation to prevent gambling in cereal products, but the Hatch bill is not satisfactory to several of these, and an almost general belief is expressed that such a law is not in direct accord with the constitution.

The national campaign may have some effect in assisting the members of the committee to come to a conclusion, and it is very likely that a direct vote on it may be had at the meeting of the committee on Thursday.

AN IMPORTANT DECISION.

A Court House and Jail Become the Property of One Man.

CLEVELAND, June 30.—In the United States court today Judges Taft and Ricks rendered a decision whereby the Mahoning county court house and jail, valued at $100,000, became the property of Charles C. Young, of Whitestown, N. Y. In 1802 John Young, an ancestor of the plaintiff in the present case, deeded two lots to the city of Youngstown "to be used as a public burying ground."

In 1875, when the county seat of Mahoning county was changed from Canfield to Youngstown, these lots were selected as a site for the court house and jail. Charles C. Young then began suit to recover the property, on the ground that it had been perverted from the use for which it was originally dedicated to the city, and a decision in his favor was rendered here today. By this action of the court Young becomes owner not only of the land, but all the improvements upon it.

Senator McPherson Kicks.

WASHINGTON, July 30.—Mr. McPherson, of New Jersey, announced that he would not abide by the unanimous consent to take a vote on the silver bill tomorrow. He said this was sprung on the senate yesterday with barely a quorum present and in the absence of the members of the finance committee. Mr. Morgan, with some bitterness, replied and a warm debate ensued.

Irish Home Rule.

DUBLIN, June 30.—William O'Brien, in addressing a meeting at Cork yesterday, said the McCarthyites had full confidence in Mr. Gladstone and they now knew that his home rule bill would be as good and in some respects better than the bill Parnell accepted in 1886.

Immense Bargains! Our Special Sale

And Our Patrons!

BENEFIT

It either hurts or galls them to see our store crowded all day long or they would not howl as they do. We do not pretend to tell our customers that all goods we handle are made exclusively for or the steamers that brought them over, or the train that brought them to Duluth. But we do claim our money is worth more in the market than any other merchants here. Why? BECAUSE we can buy in larger quantities; that enables us to buy at a better price. SECONDLY, the largest importing houses don't call on the small trade, so they must confine themselves to high-priced jobbing houses who will cut lengths to suit them and stick on a big profit.

Here Are Our Bargains!

THEY ARE GENUINE, BONA FIDE AND LEGITIMATE, WITHOUT EXAGGERATION.

GETS FIVE YEARS

Alvarez Gauthier Convicted of Attempted Carnal Knowledge Gets a Long Term.

Mrs. Mary Huard Who Plead Guilty to Shoplifting Gets Off With a Fine.

The Boat Club to Arrange a Series of Aquatic Sports for the Fourth.

Judge Stearns passed sentence yesterday on the prisoners who were convicted at this term of court. Alvarez Gauthier whom a jury found guilty of attempting to carnally know Gertrude Tautant, 10 years old, was sentenced to five years' imprisonment at hard labor. He is only 20 years old and when his sentence was given he burst into tears and broke down completely. Judge Stearns told him that but for his youth he would have received a more severe sentence. There were a great many who heard the sentence who believe that Gauthier should have been sent to the reformatory. Although the jury found him guilty it was almost entirely on the evidence of a 10-year-old girl. Gauthier's testimony was the only thing to offset hers and he told a reasonable story. Mrs. Mary Huard, who pleaded guilty to the larceny of goods from I. Fretz's store, got off with a $75 fine, which she paid. This was fortunate, as she has a family of children, and a term of imprisonment for her would be a hardship to them. She was considerably affected at getting off so easily and expressed her gratitude to her attorney, C. A. Towne, with tears in her eyes. David Rose, who pleaded guilty to stealing a satchel from the depot at Missabe, was sentenced to fifteen months at Stillwater. George Clark, who stole some clothing, a revolver and razor from a building in Duluth, also received a sentence of fifteen months.

AQUATIC SPORTS.

The Duluth Boat Club Will Arrange a Program for the Fourth.

The joint Fourth of July committee met last evening at the chamber of commerce rooms. Secretary White, of the Duluth Boat club, appeared before the committee and spoke in favor of a series of aquatic sports, and he and Capt. C. J. Kershaw were appointed to prepare a program. These sports will take place on the bay from 6 to 8 o'clock and therefore will not interfere with the games at the head of the incline. The committee appropriated $30 for medals. Capt. Kershaw has invited the West Superior crews, and particularly the four-oared team, to participate in the contest. Capt. Kershaw, Walter Lutes, D. J. Mahoney and Ned Smith, constitute the Duluth four. W. B. Silvey, W. B. McLean, H. D. Pearson and others will also take part in the contests. The fire works will be sent off from the point of rocks back of Myer's Park, between Eighth and Tenth avenues west, this change being made upon the recommendation of Chairman Johnson, of the committee. A fine line of material for a magnificent pyrotechnical display is being selected, and some of the pieces will be magnificent. Marshal Franklin Paine has appointed as his assistants Capt. Henri DeWitt, adjutant; aides, W. J. Hoover, Grant Wyatt, and W. E. Worden. He says that societies which will take part in the parade are reporting very slowly. The uniformed rank, Knights of Pythias, decided last evening to join in the parade. Prof. Denfield reported that he was making arrangements for having the school children participate in the parade and exercises.

THE FEDERATION MEETS.

Committee Appointed to Solicit Funds For the Irish Cause.

The Irish National Federation met last evening at Catholic Association hall and Capt. Farrell presided. R. A. Costello urged the necessity for subscribing liberally and at once as the time of the general election is very near and a bitter fight may be expected in which the Irish must have funds in order to expect to win. The following constitute a committee on subscriptions: Capt. Farrell, R. Long, A. Murphy, R. A. Costello, F. L. Ryan and D. McNamara, J. Lutz treasurer. The following were admitted to membership: M. O. Hall, C. E. Shannon, M. Brown, F. L. Ryan and M. Burke. A public meeting in the interest of the cause will be held at Catholic Association hall next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

AMUSEMENTS.

"Boccaccio" Last Night. "Boccaccio" as sung by the Miller-Calhoun company, was heard by another good audience last evening and the performance was even better than on the evenings previous. The audience was appreciative, too, and Douglas Flint's drunken scene, Tom Martin's gags and Julia Calhoun's impersonation of the silly boy kept the people in a continued roar in the second act. To-night "The Beggar Student" will be put on once more and "Chimes of Normandy" will then hold the boards the rest of the week.

"Wells Fargo Messenger." The Baldwin-Melville combination gave a fairly good presentation of "East Lynne" to a good audience last evening. The company is not one of the finest on the road by any means but gives a very creditable entertainment when the prices of admission are considered. This afternoon "Lywood" is being presented and tonight "Wells Fargo Messenger" will be given.

Will Banquet Simon. Simon Clark, who has just been elected royal chief of the National Clan of Scotchmen, will be given a grand reception and banquet when he arrives from the East, which will be in a very few days. Clan Stewart will be notified when he starts upon his return and will be prepared to give him a great surprise.

CUT DOWN YOUR SHOE BILL

Attention, Mothers and Fathers! Why not have your Shoes and Kid Gloves as well as those of your Children looking like new continually? Why have them looking worn and rough when you can avoid it? To do this you have only to oil them once a month with Tanner's Oil. Tanner's Oil does not injure but benefits the leather. It is now prepared by us for families uses. It prevents leather getting hard and from cracking, keeps it looking fresh and smooth, makes it soft and pliable and absolutely water-proof. Best of all—Shoes and Gloves kept thusly in good condition will outwear three pair worn ordinarily. One box should last a family of three one year. On ladies' and children's wear you should use it instead of Blacking. Gentlemen can shine their shoes after using it equally as well as before. All we desire is to have you give it a trial. Shoe Dealers, Glovers, and those Dry Goods merchants who sell Kid Gloves should have it on hand to furnish up their stock that has become shopworn. It will give it an absolutely new appearance. Your youngest apprentice can apply it. Price by mail 40 cents. Special price to Dealers.

EDITOR DAILY CALL, West Superior:—Some time ago I received a letter from my brother-in-law, Mr. Kennedy, of Saginaw, Mich., stating that he saw by the Superior papers that Dr. Speer was in this city. Knowing that Dr. Speer had cured my brother about two years ago of rheumatism, I called on Dr. Speer. He, without asking a question, described in detail my condition, in fact, better than I knew myself.
He located every pain, and told me what to do in order to get well. Everything he has done has acted as he said it would. I have only been under treatment a few weeks and I feel like a new man today. The other doctors I consulted would not or could not do me any good; neither were they able to tell me what my trouble was. The pains, mental depression, weakness and pain in the back and bad taste in the mouth, with all the other symptoms, have vanished. I look upon Dr. Speer as a marvel in the treatment of all diseases. Will be pleased to give any further information to anyone calling upon me.

AN OFFICER SHOT

Three Negroes Kill a Texas Officer, While He Was Arresting a Colored Woman.

Two Were Captured and a Large Mob Made an Attempt to Lynch Them.

When the Other Negro is Caught There May Possibly be a Triple Lynching.

FORT WORTH, Tex., June 30.—Yesterday morning Officer Lee, while attempting to arrest a colored woman, was shot and mortally wounded by three negroes. One of the negroes was immediately arrested and locked up. The others fled, but later in the day one of them was captured. While waiting for the patrol wagon a mob gathered and attempted to take the negro from the officers to hang him.

The officers fought the crowd until the wagon with three officers arrived. The negro was placed in the wagon surrounded by six policemen. The horses were whipped up and a lively race to the jail began. The wagon reached the jail safely, but the negro was scarcely inside when a mob of 2000 persons surrounded the building and demanded that the man be turned over to them for punishment.

The mob were addressed by the mayor and finally dispersed. The police are searching for the other negro and, if captured, it is feared the mob will reorganize and a triple lynching is probable.

TRACKS SWEPT AWAY.

The Eau Claire River Tears Up Considerable Valuable Property. Eau Claire, Wis., June 30.—The Eau Claire river yesterday morning broke a new channel around the mills of the Mississippi River Logging company and swept out a portion of the Milwaukee & St. Paul railway tracks and a large section of a street.

It is also threatening the city bridge below the city, and crews of men are filling in sand and rocks. Crowds of people line the river and there were many narrow escapes from caving embankments. Both the Chippewa and Eau Claire rivers are now slowly subsiding. The total damage is $4,000 or $5,000.

SHAME AND REMORSE.

The Cause of a Captain's Suicide at St. Louis.

St. Louis, June 30.—Captain Joseph White, a well-known river man, committed suicide last night by shooting himself with a revolver. The cause for suicide is believed to have resulted from shame and remorse.

Captain White was arrested yesterday morning on complaint of a woman who charged him with assaulting her in the cabin of his boat.

JOSEPH CAPSER ASSIGNS.

The Well Known Bank Clerk Merchant Has Failed.

St. Cloud, June 30.—Hon. Joseph Capser, of Sauk County, yesterday filed a notice of voluntary assignment with the clerk of the court in this city. The cause for this step on the part of ex-Senator Capser is not known, as it was generally believed that his financial standing was sound.

No particulars could be ascertained as to assets and liabilities. Capser is one of the oldest merchants in the county.

Senator Stewart Denies.

New York, June 30.—A special to the Herald from Washington says that Senator Stewart, in answer to a question as to whether he had written a letter bolting the Republican party, as stated in a dispatch yesterday from Omaha, made a statement absolutely denying that he had written any letter upon which such a construction could be placed.

Cable Would Decline.

New York, June 30.—A World special from Washington says Congress would not accept the chairmanship of the Democratic national committee if tendered him.

Moonshiners Increasing.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., June 30.—The moonshine business in East Tennessee is on the increase. Yesterday officers attacked a party of distillers at a still in the Chilhowee mountains and a big fight followed. One of the officers was fatally injured and a number of the moonshiners are thought to have been killed.

Miners to Strike.

OURAY, Col., June 30.—Ten thousand miners in the San Juan district will strike July 1, against a reduction of wages agreed upon by the managers. People generally throughout this section are averse to any trouble with the miners, as it would be a great blow to business interests.

Ireland's Suggestion.

LONDON, June 30.—The Post's Paris correspondent says that the pope's encyclical will propose the canonization of Christopher Columbus on the ground that the discovery of America was a divine inspiration. It is believed that Archbishop Ireland originated the suggestion.

First Through Freight.

SPOKANE, Wash., June 30.—The first through freight train on the Great Northern railway arrived in the city yesterday morning. The train will be run over the Union Pacific tracks to San Francisco and Portland, where freight is consigned.

Diseased Meat on Sale.

ASHLAND, Wis., June 30.—Meat Inspector Rudolph Hoeft has created a sensation by reporting sixteen meat markets and two storage houses in Ashland as selling diseased meat.

A Minnesota Man Chosen.

DENVER, Col., June 30.—The charities and correction conference elected H. H. Hart, of St. Paul, chairman.

International Christian Endeavor Convention.

The eleventh gathering of this great body of Christian workers will be held in New York city, July 7 to 10.

At the request of the Minnesota state committee, "The Burlington" has arranged to run a special Christian Endeavor train through to New York, consisting of baggage cars, Pullman's tourist vestibule sleepers and the peerless Burlington route dining cars.

This train will leave Minneapolis at 10:35 a. m., St. Paul 11:10 a. m., Tuesday, July 5, stopping at Winona, La Crosse, Prairie du Chien, Dubuque and Savanna to receive delegates from those points, giving a whole day to enjoy the beautiful scenery along the banks of the Upper Mississippi. A special stop will be made at Hagar, Wis., for those desiring to join the excursion from Red Wing. Niagara Falls will be reached at 3 p. m. Wednesday, where a stop of seven hours will be made. The train will arrive in New York at 10:45 a. m. Thursday, the 7th. The entire expense from Minneapolis or St. Paul, including round trip ticket, double berth in sleeping car, meals en route, four days board at Hotel Marlborough and official badge will be $53. These tickets will be good to return until July 17, but an extension of time to Aug. 15 may be obtained by depositing the ticket with the joint agent in New York on or before the 15th, until you are ready to return, when the ticket will be made good for passage from the date. The usual amount of baggage will be checked through. Applications for tickets by this special train should be made to J. E. Thwing, 805 Sykes block, Minneapolis, Minn., with the following exceptions: North Dakota, R. M. Caruthers, Grand Forks, or W. J. Lane, Fargo; Montana, G. C. Tilly, Helena; St. Paul, Wm. G. Breg, 205 Aurora avenue.

To the Members of the Y. P. S. C. E. and Their Friends. See that your tickets read via the Wabash-Niagara Falls shore line. The rate will be $16 for the round trip from Chicago to New York via Detroit, Niagara Falls and the west shore of the Hudson river. Stopover privileges allowed at Niagara Falls, South Schenectady to attend the National Educational association meeting at Saratoga, and other tourist points. For further information write to F. A. PALMER, Assistant General Passages Agent, Chicago.

Or G. J. Lovell, Northwestern Passenger Agent, St. Paul.

The Weather.

U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, DULUTH, MINN.
June 30.—An area of high barometer or fair weather pressure has moved rapidly down from the Northwest, and now covers the Western, North and Northwestern states, with a center over Dakota.
Quite a decided fall in temperature accompanied this high area, but as clear weather prevails it will soon rise again. Frost is reported from Manitoba, but in the extreme Northwest it is warmer than usual.
Light showers fell at scattered places yesterday and last night, but none that would measure much as half inch.
The highest temperature here yesterday was 82°; falling again during the night to 46°.

DULUTH, June 30.—Forecast till 8 p. m. until 8 p. m. July 1: Fair; slightly cooler today, warmer tomorrow; fresh northerly winds, shifting to westerly.

A POOR APPOINTMENT.

President Harrison has rarely been happy in his appointments to office, and the selection of John W. Foster to be secretary of state is an instance in point.
Viewed from almost any point of view,
his appointment is a blunder. Mr. Foster, in trying to fill the position vacated by one of the greatest secretaries of state the nation has seen, will cut but a sorry figure.

The administration has supplied the press with a eulogistic account of Mr.
Foster's diplomatic career, but even this bulletin of praise does not show that Mr. Foster ever initiated any diplomatic coup, but that everything that he has done in this line has been to carry out the plans initiated and planned by other and able men. Stress is laid upon the fact that President Cleveland once selected him to negotiate a treaty with Spain, but it cannot be forgotten that the treaty was rejected by the senate because it was manifestly opposed in many particulars to the best interests of the country. If to Mr. Foster belongs the credit of negotiating that treaty, then it must be admitted that he was cleverly outwitted by the Spanish diplomats.

There is another feature of Mr. Foster's appointment that adds to the belief that President Harrison has blundered in selecting him for the head of his cabinet. Mr. Foster is believed to have been the main cause of Mr. Blaine's sudden retirement from the cabinet, and it has been asserted that he was acting under the president's directions when he committed the act which is alleged to have resulted in Mr. Blaine's resignation.
His appointment, therefore, will be regarded by Mr. Blaine's friends as a gross insult on the part of the president, a case of adding insult to injury. Mr. Foster, the commonly accepted story goes, interrupted Mr. Blaine while he was addressing the Canadian officials at a reciprocity conference and insolently contended that the secretary of state was not expressing views that would suit the president. It is alleged that when Mr.
Blaine turned on this underling of the state department and remarked that he and not Mr. Foster was secretary of state, the latter stated that he was authorized to express the views of the president. This was tantamount to saying that President Harrison had made Mr.
Foster the ex-officio premier of his cabinet and had withdrawn his confidence from Secretary Blaine.

If this be true, Mr. Blaine's indignation was well founded and instant resignation was the only course which the preservation of his self-respect left open.
The only denial of this story, which is claimed by Republicans of prominence to be true, has come from Mr. Foster himself. Mr. Blaine has always declined to discuss or state the cause which led to his sudden resignation and has referred all inquiries to the president, but up to date President Harrison has also kept silent on this question and has not added the weight of his confirmation to Mr. Foster's denial of the story that is generally believed. In view of all these circumstances, therefore, the appointment of Mr. Foster to the secretaryship will not cause the many friends of Mr. Blaine to entertain any greater affection for President Harrison.

IRISH SELF-GOVERNMENT.

A Dublin dispatch today says that the McCarthyites have full confidence in Mr.
Gladstone, and they now know that his home rule bill would be as good and in some respects better than the bill Mr.
Parnell accepted in 1886. From reports which have recently been cabled from London, it appears, however, that the new scheme for the self government of Ireland differs considerably from the project repudiated in parliament and by the people of Great Britain six years ago. By the revised plan Ireland is to keep the 103 seats in the British house of commons which she now holds, under the common electoral system of the United Kingdom has been reconstructed on the "one man, one vote" principle, when all inequalities in the size of constituencies

pany Case Now on Trial—Setting of Court Cases.

The case of the state of Minnesota vs.
Andrew Anderson, charged by Minnie Johnsola with being the father of her unborn child, was on trial yesterday afternoon and the details were sensational and disgusting enough to satisfy even the most morbid desires of the court room habitués. The case went to the jury about 5 o'clock and then the struggle began. It stood six for acquittal and six for conviction and thus it remained all night. When this morning came there was no change and a disagreement was reported. Judge Stearns accepted it and discharged the jury. The case was continued and Anderson's bail fixed at $100.

W. N. Pollock's name was called to answer to an indictment for selling liquor without a license, but he failed to appear and his bail of $100 was declared forfeited and his case continued. This makes $400 that Pollock has forfeited
this term. He failed to answer to three other indictments.

Before Judge Ensign the last of the jury cases, Joseph La Page vs. the B. B.
Richards Lumber company, is on trial.
The trial of this case may last several days.

The following setting of court cases
was made today for tomorrow and next week, there being no court on Saturday
and Monday:
Friday—38, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 41, 42.

La Page vs. Richards Lumber Company Case Now on Trial—Setting of Court Cases.

The case of the state of Minnesota vs.
Andrew Anderson, charged by Minnie Johnsola with being the father of her unborn child, was on trial yesterday afternoon and the details were sensational
and disgusting enough to satisfy even
the most morbid desires of the court room habitués. The case went to the jury about 5 o'clock and then the struggle began. It stood six for acquittal and six for conviction and thus it remained all night. When this morning came there was no change and a disagreement was reported. Judge Stearns accepted it and discharged the jury. The case was continued and Anderson's bail fixed at $100.

W. N. Pollock's name was called to answer to an indictment for selling liquor
without a license, but he failed to appear
and his bail of $100 was declared forfeited and his case continued. This makes $400 that Pollock has forfeited
this term. He failed to answer to three other indictments.

Before Judge Ensign the last of the jury cases, Joseph La Page vs. the B. B.
Richards Lumber company, is on trial.
The trial of this case may last several
days.

The following setting of court cases
was made today for tomorrow and next week, there being no court on Saturday
and Monday:
Friday—38, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 41, 42.

HE IS NOT NARROW.

James Eardon Talks Sensibly of the Bridge Project.

James Eardon, who is one of the most level headed and liberal citizens of Superior and who probably owns more property than any other man there, in an interview in the Leader on the question of a bridge between Superior and Duluth talks very sensibly and proves that he is not narrow enough to allow himself to be carried away with any of the jealousy of Duluth which perverts the brains of a good many of the Superior residents and especially the Land & River Improvement company people, whose sole object is to make the citizens over there believe that it alone is preventing Duluth from gobbling up everything on their side of the pond. He says:
"A good lively fight on the bridge question would be a great advertisement for the city. By the time the bridge could be completed Superior will be able to hold her own with Duluth in all lines of retail business. There must necessarily be an increase of traffic and travel between the two cities as each grows. The Leader was right when it said that the original charter for the Northern Pacific bridge was between Rice's and Connor's Points and that it was only with difficulty that Gen. Hammond and others interested locally succeeded in getting permission from the war department to change. The change was made not on account of any fear of obstruction to the harbor, but to make the road go through the then only proposed town of West Superior. For this reason I signed the petition for the removal.
"I don't think there is any good ground for the cry raised at the West End that the bridge would obstruct navigation.
The boats always have the right-of-way against the traffic on the bridge and modern engineering has overcome most of the objections to swing bridges. But there is this view of it: The Land & River company has deliberately put its interests in a position to be thus bottled up by forcing the harbor development unnaturally up the St. Louis bay and hindering the development of Superior bay, the best harbor property in the city.
"But if the proposed bridge should be built, there is an easy remedy for the interests on Tower slip and Howard's pocket by constructing a canal at the base of Connor's Point. This channel would only necessitate a small bridge for the Connor's Point business and would furnish a direct channel for a vessel to pass from the docks in Allouez bay and on Superior bay to the West End docks.
I understand that New York people are back of the project. I have nothing to do with it. It was brought to my knowledge for the first time by one of the promoters a few days before the bill was introduced. I could hardly believe there was anything in it. I think it is done purely as an investment, not as a scheme."

SUPERIOR DOINGS.

Some of the Occurrences of Yesterday in the City Over the Bay.

The thimble of one of the steam jets
in the boiler room at the West Superior Iron and Steel works blew out yesterday afternoon and seriously injured three men. John Nelson had his left arm fractured; Jake Anderson, who was shoveling coal into the furnace, was scalded about the face and hands, and Alex.
Feverson was scalded about the hands and arms. The men will all recover.
Day before yesterday the Freeman mill was run until midnight. Before that it had been shut down at 10 o'clock.
The mill is now grinding at the rate of 1200 barrels per day.
President Grace and Secretary Tubbs signed contracts with the Smead company yesterday for the use of its system of heating and ventilating in the new school buildings.
F. H. Faesbender, residing over the Whaleback saloon, Third and John, was arrested last night by Detective De Cor-sey charged with wife beating. He was held in jail last night, being unable to get bonds.
George B. Ross, for eighteen months manager of the West Superior hotel, has resigned. The Leader says: "The pig-headedness of one of the Land & River Improvement company officials is said to be the cause of the resignation."

COLLISION AT SEA

The Ship Fred B. Taylor Run Into and Sunk by the Steamship Trave.

It Occurred Almost in an Instant During the Prevalence of a Dense Fog.

One Man Crushed to Death. Another Drowned and the Rest Were Saved.

LONDON, June 30.—The North German Lloyd's steamship Trave, which left New York June 21, arrived at Southampton at 4:20 this morning. The Trave had on board 247 cabin passengers and several hundred passengers in the steerage, and also Capt. E. F. Hurlbert and twenty men, the shipwrecked crew of the Nova Scotia, full-rigged ship, the Fred B. Taylor, wrecked in a collision with the Trave on the morning of June 22. Capt. Hurlbert's first inquiry when the Trave came into port was about his wife in Brooklyn, and when he heard that she had a baby, and that she and the baby were well, he seemed to forget his troubles and exclaimed joyfully, "Thank God."

The Fred B. Taylor was bound for New York from Havre, France, and started on May 12. She was built in 1883, at Tusket, N. S., and her owners were William Law & Co., of Yarmouth, N. S., of which place Captain Hurlbert is a native. The Fred B. Taylor had been chartered for a voyage to Buenos Ayres, South America, from New York. Captain Hurlbert's wife had accompanied him to Havre, but went back by steamship to New York, as she was in need of medical attention. The Fred B. Taylor left Havre in ballast, and the voyage was without incident until early in the morning of the 22nd, when captain and crew were looking forward to an early arrival in port, the captain especially anxious to see his wife and the little one whose arrival he had expected.

The Fred B. Taylor was about 260 miles east of New York. A dense fog prevailed and it was impossible for the look-out to see even a foot beyond the bows. Suddenly was heard the throb of the engine of a great steamer, and the swish of the waters as the steamship clove its way swiftly through the sea. Almost at the same instant the great vessel loomed up in the fog, and just as the look-out shouted warning, at that moment the steamer crashed into the Fred B. Taylor.

Capt. Hurlbert at the time was on the bridge. This is always his custom in fog or when near land at night, and his personal anxiety was added to his vigilance for the safety of the vessel in keeping him from below. The Fred B. Taylor was cut very nearly in halves. The water rushed in like a torrent and the broken halves of the vessel sank out of sight. Those of the crew who had escaped immediate death or injury were struggling in the water.

The chief mate had been crushed to death in his cabin. Captain Hurlbert had his legs badly hurt in the collision, but he forgot his own injuries in his anxiety to save his men who were now struggling for their lives in the water, some holding on to pieces of wreckage and others making an effort to keep themselves up by swimming until rescue should come.

The Nova Scotians are as a rule good swimmers as well as good sailors, and this accounts for so many having been saved. A Russian who was among the crew did not know to swim, and seemed from the first to lose his head. He tried to grab at others, who had all they could do to keep above the waves which were running quite high, as there was a fresh sea.

Captain Reimkaston and the other officers of the Trave acted with noble humanity and promptitude. The collision came to them as unexpectedly as to the Fred B. Taylor. They were making good headway through the fog and taking the usual precautions, when the steamer crashed into the ship at the same instant that the ship's outline became visible in the fog. The Trave was brought to as soon as possible, and even while she was being stopped, officers and crew were busy preparing the boats which were lowered within a few minutes after the collision.

The German seamen leaped into the boats, and with a few strokes they were among the struggling crew of the wrecked ship, pulling them in as fast as they could be reached. The captain of the Fred B. Taylor would not permit himself to be rescued until he had seen the rest of his men safely in the boats. His legs had been crushed, but he kept encouraging the others and assisting them as far as he could. The stewardess, the only female on board, was rescued without injury, but not until she was almost exhausted and about to sink.

Several of the crew who were able to swim took turns in helping to keep her above water. All were taken aboard the Trave in safety, except the dead man and the drowned Russian seaman, who had also acted as a carpenter on the Fred B. Taylor. The utmost care was given on the Trave to Captain Hurlbert and his men, the surgeon of the steamer dressing the captain's injuries and soon putting him in a comfortable condition.

The crew of the ship had, of course, saved nothing, and the crew of the Trave generously provided them with necessities in the way of clothing and other articles.

Captain Hurlbert was for some time suffering much pain but he is greatly improved now and insisted this morning on word being sent to America that he was all right. It appears, however, by the later statement of the surgeon of the Trave that Captain Hurlbert will require careful attention for some time. The passengers on the Trave were so well pleased with the conduct of the officers and crew of the steamer in risking their lives in the rescue of the Fred B. Taylor's crew that they held a meeting, presided over by Col. Martin, and passed a resolution expressing the appreciation of the courage and devotion exhibited on the occasion by the officers and crew of the Trave, and it was ordered that a copy of this resolution should be sent to the owners of the steamship.

DUEL BETWEEN GAMBLERS.

Fatal Fight in a Spokane Street Over a Poker Game.

SPokane, Wash., June 30.—Two tin-horn gamblers, Billy Fay and Jack Dillmore, got into an altercation over a poker game about 7 o'clock yesterday morning. The quarrel ultimately led to the fatal shooting of one of them. Both left the gambling room and proceeded down Howard street. When opposite the Owl saloon both gamblers drew revolvers and began firing at each other at close range.

Four shots in all were fired. Dillmore was shot in the abdomen and through the hand and cannot possibly recover. Fay escaped uninjured. After the shooting Fay made an attempt to escape, but was captured by the police before he succeeded.

Dillmore is the man who entered a newspaper office in this city two years ago and attempted to clean out the office with a revolver. Both men have undesirable reputations.

WILL BE ONLY TRANSIENT.

Foster Not Likely to be Secretary of State Long.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—Secretary Tracy did not care to be transferred from the navy to the state department. The president preferred Tracy in this place, but as the secretary of the navy did not care to change positions for so short a period he declined the president's overture.

Foster was probably named because the president will be able to get rid of him without any difficulty at the close of his present term, provided he secures reelection and does not care to retain him.

To Regulate Homestead Entries.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—Senator Hansbrough yesterday introduced a bill to regulate homestead land entries. The bill provides that in all cases under the homestead pre-emption laws where settler's intention to make final proof has been published and final entry made thereunder, and where no adverse claim has been filed with the register and receiver of the local land office during the period of publication of notice and prior to the final entry, the settler shall be entitled to a patent.

An Expensive Explosion.

ASHLAND, Wis., June 30.—The Ashland Lighting company settled the remaining two damage suits yesterday resulting from the gas explosion of two years ago. They were to have been tried in the circuit court tomorrow, but the company made advances which were accepted by the plaintiffs, George V. Lord and John Brower. This makes about $15,000 damages the company has paid out on account of the explosion.

Rolling Mills to Shut Down.

MILWAUKEE, June 30.—The Bay View rolling mills will shut down July 1 for an indefinite period. The company has decided to refuse to sign the recent scale of the Amalgamated Iron and Steel Association, as made out at the Pittsburgh meeting.

Shot Her Husband.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., June 30.—Sam Looney, a laborer, became involved in a scuffle with his wife Tuesday night near this city and both made for a gun near by. She beat him to it and killed him as he ran out of the door.

Resulted Fatally.

ATKIN, Minn., June 30.—John Shunk who was accidentally shot by young Pierce, died at noon yesterday. No inquest will be held as the coroner is satisfied it was accidental. Shunk leaves a wife and two children in rather poor circumstances.

BEN MADE A BLUNDER.

Foster's Appointment Condemned by a Leading Republican Paper.

ST. LOUIS, June 30.—The Globe-Democrat condemns the appointment of Secretary Foster. It says: "The selection of John W. Foster to be secretary of state will disappoint and displease the country. While the appointee has had some diplomatic experience, he is not the sort of a man whom the average citizen would be likely to mention in connection with the leading position in the cabinet. For several weighty reasons this appointment is a blunder. So far as those familiar with Foster's record are able to judge, he lacks the ability and mental poise and dignity requisite in the head of the most important of all the cabinet posts. It is a blunder because it will cast an air of truth over the story current a week or two ago that Foster's officiousness caused Mr. Blaine to resign, and will thus be a mortal affront to the ex-secretary and his friends."

A STORY OF DESOLATION.

No Rain For Three Years Past in a Texas County.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., June 30.—A letter from LaSalle county, eighty miles southwest of here, gives a picture of the desolation in that county. In three years it has not rained a drop. The prairies, once carpeted with rich grasses, are as bare as a billiard table. The streams have gone dry. There is no water anywhere. The sun reflected from the white earth makes the glare and heat almost unbearable.

DAMAGE BY STORMS.

Vast Injury by Thunder and Lightning in England.

LONDON, June 30.—Very severe thunderstorms did vast damage to fruit in Kent and other southern counties yesterday. The steam mills at Chatham were struck by lightning and set on fire. Cattle were killed by lightning.

The storm was heavy but less destructive in the North. Lowlands in the vicinity of Liverpool are flooded. The Stafford tunnel is flooded and much damage has been done at Bootle by the bursting of a water main.

Drowned at Sea.

TRINIDAD, Col., June 30.—Samuel Dossa, a wealthy citizen of this place, threw himself under a rapidly moving train yesterday and was instantly killed. He attempted some time ago to end his life by taking morphine, but was unsuccessful.

WEST DULUTH.

West Duluth office of The Herald, room 4, Sullivan building, where announcements etc. may be left.

Ferdinand Baker, a street car conductor, while attempting to get on his car this morning, got his foot fastened in the step and was thrown to the ground, when a down car passed and run over his head. The accident happened just in front of Dr. Huntton's office and the injured man was immediately taken in and his wound was dressed. A piece of the scalp as large as a man's hand was torn from his head and the skull fractured. The doctor considers his injuries as serious. Mr. Baker was removed to the Phillips' hotel where he is now resting easier.

At the last meeting of the Scandinavian union the following officers were elected:

President, O. S. Olson; vice-president, John Ahlgren; recording secretary, J. Jorgensen; treasurer, E. Krefling. The society, which is purely social, is in a flourishing condition.

March 28, 1892, for the opening of a 40-foot roadway through block 35, Second division, Duluth, proper, and would respectfully report that they have investigated the contemplated improvement and recommend that it be made. The board would also recommend that the commissioners appointed to condemn the right-of-way through said block be instructed to award actual damages for property taken which does not require said roadways and assess lots deemed specially benefited by same.In incurred in opening alleys, etc., should be assessed to the property specially benefited and not lost any part thereof on the general fund.
The board would also recommend that the name of C. Poirier be stricken from the petition as he claims it was not signed by him.Respectfully submitted,

THE WORKS OF FATE.

A Leading Iowa Paper on Duluth's Great Future.

The last Sunday issue of the Davenport, Ia. Democrat, one of the leading papers of Iowa, contains the following: "The cities of the upper Mississippi—St. Paul and Minneapolis—are not specially comforted by that clause in the river and harbor bill which makes it possible for vessels of 20-foot draft to pass from Duluth to Buffalo. The channels that will have to be improved to render such navigation possible are only six, and the cost exclusive of the two locks previously provided for is estimated by the government engineers at $3,394,000. The work will be accomplished in a few years. It requires no great strength of vision to foresee the result of this great improvement in this country's great northern thoroughfare—nor no spectacles to see the supremacy of Duluth and West Superior over Minneapolis and St. Paul as plainly as daylight."

"The immense grain and provision trade of the far Northwest will leave the twin cities of the upper Mississippi as upon a sidetrack and seek the long, safe water route that requires but one breaking of bulk between Duluth and New York; or no breaking of bulk between Duluth and Europe, by the St. Lawrence route. Such are the works of fate. Duluth will suck the life blood from these twin cities of the upper Mississippi."

THE GAMS CATCH IT.

Four of Them are Brought Before Judge Powell This Morning.

The municipal court room had quite an audience this morning, consisting mostly of tin horn gamblers and some of their associates who were captured in the Phillips block last night. There was only one drunk, Martin Joice, and he went up for ten days because he couldn't pay a $12 fine. Matt Skeddie, the alleged rioter from Soudan, put up a bail bond of $250 this morning and is at liberty.

There were four gamblers arrested and with one exception they were a flashy lot of comparative "kids." They gave their names as Charles McWay, D. H. Brown, John Watter and Charles Brown. D. H. Brown and John Watter plead guilty to the charge of gambling and got a $5 fine which was paid. "Charles Brown" which was the nom de man in the party, pleaded not guilty and plume of one Charles Rafter, who was the only put up $15 bail for his appearance tomorrow at 2 o'clock.

Charles McWay was not there when his name was called and his bail of $15 was declared forfeited, but as soon as he heard that the fine of the two who had pleaded guilty was only $5 he rushed into court and asked that he be allowed to plead guilty and get his $10 drawback, but the court couldn't see it that way, so he is out $15. While McWay, who had every appearance of carrying a light jag, was trying to "pull" back $10, the court officials were busily engaged in preparing a fresh complaint charging him with keeping the gambling room in the Phillips block where the raid was made. This made Mr. McWay quite weary and he pleaded not guilty and put up $50 for his appearance to answer to the charge tomorrow.

MONDAY'S CELEBRATION.

The Old Glee Club Will Sing a Number of Selections.

Chairman A. S. Wilson of the committee on sports and music has secured the old Glee club which was, during its active existence, the delight of all Duluthians, to sing on the Fourth of July. The club will number six voices, Frank Burke, Jr., P. Doran, J. P. Johnson, Fred Reynolds, G. Sherwood and F. M. Whitter. They will sing a number of selections.

The committee has not fully prepared the list of prizes for the sports as yet but have a few of them ready. Gold and silver medals will be given in the 100 yards dash, the bicycle race, the pole vault and the high jump. A box of cigars will go to the winners of the tug of war. A handsome silver cup has been given by Andrew Jackson and will go to the winner of some event. The other prizes will probably be purses.

There have been invited to take part in the parade 106 organized societies including labor unions and secret societies.

THE STAR LADIES WAIST

TRADE MARK.

THE BEST MADE.

This is a cut of the Shirt Waist that has proved so popular with the ladies. These Waists are made with a rolling collar, full sleeves with deep up-turned cuffs, three box plaits in front, pointed yoke and three box plaits in back. The fullness at waist line is brought in by a gathering tape and belt. We are showing them in White Muslin, French Percales in Polka Dots and neat effects in Stripes, Scotch Ginghams in solid colors, also stripes and checks. They are cool and comfortable, suitable for house and dress wear.

Ladies, you should have one for the Fourth. A jaunty Outing Cap or fashionable Straw Sailor Hat—of which we have so many pretty styles—would also greatly add to COMPLETE your toilette.

YALE THE WINNER.

The Yale Crew Easily Won the Freshman Race Upon the Thames Today.

They Came in Eight Lengths Ahead of Columbia, With Harvard in the Rear.

The Great Race Between Harvard and Yale to Occur Late This Afternoon.

NEW LONDON, Conn., July 1.--A heavy rain fell during the night and it continues this morning. It will have the effect of keeping hundreds away from the race. Aside from the rain the conditions are most favorable for rowing two fast races. The water is smooth and there is no wind. At 11 a.m., the hour set for the postponed freshman race between Yale, Harvard and Columbia, it was raining heavily, and the respective captains were consulting as to further postponement. There seemed no hope that the rain would abate. Betting was slightly in favor of Yale.

The betting on the Yale-Harvard university race, which is set down for 2 o'clock this afternoon, was in favor of Harvard last night, but is now 100 to 80 in favor of Yale, with few Harvard takers. Bob Cook telegraphed last night to a business agent in Philadelphia to bet $5,000 on Yale, and this morning it was covered. This is the first time Bob has been known to bet so much on his crew. The following are the names, age, height and weight of the crews which will row in the Yale-Harvard race at 2 o'clock this afternoon:

YALE.	Age.	Height.	Weight.
Johnson, bow.	21	5.11	164
Balliet, No. 2.	21	5.7	196
Van Hook, No. 3.	21	5.7 1/2	186
Patton, No. 4.	21	6.3 1/2	182
Graves, No. 5.	22	6.11 1/2	174
Harwell, No. 6.	22	6.1	165
Ives, No. 7.	21	6.1	172
Gallaudet, stroke.	21	6	166
Olmsted, coxswain.	21	6	166

HARVARD.	Age.	Height.	Weight.
Neswell, bow.	21	5.7	179
Rantoul, No. 2.	21	5.10 1/2	176
Waters, No. 3.	21	5.11	184
Acton, No. 4.	21	6.3 1/2	178
Gammings, No. 5.	21	6.1	175
Winthrop, No. 6.	21	5.11 1/2	165
Selton, No. 7.	21	5.11 1/2	174
Lyman, stroke.	20	5.10 1/2	167
Thos. coxswain.	20	5.10 1/2	162

At the time appointed for the freshman race the conditions as regards wind, waves and tide were almost perfect save for rain, which came down quite heavily and continued so during and after the race. Harvard won and chose the middle course. Yale, with second choice, selected the west and Columbia was given the east course. The crews got away without a perceptible splash. The crews all took a fast stroke, varying from 39 to 41 to the minute for the first quarter mile, and at the end of that distance were pretty bunched, Yale leading by a few yards and Columbia and Harvard almost tied. Yale seemed to gain at every dip and was two lengths ahead when the third quarter had been rowed. Columbia was leading Harvard by about third of a length.

As the mile post was passed Yale was still gaining, while Harvard was rapidly filling the breach between her boat and that of Columbia. At the beginning of the last half, Yale held her own to the finish, pulling evenly at 26 to 28 strokes to the minute. She finished about eight lengths ahead of Columbia, who led Harvard by two-and-a-half lengths. The official time as announced was: Yale, 12:23 1/2; Columbia, 12:29; Harvard, 12:28. This is about a minute short of the record. Richardson, who pulled Harvard No. 2, fainted at the finish.

The Weather Cleared.
NEW LONDON, Conn., July 1.--The weather has cleared and prospects are good for a fine race at 5 o'clock p.m. between the Yale and Harvard universities.

RIVER AND HARBOR BILL.

An Agreement Reached by the Conference Committee.
WASHINGTON, July 1.--The conference committee of the house and senate have come to an agreement on the river and harbor bill. The conference recessed from the amendment for a boat railway around the Columbia Rapids, Ore., and a ship canal from Lake Washington to Puget Sound, but they secured the insertion of a clause providing for a survey to determine the necessity of the boat railway project.

LETTER CARRIERS' SALARIES.

A Bill to Increase Them Reported Favorably.

WASHINGTON, July 1.--The house committee on postoffice has favorably reported the bill of Mr. Cummings, of New York, to equalize the pay of letter carriers. It provides that after June 1, 1893, the pay of letter carriers shall be for the first year $600, for the second year $620, for the third year $640 and for the fourth year and thereafter $1,200. The estimated increase per annum of this proposed change in the salary of carriers is $1,657,950.

Kansas Republicans.

TOPEKA, Kas., July 1.--The Republican state convention nominated A. W. Smith for governor on the fifth ballot today. The vote was: Smith, 27; Morrill, 27; Murdock, 51; Barker, 10; Wright, 7. R. R. Moore was nominated for lieutenant governor on the third ballot and his nomination was almost unanimous.

For Home Rule.

NEW YORK, July 1.--Eugene Kelly, John Byrne and other prominent Irish-Americans raised $25,000 for the home rule cause this afternoon and cabled that amount to London.

SILVER BILL PASSED.

The Measure Goes Through the Senate This Afternoon.

WASHINGTON, July 1.--An agreement was made between Senators Gorman and Stewart this morning to postpone the vote on the silver bill till some day next week, but this afternoon the supposed understanding was upset. Mr. Morgan said he could find no one who desired to speak, neither the senator from New York (Mr. Hill) nor the senator from New Jersey (Mr. McPherson), and he therefore called for the enforcement of the agreement.

The chair (Mr. Manderson) ruled that Mr. Dolph's motion to recommit the bill and amendments to the committee on finance had precedence. Mr. Morgan appealed from the decision of the chair. Mr. Harris, of Tennessee, said the ruling of the chair was technically right, but Dolph's motion was in violation of the unanimous agreement. The chair had no power to enforce a unanimous agreement under the rules. Mr. Gorman said he did not agree with the construction placed on the agreement by Mr. Harris, and quoted a ruling of Mr. Ingalls to that effect. Mr. Morgan withdrew his appeal.

Mr. Gorman appealed to Mr. Morgan to postpone the vote till Thursday next at 4 o'clock. Mr. Morgan agreed to this.

After some discussion, a vote being called for, the chair again ruled that the motion to recommit was before the senate and was in order. The senate refused to recommit the silver bill to the finance committee by a vote of 28 to 31. This is a test vote and a victory for the silver people.

At 3:30 the roll was called on the final passage of the bill, and the senate passed: Yeas 29, nays 25. So the bill passed.

A LETTER FROM THE POPE.

Recent Injunctions Did Not Affect Political Affairs.

PARIS, July 1.--The Figaro publishes a letter from Pope Leo to the bishop of Grenoble, in which the pope expresses regret that some professing Catholics allege that the recent injunctions of the Holy See were intended to affect political affairs. The pope denies any desire to enter into political controversies, but he says that when the church and politics are closely bound together, the pope will determine the action of the church. The pope says that it is the duty of French Catholics to defend and foster the faith, and the pontiff appeals to all honest men to co-operate in overcoming that sectarian prosecution which is compassing the religious and moral ruin of France.

THE STRIKE A FAILURE.

River Engineers at St. Louis Forego All Their Claims.

ST. LOUIS, July 1.--The strike of the river engineers and firemen is believed to prove a failure. A conference was held between the strikers committee and the Anchor Line officials today, and it is stated that the strikers agreed to forego all claims for a uniform scale and their demand that no non-union men be employed. In consideration of these concessions the Anchor and Valley lines will employ as many of the strikers as they have places to fill, and will rescind their order forbidding the employment of members of the American Federation of Labor.

Through the Heart.

NORTH TROY, N.Y., July 1.--Mrs. Chester Bullis, of Stevens Mills, near Troy, was shot through the heart and instantly killed last evening by the accidental discharge of a gun in the hands of her 12-year-old son.

WILL PARTICIPATE.

Seven Aldermen From Superior Will Ride in Duluth's Parade.

The Fourth of July committee met again last evening, but did not do very much other than to talk over matters generally. All arrangements are nearly complete. The parade will be a grand one and will be a representative Duluth demonstration. Marshal Franklin Paine announces that all organizations desiring places in line of parade must have their application for place in his hands at 41 Board of Trade before 12 o'clock tomorrow. As places will be assigned Saturday afternoon and those not placed at that time will have to march in the rear of the parade.

The parade will follow on Lake avenue and march to First street, then east to Second avenue east, down to Superior street, then west to Sixteenth avenue west, down to Michigan street and back to Lake avenue.

The council at Superior last night decided to accept the invitation of Duluth to participate in the observances in this city and a committee of seven Superior aldermen will ride in the procession in Duluth, July 4, along with the Duluth legislators.

The Merchants' Union had decided to give an excursion to Deerwood on the Fourth and picnic there but a meeting was held last evening and it was voted to abandon it for the present because of the celebration in the city.

A CHILD LOST.

Josie Belleperche, 3 Years Old, Strays From Home.

A little 3-year-old son of R. F. Belleperche, of 415 Seventh avenue east, strayed from the house this morning, and although an active search has been going on all day no trace of the little fellow can be found. It is feared that he has either been carried away or has fallen into some of the creeks in the vicinity, although it is possible that he is in some person's house who cannot ascertain where he lives, as the child is too young to give an account of himself. The little boy is fair, with light hair, blue eyes, small features, and wore a tan colored cashmere cloak, a light brown dress, trimmed with red. He had on an old, black straw hat. He answered to the name of Josie Belleperche. His parents are nearly distracted. The police have found several lost children today but Josie was still missing at 2 o'clock.

BEFORE THE LIGHT

Thousands Gathering at Omaha to Attend the Convention of the People's Party.

As to the Presidential Situation, it Looks Like Weaver Against the Field.

Report that Gresham Has Written a Letter Agreeing to Accept the Nomination.

OMAHA, July 1.--The national People's party convention will be called to order at 10 o'clock tomorrow at the Coliseum. There seems to be no doubt but that the platform will be simply a reiteration of the St. Louis, with the addition of a plank denouncing the force bill. As to the presidential situation it looks at present like Weaver against the field. The Gresham men are enthusiastic and the followers of Stewart are beginning to whoop things up, but the fact remains that the Iowa man is still in the lead.

Weaver's friends claim that he deserves the prize by right of seniority in the party. "What we ask," said one of his supporters today, "is that the man who aspires to the greatest honor we have to bestow upon him, at least warm the seat of his trousers in the party before he has greatness thrust upon him." It is expected that there will be 30,000 strangers in the city when the convention opens tomorrow and that there will be 20,000 by Monday.

Every train brings in new delegates and the hotel corridors are crowded with people all discussing the situation. Standing room only is available at the Millard, where the leaders most do congregate. At noon a telegram was received, it was said, by a leading Gresham man, containing full assurance from Judge Gresham himself, that if he was the first choice of the convention he would accept, pledging himself to the St. Louis platform and the principles of the party. It is known positively that a telegram was received either from Gresham or one acting for him, but the gentleman who received it declined to give its contents to the public.

TODAY'S WHEAT MARKET.

Trading Was Very Dull Throughout the Session.

A dull and weaker market prevailed in the early hours of today's session owing to sluggish cables. Prices were remarkably steady. Trading was fairly divided between cash, July and September wheats. The afternoon session was very dull and the final figures were slightly irregular at 1/4c advance on cash No. 1 hard and 1/4c lower on September, other grades being unchanged. Following were the closing prices: No. 1 hard, cash 81c; July, 81 1/2c; September, 80 3/4c. No. 1 northern, cash 78 1/2c; July, 79c; September, 78 1/2c. No. 2 northern, cash 77c; July, 77 1/2c; September, 76 3/4c. Rejected, 52c. On track, No. 1 hard, 81c. No. 1 northern, 79c. Car inspection today, 167. Receipts--wheat, 91,148 bus; fax, 1035 bus. Shipments--wheat, 26,801 bus. Cars on track, 160; last year, 53.

Couldn't Get Her Divorce.

Before Judge Stearns this morning in room No. 2, of the district court, the divorce case of Mary Swanson vs. John Swanson came up. After hearing the evidence the judge decided not to grant the decree of divorce as the only ground seemed to be a mutual dislike of each other. Mary F. Marvin vs. Isaiah Faries is now on trial. Before Judge Ensign in room No. 1, cases No. 28 and 39 were continued by stipulation and La Page vs. B. B. Richards, a long and tedious lumber action, is on trial.

It either hurts or calls them to see our store crowded all day long or they would not howl as they do. We do not pretend to tell our customers that all goods we handle are made exclusively for or the steamer that brought them over, or the train that brought them to Duluth. But we claim our money is worth more in the market than any other merchants here. Why? BECAUSE we can buy in larger quantities; that enables us to buy at a better price. SECONDLY, the largest importing houses don't call on the small trade, so they must confine themselves to high-priced jobbing houses who will cut lengths to suit them and stick on a big profit.

PANTON & WATSON'S.

ONE MILLION TONS.

A Minnesota Syndicate Has Made a Contract to Mine Ore on the Attikokan.

The Mines Situated Four Miles from Gunflint Lake on the Port Arthur Road.

A Visit to This District Which Contains Silver, Iron and Fine in Abundance.

A Port Arthur dispatch says: An important railway and mining deal was made here yesterday. Some Minnesota capitalists have signed a contract with the Port Arthur, Duluth & Western Railway company, which has been ratified by the board of directors, to mine 100,000 tons of ore per annum for ten years, 1,000,000 tons in all. The mines from which this ore is to be taken are situated in Minnesota, about four miles south of Gunflint lake, the terminus of the Port Arthur & Duluth railway. The arrangement provides for the building of the four miles of road before Oct. 1, and it is expected that ore will be shipped before the snow flies this fall.

A correspondent who recently made a trip from Port Arthur over this road writes as follows: "Close to Whitefish lake lies that range of cliffs or bluffs out of whose sides and base crops the rich veins operated by the Badger, Beaver, West End and other bonanza companies. The supplies for these mines, formerly taken there over wagon roads are now transported by the P. A., D. & W. trains.

The end of track was reached at midnight and most of the party accommodated with beds at William Bull's hotel, where all were provided with a substantial breakfast in the morning. By 6 o'clock the little tug was waiting to carry the visitors to the north end of the lake, a distance of seven miles. Three boats were taken along to be used on Gunflint lake. Chief Engineer Richard Hazelwood and his assistant, Mr. Hesketh, were added to the party at the engineer's camp. By the time the end of the lake was reached a slight rain was falling, but the boats were quickly portaged over the strip between the two lakes or run down the stony rapids connecting them and were soon heading across the small lake, through a long narrow and out onto the splendid expanse of Gunflint lake, seven miles in length. These lakes and straits are the boundary line between Ontario and Minnesota and are perfect beauties, being encircled by virgin forests of evergreen and poplar trees. Here and there a tall pine is reflected in the glassy water. A foaming cataract falls into Gunflint lake on the Minnesota side, and its roar attracted one of the ore crew in hope of finding a good fishing ground at its mouth. They were not disappointed, and in the course of an hour they had eleven three-pound mountain trout flapping in the bottom of their craft, victims to the seductive trawling hook.

"One of the other boats went half way down the Ontario side and its occupants secured some fine specimens of iron from a big lode that dips into the water there. They were estimated by Capt. Hooper to contain between fifty and sixty per cent of good iron ore. This country seems to be full of iron and iron claims are being taken by railroad men and outsiders. Seven big trout were secured by this crew and when the spoils were counted on the return to the tug some thirty fish were strung on sticks as a result of the trip over Gunflint lake. Several more were added to the catch, caught from the stern of the tug or from the boats she towed behind.

"At the engineers' camp a first-class dinner was provided for the hungry fishermen over in the boating, tent on the line, run by the company. Some of the heaviest work on the line is being done here. A large earth cut, a rock cut, and an extensive fill are being pushed to completion. Between 300 and 400 men are employed on the work of construction. The five miles from the end of the track running westward is all being completed as rapidly as possible."

Capt. Mason's Misfortune.
Captain Mason, of the steamer China, of the Lake Superior Transit company, received a message from Charlotte, Mich., yesterday, announcing the death during confinement of his married daughter a lady 25 years old, and also the dangerous illness of his wife. He took the first train for home and Capt. Sam Shannon took the steamer out last night and will go with her as far as Saint Ste. Marie, exchanging with some other captain of the fleet at that point and returning in time to take in the national holiday observance at Duluth. Captain Shannon's last passenger boat service was in the steamer Nyack which left port about an hour after the China last night.

Physicians Puzzled.
Many persons are unable to sleep on their left side. The cause has long been a puzzle to physicians. Metropolitan papers speak with great interest of Dr. Franklin Miles, the eminent Indiana specialist in nervous and heart diseases, who has proven that this habit arises from a diseased heart. He has examined and kept on record thousands of cases. His New Heart Cure, a wonderful remedy, is sold at all druggists. Thousands testify to its value as a cure for Heart Diseases. Mrs. Chas. B. Bony, Loveland, Colo., says its effects on her were marvelous. Elegant Book on heart disease free.

Notice to Duluth Physicians and Nurses.
That every physician and nurse may have an opportunity of testing lactated food, we offer to send, free of charge, enough for a thorough trial. Lactated food is not a secret preparation, its composition being given on each package. Physicians prescribe it for infants, invalids, the aged, and all who need a strengthening and easily digested food. Wells, Richardson & Co., Burlington, Vermont.

SUPERIOR DOINGS.

The City Council Resolves Against the Bridge.

The city council unanimously adopted a resolution last evening protesting against the building of a bridge between Connor's and Rice's Points. The ground was taken that it will materially injure the shipping interests of Superior and that there is no necessity for such a bridge.

The gambling question also came up before the council. It is well known that gambling houses are running almost wide open in Superior. For a few weeks after election everything was closed, but suddenly four houses opened up, all on the same night. A resolution was introduced last evening providing that no salary be paid to any policeman who allows gambling places to run in the district over which he has supervision. The council went into secret session over it and when the aldermen came out the resolution was withdrawn and will not be brought up again until a committee appointed to investigate the gambling question reports.

The committee on the revision of the city ordinances has discovered that an early ordinance regulating the peddler nuisance, supposed to be inoperative and omitted from the last compilation of the ordinances, is in force. The ordinance with the earlier one covers most of the points desired.

Union painters are asking for an eight-hour day. There are 100 of them in Superior.

The Duluth committee on Fourth of July has sent invitations to the labor unions of Superior to participate in the exercises to be held in that city.

THE PLUMBERS EXPLAIN.

Standing of the Union Men Regarding the Late Lockout.

To the Editor of The Herald:
We, the journeymen plumbers of Duluth, would like to explain to the public our sentiment in regard to the late lockout. On May 11 the secretary of our union received a communication from the master plumbers stating that they were going to make a reduction in the wages of steam and gas fitters, which organization is a branch of our association, which communication was to be signed by our association and to be returned before 5 o'clock of the same date. As we had no time to hold a meeting or consider their communication we were discharged at 5 o'clock. At our meeting the same night we appointed a committee to confer with the master plumbers and get a satisfactory settlement of the trouble. But the masters would not meet our committee or consider any proposition but their own. The result was that after five weeks, with great expense and trouble, they received men from outside cities to take our places. The strike or lockout has been declared off by our association, and all men that could get work were instructed to do so, but the master plumbers have an agreement to employ no more men belonging to the city, claiming they want no more union men and that they are inferior workmen. The public well know that the plumbers of this city have done as good work as can be found in any city in the United States.

MEMBERS OF LOCAL UNION NO. 11.
Officers are Elected.
The Trades and Labor assembly met last night and elected the following officers: President, James McDowell, delegate from Typographical union; vice president, M. Stein; recording secretary, J. Reichart; corresponding secretary, Harry Mason; financial secretary, L. K. McChesney; sergeant-at-arms, T. Weber; trustees, R. Richter, M. Griffin and A. C. Bevers. The newly elected president upon taking the chair made a brief speech on the work of the year and complimented the retiring president on the able manner in which he had presided over the assembly.

Republican Club Meeting.
The St. Louis County Republican club meets next Tuesday, this being the regular July meeting. It is quite probable that arrangements will be made for a ratification meeting. The Republicans of Duluth have failed to rally as yet although the nominations were made three weeks ago.

Attention, Mothers and Fathers! Why not have your Shoes and Kid Gloves as well as those of your Children looking like new continually? Why have them looking worn and rough when you can avoid it? To do this you have only to oil them once a month with Tanner's Oil. Tanner's Oil does not injure but benefits the leather. It is now prepared by us for families. It prevents leather getting hard and from cracking, keeps it looking fresh and smooth, makes it soft and pliable and absolutely water-proof. Best of all—Shoes and Gloves kept thusly in good condition—will outwear three pair worn ordinarily. One box should last a family of three one year. On ladies' and children's wear you should use it instead of Blacking. Gentlemen can shine their shoes after using it equally as well as before. All we desire is to have you give it a trial. Shoe Dealers, Glovers, and those Dry Goods merchants who sell Kid Gloves should have it on hand to furnish up their stock that has become shopworn. It will give it an absolutely new appearance. Your youngest apprentice can apply it. Price by mail 40 cents. Special price to Dealers.

HERE IS EVIDENCE.

EDITOR DAILY CALL, West Superior:—Some time ago I received a letter from my brother-in-law, Mr. Kennedy, of Saginaw, Mich., stating that he saw by the Superior papers that Dr. Speer was in this city. Knowing that Dr. Speer had cured my brother about two years ago of rheumatism, I called on Dr. Speer. He, without asking a question, described in detail my condition, in fact, better than I knew myself.

He located every pain, and told me what to do in order to get well. Everything he has done has acted as he said it would. I have only been under treatment a few weeks and I feel like a new man today. The other doctors I consulted would not or could not do me any good; neither were they able to tell me what my trouble was. The pains, mental depression, weakness and pain in the back and bad taste in the mouth, with all the other symptoms, have vanished. I look upon Dr. Speer as a marvel in the treatment of all diseases. Will be pleased to give any further information to anyone calling upon me.

THE SATURDAY HERALD.

The Herald will be an interesting paper tomorrow. It is interesting every day in the week, but on Saturday it is more so than usual and tomorrow will be no exception to the rule. The Saturday edition of The Herald has become the popular paper of the week with advertisers, because it is read by twice the number of people who read the Sunday papers. It is the most popular with the reading public, because its contents are always bright and breezy and it gives all the latest news, both local and foreign, in which respect the morning papers are decidedly weak.The array of features to be presented in The Herald tomorrow is very inviting.
It is doubtful if Bill Nye has ever written anything funnier than is contained in his letter to be given tomorrow. He poses as president of a bald-headed insurance company, and grows very humorous in detailing the contents of the policy issued by the company.There will be an excellent article in Mrs. Frank Leslie's best style on popular fallacies, in which she vigorously disputes the claim that Columbus discovered America.The ladies will be interested in the descriptions of the latest Paris patterns, accompanied by illustrations. The usual budget of news about the various secret societies represented in Duluth will be provided."Joe the Turk" is the title of a unique character now visiting the Salvation Army in this city, and an account of his experiences in the Orient will make interesting reading. His picture in Turkish costume will accompany the article.It is not many years since the streams running into the lake along the section now traversed by Superior street were filled with brook trout, and some reminiscences of the catches in these streams will be published. Then there will be the usual budget of social news, a column of bright gossip about the coming attractions at the theaters, and a glance at the latest books and the contents of the leading magazines. With these features among others and the usual complete news columns, The Herald tomorrow will compare favorably with the best papers in the country.

THE READING DEAL.

The recent lease of other roads by the Reading company, which has been usually called the "coal combine," has provoked more discussion than any other commercial transaction perhaps in the whole history of the United States—more discussion as well as more bitter criticism. The man who consummated this vast transaction is, of course, Mr. A. A.
McLeod, president of the Reading company.Until now Mr. McLeod has himself been silent in spite of all this discussion of his action, but in the July number of the Forum he makes an explanation of the significance of the great "deal." He insists, in the first place, that there is no fact that warrants the calling of the transaction a "combine," because it has none of the characteristics of a trust. It was simply the lease by the Reading of other roads which brought under one management enormous railroad and coal properties; but the conditions of the lease, President McLeod maintains, are such as not to permit the abuses that are supposed to follow the organization of trusts. He quotes the prices of coal at tidewater for a period of five years to show that there has on the whole been a decrease, and he sets forth that the purpose of the management of these great Reading properties is simply properly to develop these great railroad lines (and coal, of course, is only a part of their traffic), and to work the anthracite deposits with a proper regard to their exhaustibility.If reckless mining without any regard to the future and by wasteful methods were continued indefinitely, coal would within an early time become a luxury, and the argument of the president of the Reading is to show that so far from oppressing the consumer, the management of those consolidated properties isreally in the interest of the whole people. Certainly it is in keeping with the commercial development of the world.
This statement of President McLeod will be read in all commercial centers with uncommon interest.

A DECADE HENCE.

The Minneapolis Journal thinks that there is a strong probability "the northern Minnesota iron ranges will be as cheaply accessible to Minneapolis as to Duluth before another decade passes," and that ultimately iron may be manufactured there as cheaply as at any point on Lake Superior. This is a very pleasant dream and it is perhaps cruel to disturb it, but the Journal should remember that a little coke is a very necessary thing in iron manufacturing, and it may find it difficult to explain how coke can be secured at Minneapolis as cheaply as at Duluth. Besides in another decade Duluth will have so far outstripped Minneapolis in all respects that no one will think of going beyond this point to engage in the manufacture of iron or anything else.The St. Paul Pioneer Press published a superior dispatch yesterday saying that Andrew Carnegie has made a loan of $400,000 to the "Superior & Winnipeg" railroad. There is no such road, and the Pioneer Press ought to know it and cease publishing such misstatements of facts emanating from Superior. The road in question is the Duluth & Winnipeg.Another apportionment has been made of the Wisconsin assembly and senatorial districts. It is said it will ensure a Democratic legislature and of course the Republicans call it a gerrymander.
An apportionment is always a gerrymander when you don't make it yourself.W. F. Harrity, the well-known Pennsylvania Democrat, says that "Tammany will be loyal to the ticket, and that Cleveland will be elected." Perhaps Mr. Harrity is right, but we will be able to decide more correctly after November 5.The Chicago Inter Ocean (Republican) says: "There is gambling in Chicago." How is this? We thought that Hempstead Washburne was elected mayor by the Republicans to wipe out the gambling dens.It is still raining in Chicago, and the News-Record wants to know what under the alleged sun, the hypothetical moon and the traditional stars ails the climate? Perhaps it is weeping over the city's sins.There are four political parties with tickets in the field in Kansas and each declares that it is going to sweep the state. If they carry out their resolve, Kansas should be a pretty clean state after November 5.Chicago papers are advising the people to cook their drinking water until it's dead. The inference is that unless that is done the people will soon be dead.The name of Kittel Halvorsen has

tiful presiding officer of the senate Kittel

AMUSEMENTS.

"Chimes of Normandy."

The Miller-Calhoun company had another good audience last evening, notwithstanding the fact that "The Beggar Student" has been presented several times before. The opera was put on in good shape, as it always has been, and the audience was quite enthusiastic and warmed up several times. Tonight the "Chimes of Normandy" will be presented and the company will do some great work in this charming opera.

"Count of Monte Cristo."

The Temple was filled last evening and the Baldwin-Melville combination produced "Wells Fargo Messenger," which is sufficiently thrilling and carries blood and thunder enough to satisfy the appetite of the most exacting gallery.
When at the end of the third act the heroine, disguised as a Chinaman, bobbled up out of a basket of laundry and foiled the villain's deadly purpose of killing her lover by presenting a pair of pistols at his head, the gods went mad. Tonight the company will put on "Count of Monte Cristo." Tomorrow afternoon "Queen's Evidence" will be produced at the matinee.

ROOF BLOWN OUT.

A Premature Fourth of July Display
Was Given in Chicago This Morning.Terrific Explosion of Fireworks in the Storerooms of the American Toy Company.When the Firemen Arrived Sky Rockets Were Soaring Through the Shattered Roof.CHICAGO, July 1.—A terrific explosion of fireworks occurred in the storerooms of the American Toy company, 155
Fifth avenue, at 10 o'clock this morning.
The roof was blown out and the building almost instantly took fire. A crowd gathered which were treated to a premature Fourth of July display, and when the fire engines arrived, skyrockets, Roman candles and serpents were soaring through the shattered roof, while firecrackers and torpedoes, exploding in bunches of hundreds, made a din like that of a pitched battle.The fire was quickly under control, however, and none of the adjoining buildings suffered, although the toy company's store was gutted. The loss is about $30,000, half insured. All the persons in the building escaped with slight bruises, except Mamie Wright, who was badly crushed on the stairs in the rush to escape from the building.

SHERWOOD'S BAND.

A Clever Scheme to Feather His Own Nest Under Charity's Name.Sherwood's Colored band arrived in the city yesterday afternoon and gave a concert last evening at the Y. M. C. A. hall. He claims to be working in the interest of an orphan asylum somewhere down in Florida, and announces that all his contributions go for the benefit of the institution. Previous to coming to Duluth the band had been at Minneapolis,
but the Times of that city hunted up Sherwood's record and declared him to be a fraud and rascal.If the columns of the Conservator, the leading colored paper of Chicago, are to be relied upon, Sherwood has nothing to claim the charity of the public. In the last issue of this paper, in a department called "The Rambler," nearly a column and a half is devoted to the most scathing denunciation of Sherwood that was ever published in a newspaper. It connects him in a scandal with a pretty little colored girl named Genevieve Rogers, and the Rambler, who as it appears he has been speaking in a colored church there, in the plainest terms.
The Times after reporting this, says:"Prominent local colored citizens have been investigating the man and his band that have been appealing to the charity of the public during the past few days, and there is no doubt but what he is the same identical Sherwood. Editor Adams, of the Appeal, the leading colored newspaper in Minnesota, so a Times representative learned, showed Sherwood the article from the Conservator, quoted above, and he had nothing to say in his own defense. The people who have been beguiled into giving money to the begging outfit will now undoubtedly feel sorry for it. From the best authority the Times learns that there is no such an orphan asylum in Florida as the band leader claims that he is representing, and it appears that he mainly represents himself, and finds that it is an easier way of making money than working."In its issue of the following day the Times says: "Steps have been taken by Secretary Holt, of the Associated charities, at solicitation of Rev. J. W.
Dunjee and other prominent colored citizens, to have Sherwood prosecuted for his treatment of the children, whose ages range from 6 to 13 years. He makes them work from morning until night, and the hot sun, giving them little time to rest. By this means he receives on an average of from $50 to $75 for his 'orphan asylum,' as he avers, but those who have looked into the matter claim that there is no such an institution."After reading this the people who have contributed to his 'cause' and the Y. M. C. A., which allowed the use of its hall, will conclude that it is not always best to accept for truth everything that goes under the name of charity.

WON'T BE HAPPY WITHOUT IT.

Long before recorded Time began, the feminine heart took kindly to the ornamental. Ladies don't as a rule, look for an engagement ring more than once in a life time, and on that memorable occasion, it is worth while to please them.
We have a handsome assortment of engagement rings as well as of rings of all varieties as was ever displayed before admiring eyes. Some of them are insignificant in price, others are more elaborate and more costly, but not one of them is a bad investment. We shall be happy to show you our line.Andrew Jackson

ANOTHER WINDOW SMASHER.

But Marie Sweeney Has Not Gained
Her Reputation Here.Marie Sweeney is in the city. She has been here at least a week but it was only yesterday that her rather singular punchant became known, but as she is safely in the care of Mrs. Van Sickle, the watchful police matron, business men need not tumble over one another in their mad haste to take out window glass insurance. The Herald readers will remember Clare Atkinson who playfully smashed a couple of the First National bank windows a few days ago.
Well, Mr. Atkinson was only a novice in this line as compared with the crystalcrashing Marie.Marie is a jim dandy in the window smashing line and she has a record as long as the high school tower, peak or no peak, is high. Marie is a resident of Bayfield and when that little burg gets too dull for her active mind she sallies forth and visits the towns in Northern Wisconsin and her trail is marked with broken window panes. She is a trifle peculiar in her actions but said she wanted to go to work and a temporary place was found for her at an up-town boarding house where she worked along peaceably enough until she heard of Atkinson's unwarranted intrusion into her special domain and now she will be shipped back to Bayfield as her presence in Duluth is not desirable. She is probably 35 years old and walks with a perceptible stoop.

PLENTY OF WATCHES.

Four Chaps With a Bushel of Timekeepers Are Arrested.T. V. Skelley, Joe Keller, Joe McCabe and Joe Clinton are in custody and are to be tried this afternoon for selling inferior grade jewelry. They were arrested by Detective Kenna, assisted by Court Officer Gullon, on the complaint of Pat Hogan. The legal luminaries of the city a little mixed as to what charge to bring against the men, but will probably compromise on "peddling without a license," though it is more than probable that the men will get off scot free.
They have been selling watches of poor quality, but in such a manner that they can hardly be convicted of peddling, at least in a district court hearing.
Nearly a peck of new and a bushel of old watches were found in their possession.

The Municipal Court.

In the municipal court this morning John G. Clark, a very respectable sort of a looking man, pleaded guilty to a charge of being drunk and was fined the usual figure with the usual alternative.
John Crowley, John Moran, John Tay-tor and Jos. Levasseur formed a quartet of vags who pleaded guilty and went up for five days each. Gust Wilson, a drayman, was arrested on a bastardy charge over a year old. The complainant was Carrie Hanson and the child is old enough to talk. Wilson asked for a little time and the case was postponed until this afternoon.

Council Meeting Tonight.

The council meets this evening but will probably do nothing more than to pass the pay rolls so that the city employees can have an opportunity to properly celebrate the national holiday.
The next meeting will not be held until July 11.

RANDY RETURNED.

Lord Randolph Churchill Re-elected from South Paddington Without Any Opposition.

Mr. Gladstone's Address in Edinburgh Discussed Everywhere by Both Parties.

The Tories Accuse Him of Raising a Class Issue and Pandering to Prejudice.

LONDON, July 1.—The general election opened today with the return without opposition of Lord Randolph Churchill, Conservative, from South Paddington. Lord Randolph Churchill has represented South Paddington in the parliament just dissolved. The district is overwhelmingly Conservative and Unionist. In 1885 Lord Randolph had 2,731 votes to 1,625 for Skinner, Liberal. In 1886, the Irish home rule issue having arisen, the Liberal vote dwindled to 760 for Hopps, Liberal, to 2,376 for Churchill, and this time the Liberals thought it best not to waste any money in contesting the seat, but to retain their funds for use in districts that promised better results for the Liberal party. Lord Randolph, who is known as "the candid friend," is not regarded as a desirable ally by many of the Conservatives, but he has a personal influence which they cannot ignore.

Mr. Gladstone's address in Edinburgh is the topic of discussion everywhere and is eagerly perused by both parties. The Tories accuse Mr. Gladstone of raising a class issue, and of pandering to the popular prejudice against the rich and titled in order to gratify his personal ambition for power. The Liberals, on the other hand, argue that Mr. Gladstone has effectively spiked the guns of his adversaries, and that he has answered completely the charge that there was something hidden in his scheme of home rule. They assert that his arrangement of the educated and upper classes is more than justified by the history of the country within the past fifty years, and Mr. Gladstone has gladly vindicated the right and ability of the common people of Great Britain to control and direct the affairs of the nation. There is no doubt that Mr. Gladstone has struck a most popular keynote. There is a tremendous rush today for his speech, and it is already being made ready in pamphlet form for distribution throughout the United Kingdom. The Liberals regard it as the platform of their campaign, and will be guided by it everywhere in their appeals to the voters.

The enthusiasm of Mr. Gladstone's reception in Edinburgh is also contrasted by the Liberals with the display of popular antagonism that greeted the Conservative leader, Mr. Balfour, in Sheffield and many of the Tories also admit that the contrast is ominous. On the other hand, the Tories claim to derive consolation from the fact that they have nothing to lose in Edinburgh and that outside of the partial representation of Edinburgh university, which returns one member along with St. Andrew's university, the whole Edinburgh representation is Liberal. The Tories point out that the multitude that greeted Mr. Gladstone spoke for a Liberal city and their enthusiasm did not mean the change of a seat. Notwithstanding these arguments, there is no doubt that the Liberals are greatly inspired by Mr. Gladstone's reception in Edinburgh.

A Lawyer's Suicide.

KILLED THE BOY.

A Negro Resents an Insult With Fatal Results.
CHEROKEE, Mich., July 1.—Thomas Fairbairn, a negro, employed as a tent man by a small circus, which gave a performance here yesterday, caught some boys pecking under the canvas. He chased them away, when the son of John Dickman, a well-known citizen, called him a "nigger." Fairbairn became very angry and struck the boy with a large stone, killing him. The negro escaped and is hiding in the woods.

CYCLONE IN ARKANSAS.

Buildings Wrecked and Crops Damaged But no One Killed.
PINE BLUFF, Ark., July 1.—A cyclone passed over Garretson's landing, twenty miles east of this city, yesterday morning and demolished everything in its path. Five buildings and a large gin house were completely wrecked. Trees were uprooted, fences blown away and crops damaged. No lives were lost as far as known, but one man was seriously injured by flying timbers.

Whitney Declines.
NEW YORK, July 1.—William C. Whitney will not accept the chairmanship of the Democratic national committee. "A great many persons have been good enough to mention my name in connection with the position," Mr. Whitney said yesterday, "but I will not take it under any circumstances."

Another Failure.
ST. CLOUD, July 1.—Another failure is reported, being that of Joseph Walz, of Paynesville, who made a voluntary assignment to F. J. Hopkins, of Minneapolis. Walz has for many years been carrying on a general merchandise business. His failure is a surprise.

Received Rough Treatment.
STILLWATER, July 1.—A farmer named James Bell, his wife and two children, living near White Bear, were assaulted by the hired man Wednesday night and seriously bruised. The hired man is still at large.

Jay Gould's Health.
SHOSHONE, Ida., July 1.—The report that Jay Gould is seriously ill at Soda Springs is without foundation. Mr. Gould is in excellent health. He and his party are enjoying their trip immensely.

A Duluth Bill.
WASHINGTON, July 1.—A bill to establish a port of immediate delivery at Duluth, was reported yesterday by Senator Washburn and placed on the calendar.

Frost in Otter Tail.
FARGUS FALLS, July 1.—There was a frost throughout the county Wednesday night, but not much damage was done.

A Red Wing Barkis.
RED WING, July 1.—Frank M. Wilson, of this city, has announced himself a candidate for attorney general.

BIDWELL NOMINATED.

The Prohibition Convention Has Finally Adjourned.

CINCINNATI, July 1.—At the Prohibition national convention last evening, Gen. John Bidwell, of California, and W. Jennings Demorest, of New York, were presented as presidential candidates. Gen. Bidwell was nominated on the first ballot, and before the result could be announced, many who had voted for Demorest changed their votes and his nomination was made unanimous. J. B. Cranfill, of Texas, was nominated on the second ballot for vice president.

Gen. Singleton offered a resolution expressing disapprobation of a certain hotel in refusing service to colored men. The resolution was howled down. After this action, a colored delegate from Pennsylvania gave the party warning that it must stand with the colored men who stand by it. Mrs. Lucy Thurman, a colored delegate, arose to a question of privilege, and said she had been insulted by hearing delegates near her casting members of her race "niggers."

Gen. Singleton's resolution was called up and adopted, and at 2:30 this morning the convention adjourned sine die. J. B. Cranfill, the nominee for vice president, is from Texas, and was a delegate to the convention. His nomination is largely due to the circulation of a story during the call of states to the effect that Levering is a member of the coffee combine. He has been the leader of the anti-liquor battle in Texas. He is about 45 years of age. He is the editor of the Advance, Prohibition and reform paper, also of the Texas Baptist Standard.

WEST DULUTH.

West Duluth office of The Herald, room 4, 811-vay building, where announcements etc. may be left.

All the arrangements have been completed for a big celebration at this place next Monday by the citizens. The various committees have completed their work and will turn in final reports tomorrow evening. At 8:30 o'clock Monday morning the various societies and others who desire to join in the parade will assemble on Grand avenue at the intersection of Second avenue west, where they will take their positions in the line of march as follows:

FIRST DIVISION.
Platoon of Police.
Marshals and Aids.
Companies "G" and "H."
President and City Officials in Carriages.
SECOND DIVISION.

Calistumpians.

The line of march will be east on Grand from intersection of Second avenue west to Central avenue, south on Central to Second street south, west on Second street to Second avenue west, north on Second avenue to Main and east on Main to Central avenue bridge, where cars will be in waiting to take the people to the Bay View Heights picnic grounds. Judge T. C. Himebaugh has consented to act as orator of the day and the Declaration of Independence will be read by Attorney H. H. Phelps, Capt. J. R. Randall, Capt. J. E. Fossitt and J. W. Peterson will act as marshal and aids. One of the most pleasing features of the day will be the monster basket picnic and the free distribution of candy, nuts and oranges to every child who shall visit the grounds. Cash prizes are offered for the winners in various athletic contests. In the evening there will be a handsome display of fire works from the brow of the hill at Bay View Heights under the personal supervision of John Kray, village engineer.

Mrs. H. D. Hall left yesterday for a visit with relatives at Westington, S. D. L. A. Pauley, formerly cashier at the St. Paul & Duluth depot at this place, left today for Spurgeon, Minn., where he will temporarily take charge of the St. Paul & Duluth depot.

DULUTH'S ANSWER.

Attorney Billson Prepares a Statement for the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Attorney Billson has prepared the statement which Duluth will make before the interstate commerce commission in the rate discrimination case. It asserts that the rates affecting wheat shipped to Minneapolis cut no figure because it is inferior wheat and is not used in the Duluth mills; that the Pillsbury mills are not paying on the investment because they are capitalized so high; that the Minneapolis mills cannot compete with Duluth's mill because it has not the equipment which the latter has, and lastly, that the statement that Duluth flour is being sold 5 cents per barrel under the Minneapolis article is false.

In Probate Court, Special Term, June 30th, 1892.

In the matter of the estate of Maurice H. Bywater, deceased:
Whereas, an instrument in writing purporting to be the last will and testament of Maurice H. Bywater, deceased, late of said county, has been delivered to this court;
And whereas, Emma Turner Bywater has filed therewith her petition, representing among other things that said Maurice H. Bywater died in said county, on the 15th day of June 1892, testate, and that said petitioner is the executrix named in said last will and testament, and praying that the said instrument may be admitted to probate, and that letters testamentary be issued thereon to her.

It is ordered, that the proofs of said instrument, and the said petition, be heard before this court, at the probate office in said county, on Monday the twenty-fifth day of July A. D. 1892, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, when all persons interested may appear for or contest the probate of said instrument;

And it is further ordered, that notice of the time and place of said hearing be given to all persons interested, by publishing this order on Friday in each week for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing, in the Duluth Evening Herald, a daily newspaper printed and published at Duluth in said county.

Dated at Duluth the thirtieth day of June A. D. 1892.
By the Court,
FREDERICK AYER,
Judge of Probate.

MODERN HEROINES

This is Undoubtedly Woman's Era and She is Very Rapidly Improving It.

Facts About Grace Darling and Ida
Lewis, Florence Nightingale and Clara Barton.

These are but Examples, as the Heroines are Too Numerous for Detail.

This is indeed the era of woman. She is not poetically idealized, as once by the troubadours, or made alternately a goddess and a captive, as in the age of chivalry, and still less is she a nonentity, as in classic Greece, or an uncomplaining drudge. She is more the companion and equal of man than ever before, and in the United States, with few exceptions, there is nothing her hand finds to do and is capable of doing but she may do it with all her might.

England and America have probably produced more real heroes in the last fifty years than were produced in any preceding era of 300 years. Grace Darling, Florence Nightingale, Clara Barton, Anna Dickinson, Mrs. Beecher Stowe, Margaret Fuller D'Ossoli—these are but a few of many whose names suggest themselves at first thought, not to mention the hundreds of army nurses, the heroines of the Red Cross, the devoted sisters of charity and the long line of artists, actresses, writers and speakers whose talents were fully matched by their virtues.

GRACE DARLING TO THE RESCUE.

Grace Darling was perhaps the first of this century to acquire a worldwide reputation, and on the fiftieth anniversary of her death, the 30th of next October, the English people purpose to raise a national memorial to her. She died of consumption only four years after her heroic action in aid of the people on the steamer Forfarshire. She was born Nov. 24, 1815, on the coast of Northumberland. Her father was keeper of the Longstone lighthouse on one of the most exposed of the Farne Islands, and on the night of Sept. 8, 1838, the steamer, on its way from Hull to Dundee, was wrecked on a crag near by.

Of fifty-three persons on board thirty-eight perished, including the captain and his wife, and daylight showed the survivors clinging to the rocks and remnants of the vessel. Against the remonstrances of her parents, and with almost certain death in prospect, Grace launched a boat to aid them. Her father, inspired by her heroism, joined her, and the most skillful management they got nine persons to land. The other six were saved by other means. The name of Grace Darling became famous, and presents and honors were showered upon her. A public subscription of £700 was raised and Grace was urged to accept a better position in life. But she declined to leave her parents, and died at the lighthouse Oct. 20, 1842.

Ida Lewis is sometimes spoken of as the Grace Darling of America, but far more fortunate than her English prototype, she lives to enjoy her honors modestly, and is now Mrs. William H. Wilson, of Black Rock, Conn. She was born in Newport, R. I., in 1841, and from childhood was noted for skill in managing a boat and in swimming, and other exercises requiring strength and daring. Her father kept the Limerick lighthouse, in Newport harbor, and at the age of eighteen she saved four young men whose boat had upset in the harbor. A little later she saved the life of a drunken sailor whose boat had sunk. In 1867 she rescued three men, and in 1868 a small boy who had clung to the mast of a sailboat from midnight till morning. In 1869 she and her brother, Hosea, rescued two sailors whose boat had capsized in a squall. Soon after she married, and her career at the lighthouse ended.

Florence Nightingale was prominent so long that her name has become typical for a class of nurses who combine bravery and unusual executive ability with the most winning tenderness. Her example is often used by psychologists to prove that the mind may be so wrought up by heroic energy that the body is no longer susceptible to contagion. She walked all hours of day or night in hospitals where the very air was loaded with the germs of disease.

Florence Nightingale, even at the sights and odors, and yet took no harm.
Her body, animated by an unyielding soul, seemed proof against cholera and typhus.

All this is the more remarkable, as she came of a race of peculiar delicacy of taste and was reared in luxury. Her father was originally William Edward Shore, a banker of Sheffield, but when he inherited the estates of his kinsman, Peter Nightingale, he assumed that name, as directed in the will. The family passed much of their time in Italy, and their second daughter, born in May, 1820, at Florence, received the name of her birthplace. She was a precocious child, distinguished in girlhood for proficiency in music, mathematics and the languages, but, happening to visit a hospital when but a girl she declared at once that nursing was to be the business of her life, and gave up all other studies for that of caring for the sick.

Her parents took her on an excursion to Egypt, but she resolutely adhered to her purpose, and nursed the sick Arabs in a hospital there with such skill and tenderness as, in the language of English satirist, to almost convince those nomadic Moslems that a woman might have a soul.
In London she turned away from society to work in the hospitals, and in 1849 took a thorough course at Pastor Elihu's so-called "School of Deaconesses" at Kaiserwerth, Germany. Her work in London for the next five years made her so famous that the British war office rejoiced when she consented to go to the Crimea.

Her record there is a part of the world's moral wealth. Quite recently this has been attested in a remarkable manner.
The surviving officers of the Crimean war had their annual banquet in London, and one proposed that they should ballot on the question, "What name of note in that war will live longest in history?" The bat-was passed, each man dropped in the ballot he had written and when the count was announced the applause made the ceiling tremble, for every ballot contained the name of Florence Nightingale.

It is a singular fact that on the same day and almost at the same hour Sir Sidney Herbert, of the war office, wrote to her to ask her to go to the Crimea. She was given almost absolute authority, and with a corps of thirty-four nurses reached the Crimea to find 18,000 disabled by sickness and wounds, 4,000 cases being due to the recent battle of Inkerman. She organized an invalid's kitchen, which has since served as the model for many. She established a laundry, library and schoolroom.
She and her trained assistants dressed the soldiers' wounds, assisted at surgical operations of the most trying kind, and when their work allowed it sang to the convalescent soldiers the familiar songs of England and home.

When she returned to England in August, 1856, a great reception was tendered and declined by her, but Queen Victoria would not be refused. She insisted on having Florence Nightingale as her guest at Balmoral and decorated her with the magnificent present, the French showered honors upon her, and besides other gifts the British government presented her with £50,000. She expended every cent of it in establishing the Nightingale Training School for Nurses. Soon after her health failed and she has since lived a very retired life, only assisting public charities with her counsel.

Miss Clara Barton has had an even more varied career than Florence Nightingale, has received honors in many lands and is now noted as president of the Red Cross Society of America. Her experience in the hospital has been dangerous enough, but unlike her English prototype she has often gone upon the field of battle to carry prompt succor to the wounded. Bullets have passed through her clothing and her shells exploded around her as she gave drink and bound up wounds. She began her work early in the civil war and was at Bull Run, Antietam, the siege of Charleston and Andersonville.

CLARA BARTON.

She was born in 1820 in Oxford, Mass., became a teacher and founded a free school at Bordentown, N. J. Six pupils were present at the opening, but when she left it the attendance was 600. In 1864 she received from General Butler the appointment of "lady in charge" of the Army of the James, and in 1865 went to Andersonville to identify as far as possible and mark the graves of the Union soldiers there. Her previous success in tracing the unknown dead had caused President Lincoln to place her at the head of a commission for that work.

When this work ended she went to Switzerland for rest, but ere long the Franco-Prussian war of 1870 began, and Emperor William sent out a call for her. The telegram was repeated in all parts of Europe, for it was not known where her place of retirement was. It found her in the time and she hastened to the work. Short as that war was it gave her time to organize an efficient system of hospital work, and at last the Kaiser bestowed on Miss Barton the Iron Cross of Merit. She is the only woman in the world to have received this honor.

When the Franco-Prussian war ended
Miss Barton returned to America, and there has never been anything since in the nature of a public calamity that she has not been first to the front. She has been all through the regions afflicted with cholera and yellow fever. She was at New Orleans when hundreds were dying daily around her. She has been elsewhere in the south when death reigned all about. She was at Charleston during the great earthquake, on the Ohio during the floods and at Johnstown during the great Conemaugh disaster.

The sign of the red cross has no religious significance. The international organization of the Red Cross society is the result of a treaty among forty nations. The treaty originated at the Geneva convention in 1864, at which were delegates from the heads of all the national governments of the world. The convention adopted a code of articles providing, in addition to many other things, for a medical force during national disasters or calamities.

The American headquarters was established at Washington, and Miss Barton was appointed president by Garfield, and has presided at two international conferences. Many columns might be filled with the names only of women who have done heroic work in these lines. The foregoing are cited as examples only of the grand array of modern heroines.

The exportation of coffee from Nicaragua has increased within the last ten years from 12,000,000 to 19,500,000 pounds annu-

It is estimated that one acre will produce about 500 pounds of coffee.

speaker and prominent Republican, will not go abroad this year according to his custom. He is needed in the campaign, say his friends, and so he has taken up his residence at a beautiful place on the Hudson, midway between Irvington and Dobbs Ferry. Of course the genial Chauncey is not afraid of ghosts, or at least such is to be hoped, for the place has a history and a very, very odd one.

When Cyrus W. Field reached the topmost round on the ladder he declared
it and in the finest place on the Hudson.
He bought a large tract, named it Ardsley Park and got a residence to suit him.
His son, E. M. Field, built a $400,000 residence, and his daughter, Mrs. David Lindley, also made her home there. The situation, overlooking the loveliest part of the Hudson, was lovely in itself and wonderfully improved, and all around it lived the most cultured of New York's millionaires. Then came a series of misfortunes which almost forced a belief in the old Greek notion that the gods envy unbroken success. Mrs. Field died, the daughter, Mrs. Lindley, soon followed, and E. M. Field became a bankrupt and defaulter, saved from being a convict only on the plea of being a lunatic.

So all the lovely tract passed to strangers, and the Depews have taken the house of Mrs. Lindley. It is a mansion in the most modern style, of wood, with wide piazzas on three sides. It is a twenty rooms, finished in hard woods, with all the modern improvements, including bells and electric lights. All the first floor is occupied by handsome parlors, large library, dining room and stately halls. A large part of the second floor is given up to the children, and the lovely youngster, Chauncey M. Depew, Jr., has a very handsomely furnished room near his mother's. He is wonderfully like his father, is well informed for a boy yet in his teens, and is so popular and democratic that he is generally known as "Buster."

The Misses Haegerman, three nieces

of rooms. The stables and other appurtenances are all in keeping, and no country gentleman in the state is better fitted for the country gentleman business than Dr. Depew. Architecturally the dwelling is described as a three story gothic on a stone foundation, facing the south, on which side is a broad driveway extending from the main road. A hall in oak eighteen feet wide extends through the house, dividing it into two equal parts, and is itself divided by por-tieres. Of the furnishings it is only necessary to say that they are all fair and cost $35,000.

Here Dr. Depew will take his rest only, for it is no secret that he is to be a working man in his party this year—the great worker, one may say. He will be in New York city frequently and go elsewhere when needed. "Buster" does not conceal that this arrangement suits him. He expects to enjoy unbounded liberty in the lovely woods about the mansion, with his famous St. Bernard dog and his little girl cousin. Altogether there will be princely doings at Ardsley Park.

King Alfonso's Body.
Some queer customs prevail among the royal families, and in no country is this so to a greater extent than in Spain.
It is now six years since Alfonso XII died. It is generally supposed that he is buried, but he is said not to be. Carefully wrapped up in fine linen his body still lies upon a slab close to a stream that flows through the Pudirio, the name of the cavern on the side of the mountain upon which the Escorial stands. It will be left there until it has all the peculiarities that belong to a mummy. Then it will be placed in the niche prepared for it in the wonderful jasper vault under the great cupola of the Escorial, where the remains of all the kings of Spain are deposited. Some royal bodies, and particularly that of the father of Queen Isabella, remained for twenty-five years on that same slab before they were considered fit for removal to the grand vault.

Two of the handsomest new sleeping cars ever turned out by the Wagner company have been put on the West Shore road in their through line between New York and Toronto.

There are twenty-five railway tunnels in England between one and two miles long, four over two miles, two just three miles, and one—the Severn, on the Great Western railway—is over 4½ miles long.

The extent of the street railroad interest in the United States may be estimated from a recent report, which states that there are 5,783 miles of such roads in operation, having 32,505 cars and employing 70,794 men.

The Northern Pacific and the Great Northern roads are competitors at sixty points in Minnesota and Dakota. From about the middle of North Dakota to the middle of Montana the lines parallel each other, then converge at Helena.

The Pennsylvania company allows 300 pounds baggage to each person in theatrical parties. Other roads allow but 150 pounds. There is now a movement on foot to even up matters by having all the railroads adopt 300 pounds as the maximum.

The Chicago and Grand Trunk has decided that the seats in its coaches belong to the passenger who buys a ticket to occupy them. It has issued an order that baggage or parcels that cannot be placed under the car seat or in the passenger's portion of the seat must not be taken into the car.

The Michigan Central has decided to continue the practice of presenting each of its woman passengers with a handsome rosebud or other flower while journeying in its cars. The company has now 7,000 flowering plants in its greenhouses at Niles, Mich., and the capacity of these greenhouses is being doubled.

Queen Victoria, whenever she wishes to confer a particular mark of her good will and favor upon anybody, presents the royal individual with a copy of her book, "Leaves from My Journal in the Highlands."

If there is one article of food that the czar of Russia prefers to all others it is mushrooms, especially when he picks them himself. It is when staying every year with his father-in-law at Copenhagen that he is able to indulge in this taste to his heart's content.

WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

The Women's temple, in Chicago, which cost $800,000, was largely paid for out of the contributions of penny banks, 100,000 of which were opened, it is said, for that purpose.

One of the most interesting results of the British occupation of Egypt has been the naturalization of the game of football within easiest of "the murmur of the moving Nile."

Turkish women, all of whom wear earrings from their seventh year, derive the use of these jewels from Hagar, who is held in veneration as the mother of Ishmael, the founder of their race.

It is claimed that the boundary line between Idaho and Washington is thirty miles out of the way, and a survey would probably place Spokane in Idaho, increasing the population of that state 75,000.

The dimensions of the famous floating dock in Bermuda, the largest in the world, are: Length over all, 381 feet; length between caissons, 330 feet; breadth over all, 123 feet 9 inches; breadth inside walls, 84 feet; depth over all, 73 feet; total weight, 8,340 tons.

MAN AND HIS SHIRTS.

The "corduroy" is chiefly used for lawn tennis suits, which, this season, show an endless variety in material and design.

Shirts for morning wear have thin lines of color across the front in black and dark blue, as well as in blue gray and other light tints, but the first two for preference.

In the matter of dress shirts the situation is practically unchanged, although some of the best outfitters are producing some exquisitely embroidered fronts. These are in various styles.

Shirts for night wear are evidently giving way to pajamas. This night garment is strongly recommended by some of the medical faculty, and the night shirt may become as old fashioned as stocks and cravats, fob pockets or Wellington boots.

A new shirt for riding folk has been brought out which, in place of the usual faps fore and aft, as a sailor would say, buttons down the sides, and from a point about half way down to the knee it cut much like a pair of trousers, so as to fit close to the body.—Brooklyn Citizen.

CITY HALL SCHEME

Some Agitation Looking to the Erection of a New One on the Armory Site.

An Armory Must be Provided and the Present Hall Could be Used.

General Sentiment in Favor of a Combined City and Court House Building.

Some of the aldermen and other citizens are agitating the question of building a new city hall on the site procured for an armory and market hall. As is well known it is obligatory on the city to build an armory and a lot at the corner of First street and Second avenue west has been purchased for that purpose. The final payment on this has been made and the deed is now in the possession of the city.

The present city hall many believe is not large enough, and it is urged that as the city must provide an armory, the present building be used for that purpose, and also for a market place, and a new one erected on the armory lot. This project finds many supporters and many more who object to it. That the present city hall is not as large and not suited to the needs of the city is apparent, but whether it would be wise to build a new one is questioned.

The idea which seems to find most favor is that the city should wait a few years and then combine with the county and erect a city hall and court house which would be a credit to both the city and county. The expense would be almost too great for the city to go into such a scheme at present. A block of ground would have to be obtained in order to have a respectable site. But in the meantime an armory must be built, and just what should be done is disturbing the aldermen somewhat. If one is built, then when the city wants to build a new city hall it will have the old one on its hands.

AN ELY SHOOTING.

"Montana Joe" Killed by Mike Wallace Yesterday Afternoon. Ely has a sensation. Two miners, Joseph Lawrence, better known as "Montana Joe," and Mike Wallace, quarrelled in Frank Faber's saloon over who should pay for the drinks. The squabble got pretty warm and both men went home and returned with their revolvers. Wallace was in the saloon when Lawrence entered, and both fired simultaneously. Both ran out then, Wallace ahead, but Lawrence soon fell and died. Wallace is also wounded and may not recover.

DULUTH'S BIG HOLIDAY!

Duluth will celebrate the 4th on Monday.

One duty is plain, the city must be honored on that day. That is demanded by gallantry. Patriotism insist upon it.

This beautiful July weather invites it. Let the flags wave, and the games play and let every one with patriotic recklessness slide off the belt from the drum of business take themselves to the Pavilion at the top of our beautiful hill, and have a good time.

We are with the Gentlemen all the way they can't very well have a good time without us. They cheerfully acknowledge that.

A Holiday without a fresh toilet is to the correct mind unthinkable. It would be the most melancholy day of of the year. The effect of a poor looking suit of clothes last seasons hat, soiled tie, gloves or linen upon the moral nature is sad to contemplate.

Would not the 4th. be an excellent day to come out with your new Summer suits. There is not another house in the West that will show you the assortment of strictly tailor made Suits all ready to put right on and wear as we have for you now.

THE OMAHA CROWD

Opening of the People's Party Convention to Select a Candidate for President.

Judge Gresham States He Would Not Accept a Nomination on Any Platform.

With Gresham Out of the Race, Weaver, of Iowa, Is the Undoubted Favorite.

OMAHA, Neb., July 2.—Chairman Taubenecker called the People's party convention to order, or attempted to do so in the Omaha exposition building at 11:05, and at once introduced Chaplain Diefenbacher, of the Nebraska house of representatives, who made the opening prayer. When the chairman introduced Mayor Bemis, of Omaha, to welcome the delegates he was received with hearty cheers, and his speech was frequently interrupted by loud applause, and it was evident from the first that the convention was destined to be a wildly enthusiastic one. At the conclusion of the address the convention gave three tremendous cheers for the mayor of Omaha.

OMAHA EXPOSITION BUILDING. Benjamin S. Terrill, of Texas, was introduced to reply on behalf of the convention to Mayor Bemis' address of welcome. He did so in a vigorous and complimentary speech, which was received with applause at frequent intervals.

Chairman Taubenecker then introduced as temporary chairman C. H. Ellington, of Georgia, and surrendered him the gavel. J. W. Hayes, of New Jersey, was made temporary secretary with C. P. Carpenter, of Farmington, Minn., and Jesse Vandenberg, of California, assistants. Mr. Ellington proceeded to make a somewhat laudatory address, which was finished by a final resort to manuscript, to which the speaker closely and awkwardly confined himself.

At the conclusion of this speech "Sister" Todd of Illinois was introduced and received with loud cheers. She came forward and presented to the convention a gavel given by Mrs. B. L. Merrill from the wood of timber planted by Washington and grown at Mount Vernon.

DONNELLY, VAN WYCK, TAUBENECKER. The states were then called for members of the committee on credentials. It was found that the South Carolina delegation had not yet arrived. The committee was directed to meet at 1:30. A motion was made to adjourn until 1:30. This was carried to 2 o'clock. Before the motion was put it was announced by Vandenberg, of Nebraska, that there would be a reunion to-night of the blue and gray which was received with prolonged cheers. Then the motion for recess until 2 o'clock was put and carried. The friends of James B. Weaver, of Iowa, made the discouraging telegram from Judge Gresham an occasion for publishing their favorite into prominence, and there is little doubt that Weaver is today, with Gresham out of the race, the popular choice of the convention.

Gresham Will Not Accept. INDIANAPOLIS, July 2.—The News yesterday telegraphed Judge Gresham, asking if he would accept the Omaha nomination tendered to him today. The News received the following: NEW ORLEANS, Ind., July 2.—The Evening News, Indianapolis, I would not accept on any platform. Signed, W. Q. GRESHAM.

WEST ON A ROCK. The City of Chicago, wrecked on the Irish Coast.

LONDON, July 2.—Advice this morning from the point inside of Kinsale Head, where the steamship City of Chicago, from New York for Liverpool, went on the rock last evening, state that all the passengers of the unfortunate vessel are safe and well.

The steamship's propeller was working ahead throughout the night to prevent her drifting off the rock on which her stern was caught, in which event she must have foundered, as her forward compartments are reported completely stove in. The passengers were taken ashore in small boats and afterwards landed at Queenstown.

EVERYTHING READY.

Monday's Celebration Will be a Memorable One. The last meeting of the joint Fourth of July committee will be held at 8 o'clock this evening and every member's presence is requested. All arrangements are completed, but a report from each committee is necessary. Marshal Franklin Paine has prepared the order of march, which is as follows, although of course it is liable to be changed in some particulars:

FIRST DIVISION. City Band, Chief Marshal, Adjutant and Aide de Camp, Company A Third Regiment N. G., Veterans of the A. & C. of America, Lincoln Camp, Sons of Veterans, Relief Cadets, Gun Stewart.

SECOND DIVISION. West Superior Band, Uniform Band K. of P. Lion, Cad. Geo. T. Hedges committee, Society of St. Jean de Baptiste, Lodges of the A. & C. of America, Tailors Union.

THIRD DIVISION. Ye Ancient and Honorable Society of Odd Fellows, The Duluth and Superior Councils in Carriage, Decorated Floats from Commercial Organizations, Citizens in Carriages.

The parade will be formed on First street, running from Lake to Third avenues west. All organizations are to be positioned at 9:30 o'clock sharp.

C. J. Kershaw has prepared a series of boating contests, which will be held in the evening from 6 to 8 o'clock on the bay. There will be a single scull race between Messrs. T. Pearson, Kershaw and Hopkins. In the double scull race the teams will be Mahoney, stroke; Pearson, bow, and Smith, stroke; Kershaw, bow. The four-oared teams will be Smith, stroke, Moers, Mahoney and Upham; and Burke, stroke, C. A. Pearson, H. W. Pearson and Kershaw. A working boat race between Walter Lutes and D. McDonald, will be another feature.

It has been found necessary to declare the football match off and the West Superior club has been notified not to come. The grounds are not in any condition to play a match game. Two teams six on a side, from the Duluth club will play, however, and Andrew Jackson has donated six napkin rings to the winning team.

Steady Wheat Market. The board of trade closed at noon today and will close at that hour each Saturday hereafter until Sept. 15. The market was very steady today, with good demand for cash wheats, and closed at 1c to 1 1/2c above yesterday, as follows:

No. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, 39, 40, 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63, 64, 65, 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79, 80, 81, 82, 83, 84, 85, 86, 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99, 100.

The Special Term. In the special term of the district court today Louis Muir was granted a divorce from Ernest Muir. Judgment was reached and defendant allowed to answer in Catherine Zell vs. Frank Roth.

The last account of the assigned case of J. H. Wolf, judgment for the plaintiff was ordered for $1,000. Thomas Best and judgment for foreclosure in the case of Hart vs. C. E. Shannon. Five cases were continued.

Vessel Arrivals. There were 361 arrivals and departures as shown by Collector Johnson's report. The complete port register, which copies every arrival and departure on both sides of the bay, says there were 571 arrivals and departures. This leaves ten vessels for Superior which did not touch at Duluth at all.

Suits for Damages. ASHLAND, Wis., July 2.—Supervisor Moore, who was indicted by the grand jury recently, declared illegal by Judge Goodland, and who was named and charged on the indictment, will sue Ashland county for $20,000 damages. Supervisors Fritzenberg and Cunningham will sue for $10,000. Other indicted officials who were tried will probably begin suits.

Followed His Father. ST. CLOUD, July 2.—Henry Casper, son of John Casper, of Sauk Center, who made an assignment several days ago, has also been forced to the wall, probably through his father's failure.

Young Casper has been carrying on a dry goods business at Sauk Center for several years, and his liabilities are said to be great.

Suits to order $20.—Pants, $4.—Nelson & Swanson, 503 West Superior street.

Dancing on independent platform at Lester Park, July 4th.

Boys, go to the Seventh avenue grocery for fireworks.

Notice. Is hereby given that owing to the critical condition of a lady, in one of the residences in Myers Park, whose health is such that she could not sustain the shocks of concussion, noise and commotion incidental to a pyrotechnical display so near her residence without great danger, the committee on fire works for the Fourth of July celebration will not make a display from the point of rocks between Duluth proper and the West End, as had been decided, but from the terrace drive at the head of Fourth avenue west, and for the people west of the point of rocks, particularly who wish to witness the display, this notice is published.

C. F. JOHNSON, Committee, W. NELSON, (MORRIS THOMAS), Cleveland and Stevenson. Suit some. Our $20 suits, suit every body, well made and perfect fitting. Nelson & Swanson, 503 West Superior street.

HELD UP A TRAIN.

Desperadoes Attempt to Rob an Omaha Express Car Near Kasota Last Night.

Two Made the Engineer Stop the Train and Another Entered the Car.

The Messenger Forced to Open the Safe But Dropped the Money Behind it.

ST. PAUL, July 2.—The St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha passenger train was held up last night about one mile east of Kasota, Minn., by two masked men who attempted to rob the express car. They got on the tender of the engine at St. Peter, and at a safe distance from the station got down in the cab, ordered the engineer to stop the train, threatening his life if he refused to obey.

One of the men stood guard over the engineer and fireman, while the other went back to the express car and rapped on the door. The messenger opened the door, thinking he had arrived at a station. As he did so he looked into the barrel of a gun and was ordered to throw up his hands. The robber said: "Where is your guard?" The messenger answered: "There is no guard on the train." "Then I am left," remarked the robber.

The robber got into the car and ordered the messenger to open the safe. He did so, but in opening it the messenger grabbed the money and dropped it behind the safe, unseen by the robber. Seeing that the safe was empty the freebooter left the car with curses.

Superintendent Scott, of the Omaha road, was advised of the robbery about 1 o'clock this morning. He immediately wired to officers at Mankato, Le Sueur, Kasota and West Spring Lake, offering $1,000 reward for the capture of the robbers. The two men boarded the train at West Spring Lake. After the train was stopped they compelled the express messenger to join the fireman and engineer and walk half a mile in advance of them ahead of the train, when they took to the woods.

PREPARING FOR FUSION.

Minnesota Democrats and Alliance Men About to Unite. ST. PAUL, July 2.—It is said that the Democrats and Alliance men, at a conference held yesterday, agreed on a basis for fusion. The Alliance state convention is called for next Thursday and the Democratic state central committee is notified to assemble here on Wednesday afternoon.

It is stated that Gen. J. H. Baker, formerly Republican secretary of state, and later a railway commissioner under the administration of Gov. Mc Gill, will be the candidate for governor and that three of the remaining state officers will be Democrats.

The scheme also contemplates the throwing of the fusion strength in the legislature to Thomas Wilson, Democrat, of Winona, for the seat now held by Cushman K. Davis. The matter of election was also under discussion, but no agreement was reached.

THE FIGHT GETTING HOT.

Lively Contest on Between Kendall and Searle. ST. PAUL, July 2.—A Brainerd special to the Dispatch says: There is a red-hot fight developing in this part of the Sixth district for the Republican nomination. As stood up so evenly are the forces of Kendall and Searle so far divided, it looks as though the counties, neighboring the Republican center, will be the deciding factor in the contest, and in the next few days the convention will be held at Crow Wing, July 5.

The county will be for Kendall, unless in the evening of the thing it is for Searle. The Republican center, however, can get it by Crow Wing's vote, it will be cast for "Zek." On the other hand, if Aitkin and Wadena will save Searle, the St. Cloud jurist will take the prize. Ex-Clerk C. C. Jones, of Todd, has been attending to Judge Searle's campaign, and while here yesterday said Aitkin and Wadena were sure for Searle, if needed.

WERE NOT THE SAME.

The Gerry-mander Question in Wisconsin. MILWAUKEE, July 2.—A special to the Wisconsin from Madison, Wis., says: The discovery was made just before the special session of the legislature, adjourned that the senate, and assembly had adopted different measures and the point was raised by Assemblyman Hall that no bill had been legally adopted.

The amendment created a sensation, but nothing could be done to rectify the error, as so many members had gone home that there was no quorum of either house present. The Republicans are jubilant, as it complicates the gerry-mander question and puts the Democrats in an unenviable position.

Yale the Winner. NEW LONDON, Conn., July 2.—Yale won the varsity race with Harvard yesterday afternoon. The start was made at 5:15 o'clock, and after 150 yards from the start Yale took the lead and kept it. It was a Republican affair, the third mile post was passed. The Yale oars dropped exact and true while Harvard lagged. At 5 o'clock 37 minutes and 48 seconds the Yale boat shot by the finish with Harvard fifteen or sixteen lengths to the rear. The Harvard shell crossed the line in 1:51, twelve seconds later. Every member of the Yale crew finished fresh and only one or two of Harvard's crew were really exhausted.

AT THE THEATERS.

Good Audiences Have Been the Feature at Both Playhouses This Week.

A Successful Manager Who is Bringing His Theater Into Prominence.

Hattie Bernard Chase in "Uncle's Darling" at the Temple Monday Evening.

The theaters have been doing a good business this week, and it is somewhat surprising considering that both houses have been occupied and a circus was in town. The latter did an enormous business in Duluth, probably because for the first time in years 50 cents was the price of admission. Whatever may have been the cause the great tent was packed both afternoon and evening, and not only this but the Lyceum and Temple had good houses.

The Baldwin-Melville company closes its engagement of a week tonight, in "Ten Nights in a Bar Room." The company has been presenting a repertoire of standard plays at cheap prices, and has given good satisfaction. It has had good audiences every night and on at least two nights the house was packed. Next week the Temple has two attractions, Hattie Bernard Chase and the "Cattle King."

A POPULAR MANAGER.

W. A. Seely is bringing the Lyceum to the front.

Much of the gratifying success which has attended the engagement of the Miller-Calhoun Opera company during the past few weeks is due to the earnest and intelligent work of the popular manager of the Lyceum, W. A. Seely. He came to Duluth a stranger not many months ago to assume the management of the Lyceum, and his personal manner and methods of management quickly gained him a marked degree of popularity which has increased constantly. Mr. Seely was quite ill recently but is now rapidly recovering his strength, and the reception which he met from the many patrons of the Lyceum when he was able to again assume the reins of management must have been extremely gratifying to him. It is no small task to successfully manage a first class, expensive house such as the Lyceum in a city of Duluth's size, especially in the face of keen competition, and that Mr. Seely has succeeded is ample evidence of the managerial ability which he possesses. The late date in the past season at which he became manager of the house greatly handicapped him in securing attractions, but it is safe to predict that during the coming season Mr. Seely will present the theater-goers of Duluth with a round of leading attractions that has never been equalled in this section of the country.

"UNCLE'S DARLING."

Hattie Bernard Chase Monday Evening in Melodrama.

Considerable interest is evinced in the coming engagement of Miss Hattie Bernard Chase and her company of players which will present for the first time in this city an original melo-dramatic story entitled "Uncle's Darling" or "Alaska," by the young and talented author, Chas. W. Chase, at the Temple Monday evening. Mr. Chase, in selecting the location of his story, picked the most picturesque portion on earth—the wild, wonderfully majestic and semi-civilized territory of Alaska—which leaves a scope for scenic display that is unlimited. Not only have all these important points been seized upon by the management, but in order to add to the general realism a number of animals, native to that clime, including elk, reindeer, bears, Esquimaux dogs with furs, sleds, snowshoes and other paraphernalia, have been imported at an immense outlay in order to present a novel stage representation.

"Cachucha" is the latest skirt dance, and it will be seen here for the first time with the appearance of Hattie Bernard Chase, in "Uncle's Darling." "Pie or Troubles in the Household," is her latest banjo song, and it always catches her audience.

MILLER-CALHOUN COMPANY.

Its Popularity Grows and it is Because it Deserves to.

The Miller-Calhoun Opera company has continued to draw good houses the past week and it is no more than justice to say that it has deserved the patronage. The engagement has been successful beyond anticipation to the people, man the agent and the company itself.

"Boccaccio," which was put on for three nights this week, brought out the full strength of the company and displayed its ability to excellent advantage. Thursday evening "The Beggar Student" was produced again and although it was the fourth presentation, there was a good audience. "Chimes of Normandy," that beautiful and ever popular opera, was put on last night and gave remarkably good satisfaction. Next week "Prince Methusalem" will be presented the first part of the week and "La Mascotte" will be heard at the end of the week.

Pauline Hall's New Opera. Manager Condon among his attractions for next season has booked Pauline Hall. She recently appeared in Boston in a new opera, "Puritania," and one of the papers there says:

"There is no cooler place in Boston than the Tremont theater. Nevertheless the enthusiasm over the new opera, 'Puritania,' is very warm both for the libretto and music. Miss Hall meets with a very cordial reception every night, and sings with much chic, and the part of the Earl is a hit. Miss Beaudet's reception is no less flattering, and her song, 'My Mother Said Don't,' receives several encores at each performance. But the real success of the piece is Fred Solomon, who, in the character of the Witch Finder General, has made as great a success as the Lord High Executioner ever made in 'The Mikado.' This opera bids fair to have a long summer season."

Dramatic Gossip.
A. D. Wheeler's (Nym Crinkle) new book, "The Primrose Path of Dalliance" is selling like hot cakes. It has made a very big hit in New York.

Langtry is said to have won £20,000 on the Ascot races.

Roland Reed is in great distress. He has lost his splendid greyhound Peggy, and refuses to be comforted.

Fanny Davenport sailed for Europe on Saturday and Agnes Huntington sailed on June 29.

W. J. Scanlan is said to improving so rapidly that hope is entertained that he may soon return to the stage.

"Sinbad" will open a summer season at the Garden theater, New York City, and its success is already assured.

The degree of L. L. D. was conferred on Henry Irving June 15, at the tercentenary celebration of the University of Dublin.

Once more it is said that Lotta will return to the stage next season, this time under "Hurricane" Floyd's management.

Among the list of passengers which sailed on the City of New York last Wednesday was Alexander Salvini and his manager, Mr. W. M. Wilkinson. They are to make a rapid tour of the Continent, and to visit Madame Patti's castle in Wales on their return journey.

It is estimated that 3,500,000 theater tickets are issued in the country every week at 50 cents each. The total amount expended every year for this form of amusement would amount to $1,750,000.

The calcium light man in a Cincinnati theater tumbled out of the gallery and fell into the audience. He was reprimanded for his unprofessional conduct in trying to draw attention to himself to the detriment of the stage performance, but after promising not to do it any more he was allowed to go to work again.

A soubrette is never at her best until she is 30, and none of them who have made any mark at all are less. Proof: Lotta, Nellie McHenry, Lena Merrill, Alice Harrison, Maggie Mitchell, George Parker, Fay Templeton, Laura Burt, Jennie Yeamans, Katie Emmet, Amy Lee, Loie Fuller and Ullie Akers-trom. What is known as the fluffy-haired chippy soubrette is really a chorus girl throwing out a great big bluff.

A FEW YEARS AGO.

The Time When the Streams Within Duluth's Limits Were Filled With Trout.

Strings of the Speckled Beauties Represented an Hour's Work Along Superior Street.

How Col. Hull, of the Old Clark House, Provided a Breakfast of Trout.

It is only a matter of a few years when the dainty brook trout, now so plentiful in the streams near Duluth, will be as scarce as dollars in a church contribution box. Twenty years ago there were at least five places on the line of what is now known as Superior street, inside the city limits, where the lover of brook trout could drop his line or cast his fly and get a string of the speckled beauties in an hour's work that would represent a whole day's labor now-a-days in the more distant streams. Fischer's creek, Brewery creek, Chester creek, Miller's creek, Graham's brook and many others, now either obliterated and dried up, or contaminated by sewage, used to furnish lots of sport to anglers.

Chester creek, still a thing of beauty, "used to be lined for a quarter of a mile along its banks with fishermen, among whom may be remembered old Joe Knowlton, Reginald and Douglas Petrie, Capt. Pressnell, Col. Graves, the Howards, the Coopers, Judges, Ensign, Stearns and Egan, Inspector Tomlin, Dr. d'Unger, Dr. Foster, R. C. Mitchell, the Rays and many others prominent in Duluth's early development. Even that now superintendent of the United States fish hatchery at Lester Park, formerly came up here from St. Paul to lure the finny Langtrys from their hiding places. Even as late as 1875 brook trout were caught in what was known as Clark House creek, at the lower end, and Brewery creek furnished a few about that time. This spring several fine ones have been taken out of the lower end of Chester Creek and the pools on lower Miller's creek have yielded a few strings of small fish. Prior to 1880 nearly every stream emptying into the St. Louis river between Northern Pacific Junction and Duluth literally swarmed with trout, and catches for a single rod in a day's fishing, of 80 and 100 pounds were by no means rare. "Old man Church," who was well known here, had a known catch of 110 pounds of brook trout at some point on the dailies of the St. Louis river made on July 3, 1874 or 1875, and the size of the fish varied from a big one weighing 4 1/2 pounds to the little fellows of an ounce or so. His number of fish was 1102, and he fagged the Northern Pacific passenger train in order to get his catch into the junction where he then lived.

Old Joe Knowlton used to tell a story of Col. Hull who ran the Clark House away back in the early days, who ran something like this: The colonel had some distinguished guests at breakfast and they wanted some brook trout, but there wasn't a trout in the hotel larder, so the colonel told his guests that he had a special train coming in from the trout streams with the early catch and it they would wait until 8 o'clock for breakfast they should have a fine mess of trout. They consented and that night Col. Hull bought all C. F. Johnson's stock of fish poles and had every male employee of the hotel-up at 3:30 in the morning and stationed along the little streams which crossed Superior street, fishing for dear life. He even went out himself, but returned without a trout. One servant after another came in, but no trout save two or three minutes later he found in the catch. It was close upon 7 o'clock when two men who had been sent out to Chester creek (which was away out in the woods in those days) came in with about ninety fish. They were cleaned and prepared for the guests and they ate them with gusto, little dreaming that they had been caught within a mile or two of the hotel. Joe Knowlton insisted that Col. Hull raised the wages of the two lucky fishermen and gave them free drinks at his bar for a whole week afterwards.

In the early days of the first Duluth Herald, while under the management of Dr. d'Unger, the "power" for turning the Cincinnati cylinder press was furnished by the muscles of John Humpe, or "Humpy John," as the boys irreverently called the old man. He was a short, hump-backed individual, but he could turn the printing press with the regularity, speed and almost with the endurance of a steam engine. One afternoon The Herald was ready for press but the "power" was lacking, and the office force, helped by the wife of "Humpy John," tackled the job of turning the edition. After they had grunted and grunted—and swore a little—for about thirty minutes, "Humpy John" came in with a wet-looking gunny sack over his back which made him stagger with the weight of its contents. John took off his coat, worked off the edition of the paper and then asked everyone in the building if they wouldn't have some fish. He opened his sack and it was filled almost full with brook trout. There must have been 125 pounds of them, perhaps more, but there was enough to feed a multitude, and Humpy John was forgiven for being tardy. He had caught them in a drag net composed of gunny sacks in a little stream or spring which flowed into St. Louis bay, a few hundred feet beyond where the freight house of the Eastern railroad now stands. He had not consumed more than a couple of hours' time altogether.

But the days of big catches of brook trout are over inside the city limits of Duluth and the amount of the catch in the near vicinity of the city is getting much smaller than it used to be and soon will cease altogether. Sawdust and sewage, banks denuded of timber, and various other influences have combined to sadly deplete the number of this famous little food fish, and they will soon be numbered among delicacies which the earliest settlers alone can speak of from actual remembrance.

If your clothes are torn they will be mended free of charge if sent to the Troy to be washed.

WALTER QUINTON GRESHAM.

An Indian Who Has Been Prominent in Various Ways.

Hon. Walter Quinton Gresham, to whom recent political movements have called attention, has had the singular experience of becoming eminent in several lines and still falling short of the goal he had aimed for or the promotion his friends had designed for him. Poverty, wounds and unexpected combinations of events have in turn checked his progress in college, the army, the cabinet and political life, yet he has attained high rank among soldiers and statesmen and is now held in the highest esteem as a judge.

He was born March 17, 1832, near Lanesville, Harrison county, Ind. He obtained a very thorough common school education and entered the state university, but was only able to remain there one year. He was admitted to the bar in 1853 at Corydon, Ind., and became a successful lawyer; was elected to the legislature in 1860, and in August, 1861 became lieutenant colonel of the Thirty eighth Indiana infantry. The following December he was made colonel of the Fifty-third Indiana and served for two years in that rank, making an exceptionally brilliant record, especially in the campaigns of 1863 in Mississippi.

JUDGE GRESHAM.

Aug. 11, 1863, he was commissioned brigadier general, and while commanding the Fourth division of General Blair's corps before Atlanta he received a wound which disabled him for a year, ending his service. March 13, 1865, he was brevetted major general for gallantry in the Atlanta campaign. He resumed law practice, this time at New Albany, Ind., and became a Republican leader, but the Democratic majority in that region was too much for him and he was defeated in the race for congress. Again, in 1881, he was an unsuccessful candidate for United States senator. Meanwhile President Grant had in 1869 appointed him federal judge for the district of Indiana.

In April, 1882, he was appointed postmaster general in President Arthur's cabinet, and in July, 1884, on the death of Secretary Folger, he was transferred to the secretaryship of the treasury. Finally he was in October, 1884, appointed United States judge for the Seventh judicial circuit, which office he still holds. In the preliminary convention of 1888 southern Indiana and most of Illinois supported Judge Gresham for the nomination for president, but General Harrison secured the state delegation. Judge Gresham has always been quite independent in politics, but very successful.

They Were Both from Jersey. One specially high peak of the Andes affords a peculiarly fine view of the sunrise, and on two sides of this peak hills have been built within an hour's climb of the apex in order that travelers having scrambled up the mountain side may rest over night and go at it fresh in the morning. An American, says the New York Sun, reached the summit of the mountain from one of the huts just at sunrise one morning and found himself face to face with a stranger who had toiled up from the hut on the opposite side.

Both gazed in silence at the sight below, and then one said to the other, "There is only one other view that equals this, in my opinion." "Just what I was thinking," said his companion. "What's your other view?" "That to be seen at sunrise from Fort Monmouth, near Morristown, N. J.," said the first. "Why, that's mine, too," said the other; and then, standing together on that lonely peak, the two compared notes, and discovered that they were neighbors in the little Jersey town.

Grover Cleveland's Summer Home.

Ex-President Grover Cleveland spends the hot months at a charming resort on the Cape Cod coast of Massachusetts with the nonpareils name of Buzzard's bay. His nearest neighbor and most intimate associate there is the veteran actor Joseph Jefferson, the latter's house being known as the Crow's Nest and the former's as Gray Gables.

GRAY GABLES.

The Cleveland home stands on a knoll known as Monument neck and faces the water on three sides. The ex-president owns 100 acres of land there, which is of no value except to give room, and the building was named Gray Gables by Mrs. Cleveland because it has six gables. He bought the place from a Boston merchant and thinks he got a great bargain. Mr. Cleveland has the reputation of being one of the best fishermen on the coast.

PIEDMONT IMPROVEMENT.

Property Owners are Kicking on the Final Assessment.

The question of the improvement to be made for the improvement of Piedmont avenue east came up in the council last evening. The matter came up on a communication from the city attorney, who informed the council that many objections had been entered by property owners against the final assessment which will come up for a hearing today in the district court. The original estimate was $64,350 but the improvement of the road has been estimated at $81,000 and the property owners feel that this is as much as they ought to pay and that the balance should come out of the general fund.

Alderman Thomas and Weiss favored this but an objector was found in Ald. Cox. He declared that a case exactly the same in point came up at the time of the improvement of Piedmont avenue west. The property owners on that street were nearly all poor people but they went down into their pockets and paid for the work in full. Ald. Kennedy corroborated this and the matter was finally referred to the finance committee.

The city pay rolls were ordered paid as follows: Fire department, $4,225; police, $3,782; board of public works, $764; engineer's department, $8,667; health, $599; assessor, $834; officers, $1,645; postmaster, $100. The council then went into executive session.

CAR SERVICE BUSINESS.

Report of Cars Handled at the Head of the Lakes in June.

The report of the Lake Superior Car Service association, showing the business of the lakes for the month of June, was completed yesterday afternoon, and shows the total number of cars handled as 14,873. Of these, 8351 were handled in Duluth and 6422 in Superior. There were handled in Duluth 4003 cars of grain, as against 1744 in Superior; of lumber, 1213 cars in Duluth and 789 in Superior. In hay, vegetables, iron, food, groceries and meat Duluth leads in the number of cars handled, but in coal and coke Superior leads with 2137 cars as against 1441 in Duluth; also in stone and sand, having 643 cars to Duluth's 264. The city across the bay also leads in beer, having handled 40 cars to Duluth's 31. The average time of detention was 1.22 days as against 1.20 in May. The total number of cars handled in May was 12,535.

MALE A GREAT HIT.

Tom Martin's Gaspard Takes the Audiences by Storm.

It was a brilliant production of the "Chimes of Normandy" that the Miller-Calhoun company gave last evening and the members had an incentive to work in the fact that they had an enthusiastic and appreciative audience. The opera was beautifully staged, the members were full of life and vigor and everything moved smoothly and easily. But it was unquestionably Tom Martin who covered himself with glory. Duluth audiences had grown to expect nothing but comedy, but in the character of Gaspard he gave them a pronounced surprise, for a more complete and finished rendition of that difficult part has not been seen in Duluth. In appearance, voice and manner he was truly the misérable old miser, soul and body wedded to his gold so fearfully that when discovered he loses his reason. In this scene, where the old miser's reason leaves him, Martin's work was given with such power and strength that the audience fairly shuddered and when the curtain went down he was brought out with such a storm of applause as has not been heard before in the Lyceum.

The other parts were well taken. Miss Lotta Gilman as Germaine, the lost marchioness, looked very charming and sang with her usual sweetness, receiving several encores. Julia Calhoun, as Serpolette, was excellent and did some very clever acting. Charles Campbell as the Marquis, Douglas Flint as the Baili, Robert Mansfield as the notary and George Mitchell as Grenichew were all well received and frequently applauded. The Misses Warner had a very pretty dance. The "Chimes" will be repeated this evening.

LAND OFFICE BUSINESS.

Reports for the Quarter and the Month of June.

The report of business for the month of June in the United States land office shows the total receipts for the month as $8,042.93. There were 43 cash entries, 4,069.20 acres, $5,086.79; one pre-emption entry, $2; 239 homestead entries, 30,442.10 acres, $2,756.61; 3 final homestead entries, 475 acres, $15.88; profits and plats, $141.05. The report for the quarter ending June 30 showed total receipts of $17,714.65. There were 88 cash entries, 8,384.63 acres, $10,731.21; 547 homestead entries, $6,447.84; 1 pre-emption entry, $2; 4 soldiers' and sailors' declaration scrips, $8; 1 entry of agricultural college scrip, $4; one Valentine scrip, $1; deprecations on public timber, $150.

Building Permits Issued.

Eight building permits were taken out yesterday afternoon as follows: Lake Superior Elevator company, repairs, $5000; Union Improvement Elevator company, repairs, $5000; Frank Carlson, frame dwelling, Nineteenth avenue west, $800; T. T. Hale, repairs to dwelling, First street east, $1500; Annie Westman, dwelling, Twenty-fifth avenue west, $350; Trustees German M. E. church, two-story frame church, Sixth street east, $1500; Northwestern Fuel company, coal shed, $3500; Roth & Swanstrom, blacksmith shop, West Michigan street, $200.

If you are not satisfied with your laundry telephone 447 and have Lutes' laundry call.

The Troy will call and return your washing with no extra charge.

Children's Day Exercises.

"Children's Day" will be observed in the First Methodist church tomorrow, both morning and evening. At 10:30 o'clock more than seventy of the little folks from the Junior League will render a beautiful floral service consisting of songs, recitations and the presentation of floral offerings and spelling out a choice scripture motto in flowers. At 8 o'clock, the Sunday school, assisted by the chorus choir, will build a pyramid to "The League of Honor," laying in place nine planks of rarest virtues and grace. The singing of Mrs. M. B. Kirkland, of Jamestown, N. Y., will also lend special charm to the musical program of the evening.

Telephone Lutes' laundry to call for your washing.

IT IS AWAKENING.

Duluth Society is Arousing Itself
From a Long and Very Sound Sleep.

Several Lawn Parties, Evening Receptions and Afternoon Teas
This Week.

Many Duluth People Making the Tour of the Lakes and Visiting Resorts in This Vicinity.

During the past week society has shown a little sign of returning life. With the wet season apparently past and the dawn of warmer weather upon us, the social element has become somewhat thawed out and, although some of the fair sex insist on walking about with their Astrachan capes on, we may now conclude that summer has arrived for a visit.

A few lawn parties, three evening receptions, a couple of afternoon teas and other little harbingers of social activity have transpired during the week. A very large number of ladies and children have taken advantage of the warm, pleasant weather to make the tour of the lakes and the Buffalo and Chicago boats have been crowded on incoming and outgoing trips, while the Booth steamer Dixon has carried several large parties to Isle Royale lately. The Yellowstone park route has caught a few fortunes, but by far the greater number of railroad travelers desiring to take an outing have chosen a ramble through the Rocky mountains, via the Canadian Pacific and Victoria. Several camping out parties have been formed and quite a number of Duluth families are enjoying life under canvas. The cottages at Oatka beach are filling up and that charming spot of suburban quiet will soon take on its regular summer garb.

Mrs. Outler Entertains.
Mrs. D. G. Outler gave a very enjoyable afternoon reception Tuesday at her home on West Third street. The rooms were very prettily decorated with flowers. Mrs. Outler was assisted by Miss Martha Peyton, Miss McLaren, Miss Charlotte McLaren, Miss Munger, Miss Miller, Miss Gertrude Markell and Miss Ray Culver.

A Superior Marriage.
Arthur William James, of West Superior, who is well known in Duluth, and Miss Viva Aline Curtis, of Milwaukee, were married in the latter city on Thursday afternoon. Up to that day only the relatives and the clergyman who officiated were cognizant of the prospective marriage. They have gone a trip East, and will be at home after July 10 at the West Superior hotel.

Social Gossip.
Mrs. E. S. Upham and daughter are in Syracuse, N. Y.
Mrs. R. B. Doane arrived home from Omaha, last week.
Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Arthur have returned from Buffalo.
Mrs. Louis Clark has returned from her Cleveland, O. trip.
Miss Jessie Smith is visiting with friends in Herkimer, N. Y.
Miss Deannie Cox has gone to Elk River to spend the summer.
Mrs. Ella Barker and children have returned from an Eastern trip.
Miss Jennie McKay left on Thursday for a short stay in Fort Wayne, Ind.

Opposition Top.
SANANNAH, Ga., July 2.—It is asserted here that Speaker Crisp will have a hard time securing a renomination, owing to his Hill leanings. It is alleged that friends of Cleveland are scheming to defeat him at home, so that the next president, if a Democrat, will be able to indicate as his choice a man in sympathy with him for the speaker's chair.

GREAT CROPS IN KANSAS.

The Largest Ever Known in the State's History.
TOPEKA, Kans., July 2.—Kansas farmers are having great trouble in securing sufficient hands to harvest the enormous crop of wheat in the state, most of which is now ready for cutting. Farmers offer from $2 to $2 a day with board, wages which have never been known to prevail in the state before. The yield this year will probably exceed that of any previous year in the history of the state. In the central and northern portions at least 2000 farm hands can find employment during the present harvest.

THOSE CANAL TOLLS.

The President Says Our Position is Further Confirmed.
WASHINGTON, July 2.—The president sent a message to the senate yesterday in which he stated the position taken by the government, as expressed in his previous communication to the senate, that the canal tolls and regulations of Canada, of which complaint has been made, are in violation of the treaty with Great Britain is not shaken but rather confirmed.

Senator Stewart Denies.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—Senator Stewart states that the report that he sent a special messenger to Omaha with a platform and information for the third party convention that he would accept the nomination for president on that platform is incorrect. He said Gen. A. J. Warner had gone there to look after the silver plank, that was all.

A WORD OF ADVICE.

To the Editor of The Herald:
In common with most people at this season of the year, I usually feel fagged out and listless, and seem to lose all strength and ambition. I have always supposed it was due to the weather, but it certainly seems as though there should be some way by which these things can be prevented or avoided.

I have heard of a great many ways, which have been tried by different people, but I am naturally skeptical, and write to ask you if you will not in your editorial columns, state what you believe to be the best way of keeping up the strength and life during the summer season. By doing so you will greatly oblige me, and I doubt not many others.

Sincerely, A. H. R.
A. H. R. asks a pretty difficult question, and one which an editor might respectfully decline to answer, presuming it to be outside of his sphere, but editors have unusual opportunities for observing; in fact, that is their prime desire. While there are many things which a subscriber might try for the purpose of keeping up the tone of the system and strength during the summer, there is nothing which will prove so beneficial as the great discovery of Prof. Phelps, of Dartmouth college, known as Paine's celery compound. It is a food for the nerves, the brain, and hence the life. It has proven itself unequalled, and its success with the public and the medical profession amply proves what it is doing for others. The Herald therefore advises A. H. R. and all who have similar troubles to try it.

A Big Judgment.

In the case of Chester A. Congdon vs. George W. Hunt, judgment has been entered for $131,777, and interest $9,580. Congdon sued on some orders given him by Hunt on C. B. Wright, of Philadelphia, which the latter refused to accept. Frank R. Webster has brought suit against the St. Louis Investment company to foreclose on lots 5, 6, 7 and 8, section 31, lots 4, 5, 6 and 7, section 30-49-16, the amount due being $8,435.44.

IN TURKISH DRESS.

A Unique Character Who is Now Visiting the Salvation Army in Duluth.

Joe the Turk, Who Has Spent the Last Eight Years in the Army's Work.

Will Address the Audiences at the Barracks at Tonight's and Tomorrow's Meetings.

There is a unique character visiting the Salvation Army in Duluth this week and he will be present and speak at the headquarters here at tonight and tomorrow's meetings. This man is "Joe, the Turk," an Armenian, whose headquarters are in Chicago but who is at present making a tour of all the stations in Minnesota. Swarthy, of a strong Aryan type, he has done much during the last eight years in behalf of the Salvation Army. His exhortations are said to be earnest, but couched in English marked with a strong foreign accent. Attired in Turkish costume, he interests his audiences by illustrating some of the habits of his Eastern life.

This man, "Capt. J. Garabed" is his official name, has had quite a history. His father was a priest of the Greek church (the Eastern church allows its priests to marry), and for the first seventeen years of his life young Garabed remained at home. After the death of his parents he went to Constantinople and learned the shoemaker's craft, a trade in which he became quite proficient. When the war broke out between Russia and Turkey he fled north and entered the czar domains, where he stayed a year. He then came to America, and after spending three years in various parts of the country met the Salvation Army in San Francisco and threw in his lot with them. That was eight years ago. Since then he has been one of its most active workers.

When Joe started for America he had an idea that this country was a second heaven. On the steamer on which he sailed for America he learned only two words of English, "bread" and "water." Landing at San Francisco, he knew nothing of the English language, and felt at a loss how to proceed. "Thought he would first learn the streets of the city and after placing his baggage, started out on his errand. He had not gone far until he noticed a woman lying on the street on the opposite side, her face unveiled, so entirely different from anything to which he had been accustomed. He thought she must be sick. After a while a policeman came along and kicking the woman to one side, blew a whistle, when some fellow came along with a wheelbarrow, into which the woman was dumped, and rolled out.

He went out again and saw a man in like condition treated in the same manner, when he resolved to follow the barrow and see what disposition was made of the man. He saw that he was carried to a prison, and peering through the prison bars, he saw a multitude of women and boys incarcerated therein, whereupon he concluded that America was not a heaven, after all, but was much like other countries so far as crime is concerned.

He opened up a shop in San Francisco a little later, next door to a saloon whose proprietor was a woman, a Mrs. Flannigan. To his delight he found a hole in the wall between his shop and the saloon. He moved his work bench near the hole in the wall and when he wanted a drink had it handed to him through the aperture. He provided himself with a knife that had a whistle on one end and whenever he wanted liquor would blow the whistle, and whenever the whistle sounded the drinks were handed in through the hole.

Thus things went on for some years. One Sunday morning he was walking out alone. He had a cane in his hand and a cigar in his mouth, and about as much as he could carry of rum in his stomach. He heard the call of a drum and looking around saw a company of people marching through one of the streets of the city. He followed after and soon learned that it was the Salvation Army people.

On one of the streets the army was assailed by a lot of hoodlums with dirt, stones and other missiles. The captain of the company received a lump of mud in the face. Joe awaited results, but was surprised when he saw the gentleman quietly take his handkerchief from his pocket, wipe the dirt from his face and with song on his lips, keep on advancing, without a murmur of complaint. "That's the kind of religion I want," said he to himself, "when I get religion, but as I haven't got any yet and the police are not affording any protection to the people, I'll turn myself into a special policeman, and the first fellow I see throw a stone or anything, I'll lay him out." After a time, he saw a fellow throw a stone, and going up to him, he hit him behind the ear laying him out. He treated another fellow in the same fashion, when the trouble ended.

Shortly after this he was walking out again, and at a distance saw the flag of the army. There was magic in the sight. He couldn't get rid of the impression that had been made on his mind. One night he locked his shop and attended a meeting of the army. He was solicited to kneel at the penitential form and cry for salvation. He hesitated but he yielded, and he fully resolved to seek salvation. Immediately the work was done and he felt glory in his soul.

He went to his shop next morning as usual. He was sweeping the sidewalk. Mrs. Flannigan approached him. He knew what she was after. Suggested the morning was cold and that Joe would better go in and take something to "warm him up." He excused himself; he frankly told her that he had been converted and joined the Salvation Army, and that he proposed not to drink any more. She chided him for his foolishness in going off with a gang of fanatics and cranks, predicted he would not hold out a week and left him.

That night he was asked to march with the Army, which he reluctantly consented to do. He got in the ranks, but finally being overcome with shame, he fell out of the column. Next night he was asked to march again and before he hardly realized what was going on he found himself in the ranks with a big drum strapped to him, which he was expected to carry and beat. There was no escaping the march this time, but his worst fears were realized, for the mob in the street set upon the Army, throwing stones at them. He was hit with a stone on the back of the head, which knocked him down and rendered him senseless. After a few minutes he recovered and standing up felt the blood trickling down his back and limbs until his shoes were filled.

He has been assaulted twice since, receiving severe wounds. Once he was struck on the nose with a stone, that member being broken. On another occasion he received some knife wounds in the back while kneeling and being engaged in prayer. But Joe says he has been doing much good work and has made as many converts as probably could be expected in this field since the barracks were opened here. If the results have not been accomplished here that have been secured in other cities it is because the conditions necessary for the successful campaign of a Salvation Army do not exist here. The street paraders have been allowed to go unopposed, but on the other hand they have attracted a crowd of enthusiasts. Its meetings have been regularly held, but they have not been attended by the remarkable results chronicled in other cities. The "devil" has been frequently assailed with torch and drum accessories, but no one has been disturbed unless, perhaps, the old gentleman himself. Yet in some of the older cities such meetings have been known to influence a whole ward. The fact is that in cities where the outcast element is not large the success of the Army has been indifferent, and that is the case here.

The spread of the movement, however, has been wonderful throughout the world. It was welcomed by the masses as something designed specially for their benefit. Notwithstanding the hardships that its members have experienced, and the fact that the Salvationist could hardly look for his reward here, there has never been a lack of eligible candidates. Urged on by religious enthusiasm, hundreds have flocked to enroll themselves under the Army banner, even when that step meant a living martyrdom. Too much stress has been laid upon the effect of the uniforms, the drum and band accompaniments in the results achieved. These, of course, had their share, but the principal source of the Army's strength has been the bond of sympathy which existed between it and the outcast masses.

The eleventh gathering of this great body of Christian workers will be held in New York city, July 7 to 10. At the request of the Minnesota state committee, "The Burlington" has arranged to run a special Christian Endeavor train through to New York, consisting of baggage cars, Pullman's finest vestibuled sleepers and the peerless Burlington route dining cars.

This train will leave Minneapolis at 10:35 a. m., St. Paul 11:10 a. m., Tuesday, July 5, stopping at Winona, La Crosse, Prairie du Chien, Dubuque and Savanna to receive delegates from those points, giving a whole day to enjoy the beautiful scenery along the banks of the Upper Mississippi. A special stop will be made at Hagar, Wis., for those desiring to join the excursion from Red Wing. Niagara Falls will be reached at 3 p. m., Wednesday, where a stop of seven hours will be made. The train will arrive in New York at 10:45 a. m. Thursday, the 7th. The entire expense from Minneapolis or St. Paul, including round trip ticket, double berth in sleeping car, meals en route, four days board at Hotel Marlborough and official badge will be $53. This does not include sleeping car and meals on return trip. A considerable saving may be made by taking a lunch basket—coffee and tea will be served from the dining cars to those desiring. These tickets will be good to return until July 17, but an extension of time to Aug. 15 may be obtained by depositing the ticket with the joint agent in New York on or before the 15th, until you are ready to return, when the ticket will be made good for passage from the date. The usual amount of baggage will be checked through. Applications for tickets by this special train should be made to J. E. Thwing, 805 Sykes block, Minneapolis, Minn., with the following exceptions: North Dakota, R. M. Caruthers, Grand Forks, or W. J. Lane, Fargo; Montana, G. C. Tilly, Helena; St. Paul, Wm. G. Breg, 205 Aurora avenue.

LAKESIDE LAND COMPANY,

507 FIRST NATIONAL BANK BUILDING.

LAKESIDE!

Are not only objects of great interest, but evidences of great capital. Yet there is hardly a fine street in any city of the United States that did not "start in a small way." Chicago property that was purchased thirty years ago at a dollar per front foot, sold the other day at $527 per foot. What a fortune for the original purchaser or his heirs? Yet the same kind of rise is daily going on in all parts of the States. Progress in this country is too rapid to allow of any depreciation in real estate values. The lone highway of one decade is the crowded thoroughfare of the next. The importance and worth of land steadily increases---in not one case in a hundred does it decrease. No bank in the world will pay you as much interest on your money as will real estate now-a-days. We have many Lots for sale which are situated in districts where the value is sure to increase ten-fold in the next twenty years.

Take the Short line and visit East Lester this beautiful weather. Here are the only parks about Duluth. The many attractions there must be seen to be fully appreciated.

We are Building on the Monthly Payment plan, and have Several Small Houses ready for immediate occupancy.

The Fourth of July will be a splendid opportunity to look this property over.

City water, sewers, good streets and sidewalks; fine schools and churches.

The Electric Cars will be running through to Lester River before snow flies. We offer more attractions at Lakeside than any other suburb, and we are building on the most favorable terms.

TALK OF MONKEYS.

Interesting Record of Experiments as to Speech of Monkeys and Other Animals.

"A Modern Miracle," Being a Careful Investigation of the Famed Gold Cure.

Stephen's "Dictionary of Biography"—New Edition of Bryce's "American Commonwealth."

Charles L. Webster & Co. will soon issue a work by R. L. Garner, entitled "The Speech of Monkeys." Mr. Garner's articles, published in the leading periodicals and journals touching upon this subject, have been widely read and favorably commented upon by scientific men both here and abroad. The field he enters is absolutely a new one, but the result of his efforts to solve the great problem of speech have so far exceeded his expectations, and he has received such encouraging comments from scientific and literary sources, that he has determined to pursue his researches in the heart of the tropics, the natural home of the great apes, and he will soon leave for an extended trip to Africa. This work embodies his researches up to the present time. It is divided into two parts, the first being a record of experiments with monkeys and other animals, and the second part, a treatise on the theory of speech. The work is written so as to bring the subject within reach of the casual reader without impairing its scientific value. A large part of it may be read by children and men of science with equal delight, for in his endeavor to solve a great scientific problem, Mr. Garner brings us closer to the creatures around us which we had supposed to be dumb, and causes us to understand and therefore love them better. Small octavo, 220 pages, with frontispiece, $1.

"A Modern Miracle" is the title of a work by a New York lawyer, Alfred R. Calhoun, which purports to be a careful investigation of "the Keeley gold cure" for drunkenness and the opium habit. Of course it is an advertisement for the Keeley cure, but in view of the great good that has been done by some marvelous cures at Dwight, which are within the knowledge of almost every one, anything that will cause the abject slaves of drink to undergo this treatment is deserving of a warm welcome. Mr. Calhoun tells the story of the cure in vigorous language. He shows that the relapsed cases are few in number; that the 60,000 persons out of whom the demons have been cast are living witnesses as against all detractors to the validity and potency of the cure. Incidentally he very ably and interestingly discusses the pathology of the alcoholic disease. He cites case after case of complete cure, even after thirty, forty and even fifty years of inebriety. Of course the latter is rare, for there is a limit when the system has been literally poisoned and wrecked by continuous potations beyond the chemical power of the double chloride to act. The book is interesting and instructive from first to last page. New York: The People's Publishing Company. Price 30 cents.

Macmillan & Co. announce the issue of a new and extensively revised edition of Mr. Bryce's "American Commonwealth." It is to be expected that this new edition will take notice of the many important changes which have taken place since the work was first issued. It is to be copyrighted in America.

Outing for July opens with an article entitled "A Plea for the House-Boat," by Charles Ledyard Norton, in which the author describes the purpose and construction of such boats, and the grand facilities offered by American waters for the enjoyment of life afloat during the heated term, after the fashion so popular on the English Thames. The cheapness and comfort of a house-boat are strong arguments in its favor, and doubtless the craft will soon become better known. Many fine illustrations accompany the article, and the entire number is excellent.

"In a Japanese Garden" is the title of a really delightful paper by Lafcadio Hearn, which appears in the Atlantic Monthly for July. Mr. Hearn gives a curious account of the methods of the Japanese landscape gardener of the old regime, and his picture of the garden in which sand and stones play perhaps a more important part than flowers and turf, will be new to most readers. The first paper in the magazine, by Eben Greenough Scott, is devoted to Gen. McClellan, and is an impartial account of the part which he played during the war, and a summing up of his personal characteristics, and the reasons for his success and his failures. There are a number of other bright articles of much interest. A paper, which is of particular value on account of the writer's intimate knowledge of his subject is Theodore Roosevelt's "Political Assessments in the Coming Campaign." The usual reviews of new books follow. We reserve for particular mention what will probably be found the most striking thing in the number, and one which will be very widely spoken of, namely, Thos. Bailey Aldrich's poem, "Unguarded Gates," an eloquent warning against the opening of our land to the "wild money throng" of men alien to the spirit of our institutions. Houghton, Mifflin & Co., Boston.

More than half of Stephen's "Dictionary of Biography" has now been published by Macmillan & Co. Regularly every quarter a volume of this mammoth work has been issued, thirty out of a total of fifty volumes having appeared up to the present, and the enterprise is so well in hand that there will be no break in the publication of the remaining parts. It will give a faint idea of the scope of the undertaking when we state that the work when completed will contain at least 30,000 articles by writers of acknowledged eminence in their several departments. The memoirs are the result of personal research, and much information has been obtained from sources that have not been utilized. Absolutely nothing of importance has been omitted by the editors, who have well carried out their aim to supply full, accurate and concise biographies, excluding, of course, those of persons still living.

The Forum has shown its enterprise by entering the presidential campaign at the very start. In the June number Senator Hoar and ex-Secretary Bayard discussed the issues of the contest, and the July number, which was issued the day after the Chicago convention adjourned, contains two articles on the presidential candidates—"Harrison," by Senator Hawley; and "Cleveland," by Charles Francis Adams. In these two numbers of the Forum, therefore, is the campaign material—in a nutshell—that the whole summer's discussion will bring forth, compactly put by a leading man in each party. These articles will be followed by others on every important phase of the contest. But by reason of its political enterprise the Forum suffers no falling off in the usual variety of its discussion of other subjects. The number combines timeliness with variety, and takes up as wide a range of subjects as can be put in a single number of any review.

The art of giving lawn parties, and a score of new ideas for all kinds of outdoor fetes, make the subject of an excellent paper by Mrs. A. G. Lewis in the July Ladies' Home Journal, the same magazine presenting another striking feature in Mrs. Potter Palmer's exhaustive paper on "Women and the World's Fair." Mrs. Palmer, as president of the board of lady managers of the World's Columbian commission, speaks with authority on a subject with which she is entirely familiar. An article which will likewise elicit interest is "A Day in an Adirondack Camp," by Jessamy Harte, the eldest daughter of Bret Harte. Miss Harte makes her literary debut in this number of the Journal. Miss Fannie M. Johnson contributes a sketch, with portrait, of Mrs. Edward Bellamy, the wife of the celebrated nationalist, and Alice Graham McColin gives the first authentic sketch ever published of Anna Wilcox Williams, the young lady who posed as model in 1878 for the head of the Goddess of Liberty, which now adorns the face of our silver dollars. All the editors fill their departments with all that is interesting and attractive, and altogether there seems no end to the good things in this issue of this popular magazine. The Ladies' Home Journal is published by The Curtis Publishing Company, of Philadelphia, for 10 cents per number, and $1 per year.

Among the contributors to the July Arena will be Mrs. M. French-Sheldon, who will appear in an illustrated article on scenes and experiences in the wilds of Africa. Mildred Aldrich, who contributes a richly illustrated paper on Julia Marlowe. J. F. Muirhead, who bids fair to distance Max O'Rell as a brilliant essayist. Mr. Muirhead writes humorously on a Briton's impression of America, but there is no bitterness in his raillery. Edwin Reed opens what promises to be the most scholarly and complete discussion of the Bacon-Shakespeare controversy ever written. Hon. Wm. E. Springer, the leader of the Democratic house, Hon. J. C. Burrows, of Michigan, and Hon. Thomas E. Watson discuss the pending presidential campaign. This issue will be one of the most brilliant numbers ever published.

Starting off to a summer resort, or for a week's fishing, or upon a tramp with a gun, or to visit your relations in the country, there is one companion that you will not regret taking with you—a copy of the July Cosmopolitan. It contains a wide range of subjects for summer reading—twenty-two articles, mostly illustrated. Stop at your newsdealer's and carry away a copy of this splendidly illustrated monthly.

Attention, Mothers and Fathers! Why not have your Shoes and Kid Gloves as well as those of your Children looking like new continually? Why have them looking worn and rough when you can avoid it? To do this you have only to oil them once a month with Tanner's Oil. Tanner's Oil does not injure but benefits the leather. It is now prepared by us for families. It prevents leather getting hard and from cracking, keeps it looking fresh and smooth, makes it soft and pliable and absolutely water-proof. Best of all—Shoes and Gloves kept thusly in good condition—will outwear three pair worn ordinarily. One box should last a family of three one year. On ladies' and children's wear you should use it instead of Blacking. Gentlemen can shine their shoes after using it equally as well as before. All we desire is to have you give it a trial. Shoe Dealers, Glovers, and those Dry Goods merchants who sell Kid Gloves should have it on hand to furnish up their stock that has become shoddy. It will give it an absolutely new appearance. Your youngest apprentice can apply it. Price by mail 40 cents. Special price to Dealers.

EDITOR DAILY CALL, West Superior:—Some time ago I received a letter from my brother-in-law, Mr. Kennedy, of Saginaw, Mich., stating that he saw by the Superior papers that Dr. Speer was in this city. Knowing that Dr. Speer had cured my brother about two years ago of rheumatism, I called on Dr. Speer. He, without asking a question, described in detail my condition, in fact, better than I knew myself.

He located every pain, and told me what to do in order to get well. Everything he has done has acted as he said it would. I have only been under treatment a few weeks and I feel like a new man today. The other doctors I consulted would not or could not do me any good; neither were they able to tell me what my trouble was. The pains, mental depression, weakness and pain in the back and bad taste in the mouth, with all the other symptoms, have vanished. I look upon Dr. Speer as a marvel in the treatment of all diseases. Will be pleased to give any further information to anyone calling upon me.

Description of the New Odd Fellows Hall to be Built in Cambridge, Mass.

Parade of the Pennsylvania Commandery, Knights Templar.

North Cambridge is soon to have a building which will be in full accord with the thriving and busy spirit of this beautiful section of the university city. The Odd Fellows of North Cambridge, under the title of the Mount Sinai Building association, have had the plans drawn in full, and the accompanying cut shows how the building will look when completed. It will be the home of Mount Sinai lodge, No. 189, I. O. O. F., and also a public building. It

NEW ODD FELLOWS' HALL, CAMBRIDGE. It is situated on the corner of North Avenue and Walden street, and will be of brick with brownstone trimmings, and four stories high. The building will be heated by steam, lighted by electricity and gas, and will have a perfect system of ventilation. The first floor will be taken up by stores, a wide marble staircase giving access to the floors above. The second floor will be used as a public hall, with a seating capacity of more than 600. The stage will be one of the finest equipped for theatricals in Cambridge. The third floor will be used for offices and a small lodgeroom. The top floor will be devoted exclusively to Odd Fellows use. It will contain a commodious lodgeroom, a parlor, a billiard room, a banquet hall, kitchen, etc., and new and unique designs have been adopted for its decoration. This will be the only large and well equipped hall in North Cambridge, and will supply a long felt want.

The Odd Fellows' hall at Worcester, Mass., will be publicly dedicated with appropriate and impressive ceremonies on Wednesday, June 22. It will be a great day for the order in our sister jurisdiction.

Ohio has 704 lodges with 58,651 members. The grand lodge session, just closed, eclipsed all its predecessors.

The familiar faces of Past Grand Masters Slack, Hinko, Haney and Robbins were sadly missed at the annual session.

A. O. U. W.

Enormous Growth of the Order—Over $5,000,000 Distributed Annually. The society was organized Oct. 27, 1858, at Meadville, Pa., and at the present time is distributing over $5,000,000 per annum to the widows and orphans of its deceased members, to say nothing of the large amount expended for other benevolent purposes. It is the oldest and strongest association of its kind in the world, having over 250,000 members, distributed through the United States and Canada.

"We made the largest gains of any jurisdiction, per capita to the population, last year," so says Bro. Taisey, of Minnesota.

The Michigan grand lodge Degree of Honor was organized in March, with twenty lodges and over 1,000 members, and officers were elected and installed. A beneficiary certificate of $1,000 each was adopted. Per capita tax was fixed at forty cents, salary of grand recorder at $400 and fees of grand medical examiner at twenty-five cents.

Massachusetts still leads in increase. The record for March shows the following net increase: In Massachusetts, 740; Nebraska, 648; Kansas, 512; Michigan, 370; Minnesota, 340; Wisconsin, 304, and Maryland, Delaware, Virginia, 215.

There are over 160 lodges and over 20,000 members in the Michigan jurisdiction.

In twenty-three years there have been just 351 assessments, making $351; add to that the minimum dues of 7 cents a week, and you have $84.41, making a total of $453.41 for an insurance of $2,000 for twenty-three years, or $15.36 to be insured for $2,000 for one year. That is, the average cost for the twenty-three years of existence of the A. O. U. W. in Pennsylvania has been only $1.57 per month for assessments, dues and relief calls.

The death rate in Michigan has been heavy this year, and the grand lodge has each month narrowly escaped the necessity for calling these assessments.

In New York the payments for the year amounted to $840,000.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS.

Great Interest in the Uniform Rank Progress of the Order.

The great interest taken throughout Missouri in regard to the uniform rank has not failed to reach the "old historic" city, and Lexington lodge, No. 157, has come to the front with 35 of its youngest and most enthusiastic members in forming a division.

Never in the history of the order has there been such an interest in the uniform rank. New divisions and brigades are being organized wherever the Pythian colors float. And it is safe to say that this branch of the order will number 50,000 before another year closes.

city at Benton Harbor a $5,000 site for a Knights of Pythias temple to cost $10,000. Myrtle lodge, of Denison, Tex., has some $17,000 in its treasury. The report of this lodge on Dec. 31, 1890, showed a cash balance of $284, with $232.35 invested. Missouri gained over 1,800 members in one year.

The order in Ohio has grown to such an extent that Ohio is entitled to its fourth supreme representative to attend the supreme lodge at Kansas City in August.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR.

All the pomp and lavish display that is conceived of a Knights Templar public demonstration, one of the largest and most potential secret orders in the world, and whose history reaches into tradition, was granted to the eye of all Philadelphia in the recent parade and review of the Pennsylvania commandery. With the distinction of being the largest of any commandery on the globe, the Pennsylvania order added to this the fact that the pageants was the most brilliantly successful in its history. They invited, to make the event more beautiful in effect, the participation of the best equipped commanderies of three neighboring states—Maryland, Delaware and New Jersey. For one mile the line of the Templars stretched. For forty-five minutes all of the 50,000 spectators on Broad street had their eyes on the gay dress and the Templars, resplendent with plumed chapeaux, jeweled medals, beautifully paraded chargers and the rich standards displaying the Passion cross. The morning sunlight made the gold and silver swords and the knightly trappings bristle and gleam. Steadily as the grand officers, bejeweled and elegantly equipped, led on the host, there was an equally steady wave of applause proceeding down the curbs.

Then followed the 3,500 knights, with a band preceding each commandery. The grand officers elected were installed by R. E. Grand Commander Sir Joseph S. Wright as follows: Sir James H. Coddington, R. E. G. C.; Sir Charles C. Baer, V. E. G. C.; Sir Edward B. Spencer, E. G. C. G.; Rev. Sir Albert W. Ryan, E. G. prelate; Sir Samuel H. Yoke, E. G. S. W. The grand treasurer, Sir M. Richards Muckle, and grand recorder, Sir Charles E. Meyer, being rejected, were not installed.

Bro. Clifford P. MacCalla, past grand master of Pennsylvania, departed this life in Egypt, Sunday, April 24.

The Great Priory of Ireland meets on the first Friday of March, June, October and December.

Bro. Elias Ashmole, the celebrated philosopher, who founded the masonic order, died in London, England, was initiated in 1646, in a lodge at Warrington.

The moment Freemasonry becomes popular its existence is jeopardized. The beauty of Masonry is its secrecy. The heart conceives first in secret the desire for Masonic light.

There are 540 active lodges on the Scottish roll.

A lodge "closes" or "passes from labor to refreshments," but never "adjourns."

KNIGHTS OF HONOR.

They Have Been in Existence Nineteen Years and Paid Out $38,000,000.

The Knights of Honor next month will have been in existence nineteen years, during which time they have paid out to widows and orphans upward of $38,000,000. If the order should die today the world would have been better for its existence and its memory would always be cherished.

The death rate per 1,000 members was 15.7, an increase of 1 per cent over that of last year.

The average duration of membership was 9 years, 4 months and 12 days, an increase of 7 months in comparison with the record for 1890.

The largest amount paid into the widows and orphans' benevolent fund by any of the deceased was $18,500. This brother joined the order Feb. 28, 1871, at the age of fifty-four years, paying $4 each assessment, and died Dec. 13, 1891, having paid $1,204.

The smallest amount paid was an initiation assessment of $1 by No. 15,486, a half rate member who was accidentally drowned. Three others, Nos. 17,985, 17,475 and 18,066, paid $3 each, and died from epidemic influenza or its complications.

During the year 1891 thirty assessments were called to the supreme lodge, and the sum collected on account of these assessments was $4,900,946.19.

Since July, 1892, no person over fifty years of age has been admitted to the order.

Nearly 20 per cent. of the deaths in 1891 were from acute diseases of the lungs, and if phthisis be included we find that nearly 38 per cent. of the deaths were from diseases of the respiratory system.

RED MEN.

Tribes Should Meet Every Seven Days. Suggestions for the Great Council.

An examination of the statistics of the tribes in Massachusetts seems to indicate that the most prosperous tribes are those which kindle their council fires every seven days. Those meeting but twice in each month have a smaller attendance and apparently just about hold their own. Of course this is not true of all, but it seems to be applicable to a large majority.

It has been suggested that the great council of the United States would possibly make a law providing for the appointment of two deputy great inchoads whose duties will be to visit the tribes throughout the United States and instruct them in the work of conferring the degrees.

Great Chief of Records J. H. E. Wiegant of Kansas, is colonel and A. G. of the uniform rank of the Knights of Pythias of that state and Bro. A. P. Riddle is in spectator general.

The reports from the various tribes show commendable activity during the last three months, and there is every reason to expect the usual increase the present Great Sun.

LEGAL NOTICES.

City of Lakeside.

Notice is hereby given, that whereas a contract has been let for the grading and otherwise improving of Forbes avenue from Summit street to Lake Superior, and the expense of such improvement to be assessed to each lot or tract of land to be benefited by such improvement having been determined by the city council of said city.

Now, therefore, said city council of Lakeside will at their council chamber in said city at eight o'clock p. m., on Tuesday, the 5th day of July, 1892, meet to review and confirm such assessment, at which time and place all persons interested may appear and make objections to the same. It is proposed to issue bonds chargeable to the real estate benefited by such improvement, to pay such assessments and such bonds will be issued covering all such assessments except in cases where the owners of the property shall pay the same within thirty (30) days after the date of such assessment, the amount thereof assessed against their property.

The following is a list of the supposed owners' names, a description of the property liable to such assessment, and the amounts assessed against the same, to-wit:

Facts of Interest Regarding the Secret Societies That are Represented in Duluth.

Description of the New Odd Fellows Hall to be Built in Cambridge, Mass.

North Cambridge is soon to have a building which will be in full accord with the thriving and busy spirit of this beautiful section of the university city. The Odd Fellows of North Cambridge, under the title of the Mount Sinai Building association, have had the plans drawn in full, and the accompanying cut shows how the building will look when completed. It will be the home of Mount Sinai lodge, No. 169, I. O. F., and also a public building.

NEW ODD FELLOWS' HALL, CAMBRIDGE. Is situated on the corner of North avenue and Walden street, and will be of brick with brownstone trimmings, and four stories high. The building will be heated by steam, lighted by electricity and gas, and will have a perfect system of ventilation. The first floor will be taken up by stores, a wide marble staircase giving access to the floors above. The second floor will be used as a public hall, with a seating capacity of more than 600. The stage will be one of the finest equipped for theatricals in Cambridge. The third floor will be used for offices and a small lodgeroom. The top floor will be devoted exclusively to Odd Fellow uses. It will contain a commodious lodgeroom, a parlormall room, a banquet hall, kitchen, etc., and new and unique designs have been adopted for its decoration. This will be the only large and well equipped hall in North Cambridge, and will supply a long felt want.

The Odd Fellows' home at Worcester, Mass., will be publicly dedicated with appropriate and impressive ceremonies on Wednesday, June 22. It will be a great day for the order in our sister jurisdiction.

Ohio has 704 lodges with 53,551 members. The grand lodge session, just closed, eclipsed all its predecessors.

The familiar faces of Past Grand Masters Slack, Hink, Haney and Robbins were sadly missed at the annual session.

A. O. U. W.

Enormous Growth of the Order—Over $5,000,000 Distributed Annually.

The society was organized Oct. 27, 1808, at Medford, Pa., and at the present time is distributing over $5,000,000 per annum to the widows and orphans of its deceased members, to say nothing of the large amount expended for other benevolent purposes. It is the oldest and strongest association of its kind in the world, having over 280,000 members, distributed through the United States and Canada.

"We made the largest gains of any jurisdiction per capita to the population, last year," So says Bro. Taisey, of Minnesota.

The Michigan grand lodge Degree of Honor was organized in March, with twenty lodges and over 1,000 members, and officers were elected and installed. A beneficiary certificate of $1,000 each was adopted. Per capita tax was fixed at forty cents, salary of grand recorder at $400 and fees of grand medical examiner at twenty-five cents.

Massachusetts still leads in increase. The record for March shows the following net increase: In Massachusetts, 749; Nebraska, 648; Kansas, 512; Michigan, 370; Minnesota, 340; Wisconsin, 304, and Maryland, Delaware and Virginia, 215.

There are over 160 lodges and over 30,000 members in the Michigan jurisdiction.

In the twenty-three years there have been just 251 assessments, making $331; and that the minimum dues of 7 cents a week and you have $84.41, making a total of $83.41 for an insurance of $2,000 for twenty-three years, or $13.93 to be insured for $2,000 for one year. That is, the average cost for the twenty-three years of existence of the A. O. U. W. in Pennsylvania has been only $1.75, per month for assessments, dues and relief calls.

The death rate in Michigan has been heavy this year, and the grand lodge has each month narrowly escaped the necessity for calling three assessments.

In New York the payments for the year amounted to $840,000.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS.

Great Interest in the Uniform Rank Progress of the Order.

The great interest taken throughout Missouri in regard to the uniform rank has not failed to reach the "old historic" city, and Lexington lodge, No. 157, has come to the front with 33 of its youngest and most enthusiastic members in forming a division.

Never in the history of the order has there been such an interest taken in the uniform rank. New divisions and brigades are being organized wherever the Pythian colors float. And it is safe to say that this branch of the order will number 50,000 before another year closes.

A petition has been received at the office of grand keeper of records and seal from the citizens of Kansas City asking for the establishment of a lodge of the order at that place. The petition contains ninety-three names.

The order up to December, 1891, numbered 350,000 members, which is an increase of 49,624. The same ratio of increase up to the next session of the supreme lodge will make a grand total of 407,000, or in ten years 1,000,000 members.

Efforts are being made to raise funds to donate the Knights of Pythias Lodge so city at Benton Harbor a $3,000 site for a Knights of Pythias temple to cost $10,000.

Myrtle lodge, of Denison, Tex., has some $17,000 in its treasury. The report of this lodge on Dec. 31, 1890, shows a cash balance of $34, with $322.35 invested.

Missouri gained over 1,800 members in one year.

The order in Ohio has grown to such an extent that Ohio is entitled to its fourth supreme representative to attend the supreme lodge at Kansas City in August.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR.

All the pomp and lavish display that is conceived of a Knights Templar public demonstration, one of the largest and most potential secret orders in the world, and whose history reaches into tradition, was granted to the eye of all Philadelphia in the recent parade and review of the Pennsylvania commandery. With the distinction of being the largest of any commandery on the globe, the Pennsylvania order was the most brilliantly successful in its history. They invited, to make the event more beautiful in effect, the participation of the best equipped commanderies of three neighboring states—Maryland, Delaware and New Jersey. For one mile the line of the Templars stretched. For forty-five minutes all of the 50,000 spectators on Broad street had their eyes on the gay dress of the Templars, resplendent with plumed caparisons, jeweled medals, beautifully caparisoned chargers and the rich standards displaying the Passion cross. The morning sunlight made the gold and silver swords and the knightly trappings bristle and gleam. Steadily as the grand officers, bejeweled and elegantly equipped, led on the host, there was an equally steady wave of applause proceeding down the curbs.

Then followed the 3,500 knights, with a band preceding each commandery. The grand officers, elected were installed by R. E. Grand Commander Sir Joseph S. Wright as follows: Sir James H. Coddling, R. E. G. C.; Sir Charles C. Baer, V. E. D. G. C.; Sir Edward B. Spencer, E. G. C. G.; Sir Albert W. Ryan, E. G. C. G.; Sir Samuel H. Yohe, E. G. S. W. The grand treasurer, Sir M. Richards Muckle, and Grand Recorder Sir Charles B. Meyer, being re-elected, were not installed.

Bro. Clifford P. MacCalla, past grand master of Pennsylvania, departed this life in Egypt, Sunday, April 24.

The Great Priory of Ireland meets on the first Friday of March, June, October and December.

Bro. Elias Ashmole, the celebrated philosopher, who founded the museum at Oxford, England, was initiated in 1846, in a lodge at Warrington.

The moment Freemasonry becomes popular its existence is jeopardized. The beauty of Masonry is its secrecy. The heart conceives first in secret the desire for Masonic light.

There are 340 active lodges on the Scottish roll.

A lodge "closes" or "passes from labor to refreshments," but never "adjourns."

KNIGHTS OF HONOR.

They Have Been in Existence Nineteen Years and Paid Out $238,000,000.

The Knights of Honor next month will have been in existence nineteen years, during which time they have paid out to widows and orphans upward of $238,000,000. If the order should die today the world would have been better for its existence, and its memory would always be cherished.

The death rate per 1,000 members was 15.7, an increase of 1 per cent. over that of last year.

The average duration of membership was 9 years, 4 months and 12 days, an increase of 7 months in comparison with the record for 1890.

The largest amount paid into the widows and orphans' benevolent fund by any of the deceased was $20,000. This brother joined the order Feb. 23, 1877, at the age of fifty-four years, paying $1 each assessment, and died Dec. 13, 1891, having paid $1,294.

The smallest amount paid was an initial assessment of $1 by No. 18,436, a male member who was accidentally drowned. Three others, Nos. 17,388, 17,472 and 18,066, paid $3 each, and died from epidemic influenza or its complications.

During the year 1891 thirty assessments were called to the supreme lodge, and the sum collected on account of these assessments was $4,300,046.10.

Since July, 1890, no person over fifty years of age has been admitted to the order.

Nearly 20 per cent. of the deaths in 1891 were from acute diseases of the lungs, and if phthisis be included we find that nearly 33 per cent. of the deaths were from diseases of the respiratory system.

RED MEN.

Tithes Should Meet Every Seven Years.

Suggestions for the Great Council.

An examination of the statistics of the tribes in Massachusetts seems to indicate that the most prosperous tribes are those which kindle their council fires every seven years. Those meeting but twice in each moon have a smaller attendance and apparently just about hold their own. Of course this is not true of all, but it seems to be applicable to a large majority.

It has been suggested that the great council of the United States would possibly make a law providing for the appointment of two deputy great inchoques whose duties will be to visit the tribes throughout the United States and instruct them in the work of conferring the degrees.

Great Chief of Records J. H. B. Wiegand of Kansas, is colonel and A. G. of the uniform rank of the Knights of Pythias of that state and Bro. A. P. Riddle is inspector general.

The reports from the various tribes show commendable activity during the last three moons, and there is every reason to expect the usual increase the present Great sun.

The great chiefs of New Jersey have decided not to grant a dispensation for a new tribe at Paterson.

P. G. S. Owen Scott, of Illinois, will be candidate for great junior saganore of the great council of the United States.

Order of Franklin.

The lodges in New York state are making good progress. Supreme council reports good progress for central New York and Chaplain Noble for New York city.

The order has called but twenty-three assessments in two years and has returned to its members in benefits $20,000 during that time, besides furnishing protection to the families of 2,300 members.

Miss Addie M. Stevens is the prescription clerk in one of the leading drug stores of Providence.

LEGAL NOTICES.

City of Lakeside.

Notice is hereby given that whereas a contract has been let for the grading and otherwise improving of Forbes avenue from Summit street to Lake Superior, and the expense of such improvement to be assessed to each lot or tract of land to be benefited by such improvement having been determined by the city council of said city.

Now, therefore, said city council of Lakeside will, at their council chamber in said city at eight o'clock p. m., on Tuesday, the 5th day of July, 1892, meet to review and confirm such assessment, at which time and place all persons interested may appear and make objections to the same. It is proposed to issue bonds chargeable to the real estate benefited by such improvement to pay such assessments and such bonds will be issued covering all such assessments except in cases where the owners of the property liable to the city treasurer within thirty (30) days after the confirmation of such assessment, the amount thereof assessed against their property.

The following is a list of the assessed owners' names, a description of the property liable to such assessment, and the amounts assessed against the same, to-wit:

IT IS A FALLACY.

The Erroneous Belief That Columbus Discovered America is Given a Hard Blow.

Mrs. Frank Leslie Disputes the Claims of the Genoese Explorer in Able Style.

Beware of the Person Who Tells You to "Take Care of Yourself."

ONE of the most astonishing facts in this very astonishing world is the persistence shown by people of every nation and every tongue in perpetuating certain platitudes, truisms and stupidities. Certain foolish proverbs are to be found in nearly every language, and generation after generation repeats them with an owl-like solemnity suitable to the first enunciation of a profound and newly discovered truth.

For instance, the proverb that "a rolling stone gathers no moss" implies that no man should try to improve his condition by seeking new fields of effort. It is just as true today as it ever was, but if in 1492 some millions of men hearing of gold in California had announced to each other, "A rolling stone gathers no moss," and settled comfortably down in the moss of New England farms, or in Pennsylvania and New Jersey swamps, the world would not have been so wealthy today as it has become by the rolling of those enterprising stones. So with Kimberly and its diamond fields, so with Australia, and so with all explorers and adventurers by land or sea. They are talking largely now of celebrating the discovery of America by Columbus, and I would suggest that over the statue, sure to be elaborately displayed, should be a scroll with the motto, "A rolling stone gathers no moss."

But speaking of Columbus reminds me of another popular platitude grown into not a truism, but a fallacy, if I may coin a word, and that is our habit of sentimentalizing over the discovery of America by Columbus, when in point of fact it has been clearly and repeatedly proven that the Norsemen, notably Red Eric and his son Leif, not only discovered America 400 years before Columbus was born, but made a permanent settlement in Greenland, explored the coast line as far south as Long Island, and named it from its abounding growth of wild grapes, Vineland.

They furthermore wrote of their discoveries and they were placed on record in the famous Heimskringla, and the still seen in the library at Copenhagen, and which doubtless were studied by Christopher Columbus when he visited Iceland, some 400 years after the record of the voyages of Eric and Leif. That he did this visit Iceland is proved by a letter written by him to his son Fernando, mentioning in so many words that in February, 1477, his father visited the island and noted the great rise and fall of the tides. Not only is this letter published in various historical collections, but the younger Columbus has embodied it in the biography of his father, called "Vita dell' ammiraglio Cristoforo Colombo." We all have been taught that Columbus was an industrious student of the travels written by explorers of his own and previous times, and his son especially mentions this "searching mind sought out the writings of Adam of Bremen."

Now Adam of Bremen's principal work treats largely of the Norse discoveries in the New World, and especially of the tract called Vineland, known to us as New England; and it is almost certain that Christopher Columbus, having read this account and intending to prosecute the search for riches in the New World, went to Iceland to study the records of former navigators and try to make more out of the expedition than they had done. Naturally he took all the glory that he could, and as people have done ever since the world began, he "built upon another man's foundation," without taking any special pains to give him the credit of it. The uncertainty of the voyage was naturally very great, and we can well imagine that with only the vague and general directions left behind by the Ericas as guides the great navigator's anxiety was intense and his landfall very uncertain.

Nobody objects to Christopher's receiving all the glory and all the posthumous honors which the Chicago exposition chooses to give him, but it is time that the world left off asserting that he was the discoverer of America, especially as he never set foot on the continent, while Leif, that foot of Eric, "came to stay," and was buried upon the coast of Massachusetts, with a cross at his head and another at his feet.

But although the facts so briefly referred to are patent to all men who choose to step into a library and look them up for themselves, the world will go calmly on for several hundred years more, speaking of Columbus as the discoverer of America merely because it has done so for the 400 last years.

I think, however, the most irritating of these parrotisms is the advice so constantly offered to persons conspicuous for the importance and imperativeness of their business or other obligations, to "Take care of yourself!" and "Now, don't get tired!" Everybody says it just because everybody has from time immemorial, but did any one ever stop and analyze the meaning of the sensible sounding nonsense?

Take care of yourself. Well, the doctors tell us that to "take good care of yourself" a person must go to bed at a regular hour, sleep eight hours or so, rise, bathe and breakfast all after a system of hygiene which to many persons would be very disagreeable and burdensome. You must through the day keep yourself in an even temperature, avoiding extremes of heat and cold, currents of air or sudden changes. You must not engage too much in sedentary pursuits, and you must not stand up too much. You must not devote yourself to any work that keeps the body bent over a bench or desk, and you must not inhale dust or metal filings or chemical exhalations or the miasma of malarial districts, or allow set bowls and other plumbing in any room you inhabit.

You must be sure to take exercise or you are doomed to all sorts of diseases and disasters, and you mustn't take too much exercise or you become the victim of another set of horrors quite as formidable; you must not use your brain too much for the "gray matter" is diminished by every thought which registers itself upon that mysterious tablet. If you economically refrain from all thought you probably come to bitter grief, financial or otherwise, of which some wiseacre says, "What a pity he or she hadn't thought a little more about it." You mustn't get angry, for to let your angry passions rise is to run the risk of apoplexy, heart disease or lesion of the arteries; you mustn't overeat, you mustn't eat in a hurry, you mustn't go too long fasting. You must, in short, devote pretty nearly your whole time, attention and intellect to keeping the human machine in the best condition—and for what? Why, that it may remain alive to be taken care of some more.

Is life worth the living if to "take care of yourself" is at once the means and the end of living?

My own advice to persons of average capacity, health and position would be just the reverse of this stupid formality of "take care of yourself." It would be, "Do something! Spend yourself and get something for it! Make your mark and achieve success or, if need be, die in the attempt. But for heaven's sake don't spend life in taking care of yourself."

Kindred to this axiom is one which, with the very kindest intentions, proffered to me nearly every day of my life, and by friends so really anxious for my welfare that I seldom express the sentiments they never fail to arouse, and that is, "Now don't get tired, whatever you do!"

Sometimes I do allow myself a little fling in this direction, and one day as a friend left my office with these words I jumped up and, taking her by the arm, led her to a steam press hard at work turning off sheet after sheet of a popular monthly, the whole process timed so that the magazine should be ready to appear upon the day promised to the news vendors.

"See that poor machine," said I. "How wearing, and how injurious to its existence that constant motion must be! Don't you think I ought to tell the pressman to shut off the power and let the poor thing rest awhile?"

"Nonsense, dear," replied my friend, "it's a machine; it can't feel worth anything." "No," replied I, "but it can wear out, and it does. This constant action destroys any fiber subjected to it, whether of flesh or of iron. That press is slowly but surely wearing out in doing its duty, and so is this font in my head which supplies 'copy' for the press. Both press and brain get tired, of course, and are wearing out and in fact sacrificing their own existence to the work demanded of them. But suppose they cease doing so?"

"Suppose I say to the press, 'There, dear, don't get tired! Stop and rest awhile and conserve your strength.' How would the magazine get printed?"

"Suppose I say to my own brain: 'Rest a while! Put away all these busy thoughts and cares; lie idle or go to sleep, or amuse yourself in some light and airy fashion.' Where would the material be upon which the press should work? Where would my employees be? Where all the business obligations and complications upon which the smooth working of the social and financial machine of my life depends?"

"The press has got to get tired and wear out and be replaced by another, and so have I, so has every man and woman in this world who has anything to do, and does it faithfully. A person who never gets tired is a person who does not work up to his or her capacity, and no really energetic, ambitious and clear-sighted worker is satisfied to do less."

I don't know that I said all of this in words to my bewilled, but I thought it all, and then there resolved to put it on paper, secure of the approval of all my fellow laborers, whether in literature, business or handicraft. The persons who, when they are told, "Now don't get tired," respond, "No, I won't," and keep that promise are the persons who make no mark and fill no place in the world. And those who achieve a success and help hundreds of others to live by finding them employment must often and often be tired; tired in body and brain; tired of work, tired of themselves, tired of existence; and yet with no more intention of ceasing to tire themselves than the earth has of ceasing to turn over every day and in one weary year after another make its circuit around the sun.

In some of these newisms and fanciful ideas about the sentience of matter and the Buddhist ideas of all life reverting to one central life and entering into the karma of infinite and perfect rest, I wonder if no theorizer has considered how very tired nature must be. She never ceases to work, while men are asleep and half the surface of the globe is resting from the exhilaration of the sun's direct influence, poor, dear mother nature is going on, waking up these specimens of vegetable and animal life which flourish best in darkness, guiding the fall of dew, snuffing the stars and turning up the wick of the moon, in fact certainly adjusting "the night side of nature" just as, after sunrise, she will keep the day side in order. She must be awfully tired, poor, dear old nature, and yet if she should "take care of herself" and have a few days' rest, as all other workers are so constantly implored to do, I wonder what would become of this little planet and of us atoms who creep about on its surface.

There is from time to time a great deal of talk about the dignity of labor, and I grieve to say that a great deal of this talk is the veriest twaddle; but also a great deal is very solemn truth, and there is a real, a true, a great dignity in labor well performed and bravely sustained; but even more than with dignity, I am impressed with the inevitableness, the inescapableness of labor of some kind in every life at all worth the living. I look around among my acquaintances and associates and I find no life that lives by mortal breath that does not sustain that life by constant labor of one kind or another.

Even breathing, the physiologists tell us, is a positive and exhaustive physical labor which, if imposed suddenly upon the adult instead of growing up with him, would send positively terrific. Walking, and especially climbing ascents or stairs or mountains, as many people do for pleasure, is decidedly labor, inasmuch as every time you raise one foot you raise from 100 to 200 pounds, and go through a careful and laborious process of readjusting your center of gravity and establishing a fresh equilibrium for the mass of matter you carry about by way of body and clothes.

It is not worth while to pursue the idea, for I think you will find that it pursues you if you once give it lodging in your brain; but in a thousand ways and in every moment of your life you have to do some kind of work, you have to get tired whether you mean to or not, whether you consume your life in the exhaustive pursuit of pleasure or whether you rank yourself proudly among those who work voluntarily and with intention in the interests of humanity. And so I reach the point of my diatribe, the moral of my fable, the answer to my conundrum. Don't say to yourself, or to anybody else, "Take care of yourself; that you don't get tired," but say: "Oh course I must be tired, and of course you must be tired, but don't let us get tired for nothing. Let us have something to show for it and give the world cause to congratulate itself that we lived and tired ourselves in its service."

MRS. FRANK LESLIE.

Paris Fashions.

The lady who can present herself for the theatre can present herself for the theatre novel, even if a little bit of daring is at once immortalized, as "all the world" sets the seal of approval upon it; but it is not often that any new idea is so really pretty and striking as the one I here portray, and which was designed by the pretty Baronne de Mahrenheim, wife of the Russian ambassador.

It is very appropriately made of the new and popular Russian velvet in light slightly lifted at the sides under rosettes of black velvet with long ends. There is a redingote back, the ends being trimmed with several rows of gold soutache. The same ornaments the sleeves and the tiny plaited sleevelet.

A large pink surah panel with point d'esprit flounce, and gray straw turban with colored ribbons complete this bon bow and green plumes complete this costume. Leaving aside the rather ungraceful plaited jacket, the rest of the costume is perfect in design and taste.

Rosettes made of ribbon gathered to represent hollyhocks or choux or butterfly, all with long ends, are much worn on all dresses, some gowns having as many as fifty yards in all on them in different loops, ends and rosettes.

The organdies and sheer grenadines are more seen just now than any other expensive goods. Fine white and delicate colored muslins are very fashionable, in pale colors, such as blue, pink, gray, maize, mauve, lilac and Nile green. The color is scarcely more than suggested, being of very faint tint.

On the plain ground there is often a small flower, scarcely visible, the color being so very delicate. When these filmy goods are smothered in chiffon garniture and have yards upon yards of fluttering ribbons they are irresistible.

White, trimmed with fine laces and white moire ribbons, is more worn this season in Paris than for many years. Handkerchiefs are made of the finest batiste, bordered with 1/2-inch lace worn very full on the edge of the rather deep collars, and they look as if frosted and are exceedingly pretty and correspondingly dear.

The variety of printed muslins, satens, fine ginghams, crepons and other summer dress goods has never been so truly artistic as now, and such goods have never been so well appreciated. The satens are made up as handsomely as if they were of the finest silk. They are expected to keep clean at least the season through without washing, and so much work is put into them that it would be impossible to wash them, and so by next season some poorer girl will get them and be glad to make them over.

A Fault Finder.

"You were always a fault finder," growled the wife. "Yes, dear," responded the husband meekly; "I found you."—Detroit Free Press.

KYLE OR GRESHAM.

Report that a Majority of Delegates Favor Senator Kyle's Nomination at Omaha.

A Final Answer, However, Still Being Awaited by Many From Judge Gresham.

Kyle Men Preparing to Force a Ballot, While Gresham Men Want Delay.

CONVENTION HALL, OMAHA, Neb., July 4.—At 7 o'clock this morning, George F. Washburne, of Boston, chief organizer of the movement in favor of the nomination for the presidency of United States Senator J. H. Kyle, sent the following dispatch to that gentleman at Washington: "Your nomination seems assured. A majority of the states have declared in favor of your candidacy."

Chairman Ellington was prompt in calling the convention to order this morning. When the gathering adjourned on Saturday, it was to meet at 8 o'clock this morning, and although less than a hundred delegates were on hand at that hour the proceedings were at once inaugurated with a prayer by Rev. William McCready, of South Dakota. A call of the roll having developed the fact that a quorum was lacking, a glue club was pressed into service until the committee on rules was ready with its report.

Watson-Kyle-Streeter. The situation this morning is one almost unparalleled in the history of presidential conventions. It had been expressly intended to make the nomination of the country's national hero, in order that the ticket might be surrounded with the proper eclat, and hence the preliminary organization was made two days in order that the desired effect might be accomplished. But today a majority of the delegates of the senate from within from Walter O. Gresham, to confer with whom a delegation was due in Chicago at 5 o'clock this morning.

To accomplish this the committee are prepared to resort to all the arts and subtleties known to political tacticians. Their intentions in this connection, however, are antagonized by the Weaver faction, which has gained considerable strength since yesterday and claims that it is strong enough to present a formidable front to its opponents. Word came last night through a delegate, who had just arrived from Chicago, that the committee on credentials had stated that none of the authorized communications from the People's party leaders had yet reached the judge but would be presented to him today, if possible by the son himself, who was to take the train last night from Chicago to Indiana for that purpose. The son was the first to see the mother and enter her home. Together wife and son would go over the situation with the judge, laying before him all the messages. It is expected that the dispatches purporting to have been received from Judge Gresham were pure inventions.

Pennoyer-Weaver-Clover. Shortly after midnight there was a sensational incident. Delegate Magarell, of Illinois, and his wife, Catherine Weaver's headquarters, and taking the latter aside, boldly asked him to be the one to place Judge Gresham before the convention today. Gen. Weaver is too bright a man to be carried off his feet by even so remarkable a proposition, but he gave his word that he would do it. The judge would have placed him in an awkward position in many ways. He readily replied that he was willing and ready to do it, but he had no substantial evidence that the judge would accept. From the committee on credentials came the report that there were no contests and that 140 delegates had filed their credentials. Judge Robertson, of Texas, presented the report of the committee on permanent organization and named H. L. Loucks, of South Dakota, as permanent chairman, and Tom W. Hayes, of New Jersey, secretary-treasurer of the Knights of Labor, as chief secretary. The selections were ratified with a yell, and Chairman Loucks on being presented, received an enthusiastic welcome. He is a one-legged veteran and supported himself with his crutch.

Loucks announced amid applause that he would dispense with a speech, and would content himself with expressing the opinion that this was the greatest and grandest convention ever held, not only in this country but in the civilized world. He was not one of those who believed that the republic was in danger, so long as the people existed. He congratulated them on the harmony that prevailed. There were no slates filed for the convention, the nominees would be chosen by the people and not by a machine element. The speaker then launched out into a disparagement of the Gresham boom and a eulogy of Gen. Weaver, without, however, mentioning names.

He said that they must have a candidate who would stand firm and square upon the platform, who would burn all his bridges behind him, a man who had already been weighed in the People's party balance and had not been found wanting. It had been said that they must not select one of the old guard because, forsooth, he had been a green-backer in times past. Did the Republicans or Democrats drive the old leaders to the rear in this manner? He came to this, because a man had been hoped not, and insisted that only a tried and true reformer should be placed on the ticket.

These remarks were received with slight applause from a few and silence from the majority of the delegates, as created a decidedly unfavorable impression. None of the committees being ready to report, the floor was given to a twenty minute patriotic speech of the usual independence party stripe, which was greeted at intervals with enthusiastic applause. Gen. Armstrong had spoken ten minutes, when New York delegates defiantly protested that they had come there for business and not talk, and a California man wanted to know who Gen. Armstrong was anyhow. Out in California, he said, they did not know him. So Armstrong moved himself off the stage.

A few remarks were made by Mrs. Emory of Michigan and N. V. Kois of Oregon, presenting a paper in behalf of that state. The committee on rules made a remarkable report, recommending that one regular ballot be taken for presidential nominee, and that if no choice be made on the second ballot the delegates should write on card the names of their first and second choice, the first choice to be counted as one vote, the second choice as half a vote. That after this ballot all other names be dropped and the third ballot to be confined to these two candidates. From the temple of all dark horses. The convention defeated a proposition to reduce the limit on nomination speeches from fifteen minutes to five.

The proposition to drop all but the two highest candidates after the first ballot provoked a lively debate, accompanied at times with considerable feeling. An amendment was introduced by a Nebraska delegate, that when the balloting had commenced should continue until a majority of the delegates had voted. This was adopted, the proviso stricken out, and the report as amended was adopted. The delegates then rushed into the hall with too much rapidity to suit a majority of the convention and there were loud protests against the tumultuous and cries of "no gag law." At this point and after considerable opposition the convention decided at 10:35 to take a recess for twenty minutes to witness the civic Fourth of July.

A tremendous fight is expected when the convention reassembles. Loucks, the chairman, who is the leader of the Weaver forces, is bending all his energies and power toward forcing a ballot, while the Greshamite party led by Secretary Hayes will fight for delay until Gresham is heard from. From the temple of the convention this morning, the sides are apparently about even.

WORST OF THE SEASON. Great Damage Done by a Storm in New York.

NEW YORK, July 4.—The storm which struck this city and vicinity yesterday afternoon was the worst of the season. The rain came down in torrents until the streets and gutters resembled running streams. The rain was preceded by a heavy fog, which had been blowing from the north and east, and which broke windows and did much other damage. It played sad havoc with the crops, and many of the smaller boats were capsized. Several lives are known to have been lost, and fears are entertained that other persons were drowned.

Thousands of dollars worth of property was damaged and peach, apple and pear orchards in the neighboring country were also damaged. All trains were run last night over the north branch, owing to mud slides at the north end, which blocked the South branch tracks.

A TORNADO IN OHIO. Farm Houses Uprooted and Wheat Leveled by the Storm.

LIMA, O., July 4.—A tornado passed through this section at 6 o'clock yesterday morning between this city and Kenton. Forest trees were twisted off. At Forker, a station on the Chicago & Erie road, several houses were blown over and the crops leveled. Wheat was leveled and much damage resulted.

The cyclone did $50,000 worth of damage near Bluffton, O. The damage to timber and fences was heavy. William Hill's dwelling is unroofed, and Peter Beagle's barn destroyed. Conrad Triplehorn's barn was unroofed and a portion of the roof carried fully 150 feet, striking his large two-story brick house, completely demolishing the upper story. Triplehorn and his family were asleep at the time, six children being in bed on the second floor. Their cries aroused the parents who rushed to the second story and rescued them. It is miraculously how many of them escaped death, as the beds in which they slept were broken to pieces and covered with bricks and mortar.

TO BE LET WEDNESDAY. The Contract for the Minnesota World's Fair Building will be let Wednesday.

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 4.—A meeting of the World's fair commission is to be held here on Wednesday, when the contract for the Minnesota building will be let. Several of the bids are within the $25,000 limit.

There is a proposition to have the building so erected that after the World's fair is over it can be brought from Chicago and located on the state fair grounds.

Bad Explosion of Gas. PITTSBURGH, July 4.—Francis' hotel at Bradstock was completely wrecked yesterday by an explosion of artificial gas. An employee named Kelly went into the cellar to turn of the water. He carried a torch, and as soon as he reached the cellar the gas, which had escaped from a broken pipe, exploded. The force of the explosion blew out the water and made a complete wreck. Kelly was badly injured.

Fishing Business Sold. SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., July 4.—The mammoth fishing business and outfit of C. Endress & Sons at White Fish Point has been sold to the A. Booth Packing Co., of Chicago. Mr. Cochrane, representing the Booth Packing Co., and Richard and Emil Endress met here last week and agreed upon the price, which is private.

Escape of a Murderer. PORTLAND, Ore., July 4.—Charles Wilson, who assaulted and murdered a 23-year-old girl and who barely escaped lynching in this city Friday night, escaped from the officers early yesterday

ALL DULUTH IS OUT

Everybody is Celebrating the Glorious Fourth and the City is Outdoing Itself.

Magnificent Parade This Morning, the Grandest Ever Seen in the Zenith City.

Program of Exercises for the Afternoon at the Pavilion, Commencing at 2 O'clock.

All Duluth did not sleep last night, and from the noise of the fire crackers, anvils and cannon which could be heard all night long one would suppose that but a very small percentage of the population of the great Zenith city was "wrapped in the arms of Morpheus," as the hackneyed expression goes. The morning opened gloriously and all nature was at its best. The din kept up, however, and everybody seemed to be trying to atone for the neglect of past years in the way of celebrating the Fourth.

The grand parade this morning was the most imposing and magnificent demonstration that Duluth has ever seen and was a credit to the city. It was 10:45 o'clock before the order of march formed. It was as follows:

FIRST DIVISION.
City Band.
Chief Marshal.
Adjutant.
Company A, Third Regiment M. N. G.
Lincoln Cannon, Second Vermont.
Veterans of the G. A. R.
Clubs.
Claus Stewart.

SECOND DIVISION.
West Superior Band.
Brigadier-General Shaw, K. of P.
Uniform Band of P. P. Post-Office T. H. Hedges commanding.
Societies of the G. A. R. and the B. O. O. F.
Lodges 15 and 19, S. H. and E. F. of America.

THIRD DIVISION.
Harrison's Military Band.
Ye Andrew and Honorable Society of the G. A. R.
Decorated Flank, G. A. R. of Liberty and the Duluth and Superior Aldermen in Carriages.

Citizens' Carriages.
The trade display was remarkably good and the merchants of the city are to be commended for their enterprise and interest in the celebration. Pantan & Watson led with a beautiful float decorated with many colors. A young lady in wax—probably representing a Duluth girl, stood in the center under a canopy. The six delivery wagons of the firm all decorated, followed. C. S. Pierce, the hardware man, had a very tasty display of hardware, and the Chicago Decorating company had an equally good one. The Ross Bottling works had a display of its pop and bottling apparatus in operation. The A. Booth Packing Co. had one of the finest displays of fish. With nets represented the catching of the fish; then the fish boxes in which the fish are shipped were displayed and in addition the delivery wagons. The Schiller-Hubbard company display attracted great interest. The front of the cigar-makers were at work making cigars. In the second wagon various brands of cigars were displayed and a shower of samples thrown into the crowd.

W. L. Range gave a very fair representation of his wares and exhibited several hundred dollars' worth of meats. Slices of Bologna and head cheese were being sold, and the Gill & W. West and the Imperial Mill company had fine displays of flour. The Gardner Music company had a display of good stock of pianos. The Inman line display excited great interest. A man in a dress suit was seen walking about the parade, and the finest display of fishing was seen. The procession was nearly two miles in length and throughout the entire line of march the streets were so crowded as to be almost impassable. The parade concluded the morning exercises.

The exercises at the head of the incline this afternoon are attracting thousands of people. Mayor of the day, and of the following program being carried out under his direction:

Rev. C. C. Seltzer, D. D. Music.
Orchestral National Air.
Mayo.
Reading Declaration of Independence.
Vocal music.
Rev. Robert F. Gifford.
Patriot song.
Ellsworth.
School children.

Following this program Professor Althaus and the Duluth Turn Verein will give an exhibition of feats in calisthenics and on the horizontal and parallel bars in the pavilion, after which a program of sports will be given in the park, of which W. P. Linder, Simon Clark and J. W. Anderson will be the judges and James D. Buxton the starter. A number of valuable prizes are offered to the winners of the various contests.

This evening, between 6 and 8 o'clock, there will be several boat races on the harbor, the course extending from the slip at Fifth avenue west to the elevator. Following are the entries: Single scull, Pearson, Kershaw and Hopkins; double, Mahoney stroke and Pearson bow and Smith stroke and Kershaw bow; four, Smith stroke, Moers, Mahoney and Upham; and Burke stroke, C. A. Pearson.

Working boats, Walter Lutes and D. McDonald. Later in the evening there will be a grand display of fireworks from the terrace at the head of Fourth avenue west.

ATTACKED BY BANDITS. A Texas Man Has a Bloody Fight With Seven Robbers.

EAGLE PASS, Tex., July 4.—J. E. Garner, look-keeper for the Santa Rosa Smelting company, left Barolina station Saturday with $3,000 in Mexican coin to go to Santa Rosa. He was in a hack and had a negro driver. About sundown he was attacked by a band of seven robbers and a lively battle ensued. He succeeded in getting the horses loose from the hack, but during the fight the negro and one of the horses were killed. Mr. Garner killed one of the bandits. He thinks he wounded several others. He also received a wound.

Seeing an opportunity to escape, he sped to Santa Rosa, got up a posse of officers and citizens and returned to the scene of the conflict, where the dead negro and bandit were found. The robbers had cut off the nose of their comrade, and to mutilated his face by cutting off his ears.

THE PAVILION OPENS.

A Great Crowd Filled the Building During the Entire Day.

Although the Highland pavilion was open as a matter of form on Saturday, it was not really open until yesterday. During the afternoon the incliner cars were crowded and about 3500 passengers reached the pavilion by this means of conveyance, and probably 1000 other persons either came in livery rigs or walked up. From 6 o'clock in the evening until 12 at midnight about 4000 additional were carried. The cars ran at ten-minute intervals and as high as 360 were carried on a single trip. The city band gave concerts both afternoon and evening, playing twelve selections in the morning and fifteen in the evening. The chief attraction, however, was the concert playing by little Jessie Miller, the 11-year-old California wonder, who is here for a two weeks' stay. She played a 12-flat Corn gold cornet. She is a wonderful player, and with her age left much to be desired. Her tones are full, rich and sweet, and she was greeted with perfect storms of applause. The refreshment department under Manager Barnett and Press Agent Strang's supervision was in full swing and carefully looked after. Nothing but pleased and surprised expressions of opinion were heard during the day.

IT IS SPEEDY. The New Highland Car Can Run 35 Miles an Hour.

A number of carriages of the street car company and a couple of the electrical experts tested the mammoth new car intended for use on the Highland avenue line, at the top of the incline, as soon as that car had been completed. The car is fitted with two gearless motors and has eight 36-inch wheels, and can run considerably over express train speed. Yesterday on Superior street, on a portion of the track east of Filgate's brewery, a speed of twenty-nine miles an hour was made easily, the car running very smoothly, with no perceptible jolting. The car was West Duluth, but jumped the track at the Phillips house corner, on the sharp curve, and was used for the present on Superior street.

AMUSEMENTS. Hettie Bernard Chase.

Hettie Bernard Chase will be at the Temple tonight in "Uncle's Darling." The Des Moines Register said of her appearance in that city recently: "Uncle's Darling" was played to a good house at Harper's theater last night by Hettie Bernard Chase, the lively and charming young actress, and a very fair supporting company. The piece is full of action and affords abundant scope to show the company's versatility. Miss Chase is full of tricks and graces, sings well, picks up a banjo deliciously and dances like a fairy.

"Prince Methusalem" Tonight. The Miller-Calhoun Opera company has been going through a variety evening at the Lyceum and presented "Chimes of Normandy" fully as well as on the evening previous. "Prince Methusalem" will be presented and several new features will be introduced. "Chimes of Normandy" is being presented this afternoon.

BLIND TO DEATH. A Boy Runs to the Fire and is Taken to the Hospital.

William Preston Ashmead, a 14-year-old son of Holland Ashmead, met with a sudden and singular death Saturday night. He was the alarm of fire and the time the Roman Catholic church was burned, and boy-like, ran with all his speed to the fire. The excitement and desire to see the burning of the church was taken with a severe hemorrhage of the lungs and died in about ten minutes, after having been taken to the hospital, where he was instantly summoned, could do anything for him. His parents live at 111 West Third street. He had been carrying a box of matches, and had been playing with them when he was taken to the hospital.

They Want to Celebrate. Port Arthur people as such may hardly be supposed to have any great desire to celebrate the Fourth of July, but the steamer Cambria arrived here yesterday with 175 excursionists, and on Saturday morning the city was celebrating the national holiday of the flag, and the people were born. She arrived here yesterday morning and left at night on her regular trip. Her excursion party will return to Port Arthur on Tuesday. Many of the excursionists were old residents of Duluth.

No Land Grabbing. There was a report published in a Minneapolis paper on Friday that the city of Duluth had been offered a large tract of land in the Northwest that had been laid off for forty days, and that "meanwhile treacherous and land jobbers are getting the better of it." Register Nichols says that all this is correct, the fact being that all but five of the inspectors were laid off from the 13 to 30. Then they resumed work and five reported here for duty on July 4. There is nothing to show that there is any "land grabbing" in the mean.

Found His Spouse. Walter H. Stewart, a legless man, less than 100 years old, arrived in Duluth yesterday noon with his 72-year-old wife. She was from St. Paul and had been living under the name of Mrs. Stewart for many years. She claims that she deserted her husband and children because he was a drunkard and a gambler. She returned to Chicago on Tuesday evening, but said that she would stay with him. A local contractor said she had induced her to come here, but he did not know that there is an act proper in their relations.

May Come to Duluth. The Northwestern Miller says that two of Minneapolis, who are now seriously contemplating going to the millinery business at Duluth, are not rebuilding at Albert Lea.

TWENTY ARE HURT

A Terrible Railway Collision in Germany Which Will Result in Several Deaths.

Many Passengers Have Been Injured by a Coach Being Crushed Into Splinters.

Those Who Were Injured Filled the Air With Their Shrieks and Cries.

BERLIN, July 4.—Twenty persons were injured last evening by a railway collision near Charlottenburg station. One train loaded with passengers, was waiting outside the station for the signal to start. Another train came dashing into the rear carriage of the train which was at a standstill, crushing the hindmost carriage into splinters, and terribly injuring many of the passengers.

The injured filled the air with their shrieks and cries, and a report spread that a large number had been killed. So far, however, no deaths are reported, although some of the injured will probably die.

THE PRO-CATHEDRAL BURNED. A New and Costly Structure to be Erected at Once.

The pro-cathedral and episcopal residence of Bishop McGonigle were totally destroyed by fire Saturday evening. A lamp started the blaze, which was first discovered in the rear of the church and was supposed to be extinguished. Shortly afterward it was again discovered, and by this time the flames had spread through the entire ceiling of the church. There was a fatal delay in getting the alarm in owing to the fact that the key to the box at Second avenue west and Fourth street could not be found. Even after the fire department did arrive and attached the hose to the hydrant opposite the church no water could be had because it was out of order. By the time the engine could be transferred nearly half an hour had elapsed and the two buildings were then beyond saving.

Practically everything in the house was saved, although some of the furniture is badly damaged. The bishop's library, which is one of the finest in the Northwest, and which he has been years in accumulating, is almost wholly saved, but is considerably damaged by water and smoke. The vestments in the church, which are costly, were nearly all saved, but some of the gold and silver chalice were destroyed. Some of the metal from them has been found, but the total loss is very hard to determine as yet. Many valuable articles were being returned yesterday from residences in the neighborhood, where they had been hastily carried. It is safe to say that it will run above $100,000.

There is an insurance of $125,000 on the church library, furniture and residence. There is no doubt that a great deal of blame is due some one for the condition of the hydrant opposite the church, and it looks as though the Gas & Water company was open to severe censure. Wherever it belongs, the matter should be investigated. The man who drives the sprinkling cart on that street is said to have entered a complaint a week ago to the effect that the hydrant was out of order.

The work of clearing the ground for the erection of a new and handsome structure will be commenced tomorrow. It is proposed to erect an edifice of brown brick and brownstone, and about $100,000. An episcopal residence will also be erected at once. The building will be a handsome one, and will be an ornament and a credit to the city and the congregation.

NOT SETTLED YET. The School Board Will Determine the Tower Question Tomorrow.

The school tower question occupied the attention of the school board Saturday evening, but it was not determined whether to finish it as originally designed or leave it as it is now with a flat roof. The board will meet tomorrow afternoon in Clerk Pearson's office and endeavor to arrive at some conclusion.

The board decided to submit to the people at the annual election July 12, the question of issuing $100,000 bonds for building new school houses. A. K. Macfarlane donated lots 1, 2 and 3 block 16, Glen Avon. Second division, for school purposes and the board accepted them. The school board also accepted the Central High school block, the purchase of the remaining lots being reported and approved.

The special committee reported the purchase of apparatus for the new high school to the amount of $1,000. The building committee reported that the Longfellow school seems to be satisfactorily built, but the board will not formally accept it until the heating apparatus is in.

The clerk was instructed to post the notices of the annual election and the secretary reported that he had appointed inspectors.

ANOTHER IMPROVEMENT. Street Car Company to Erect a Barn and Machine Shop.

Work commences tomorrow on the new car barn and machine shops of the Duluth Street railway at Twenty-sixth avenue west. The size of the building will be 255 by 150 feet, one story in height. It will be built of brick and stone, with a steel truss roof and the contract price is $47,000, although some proposed changes will bring the cost up to more than $50,000. The building will be erected on the east end of the block between Superior and First streets, that portion fronting on Superior street to be the car barn, while a space 40 by 150 feet on First street will be fitted up for the company's machine shop. The building will be completed in about three months and with the machinery and motor pits will involve a total outlay of about $80,000.

Not a Candidate. Minneapolis Journal: J. G. Brown, a prominent Duluth Democrat and member of the Minnesota delegation to the national convention, was in St. Paul today, and was confident of Democratic victory on Tuesday. Mr. Brown has been talked of in congressional nomination in the Sixth district of late, but said

INDEPENDENCE DAY.
The day which should be the greatest day of all the year to every American has arrived. It is the anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence at Philadelphia in 1776, and as such it should be a red-letter day and glorious republic because it was that memorable event 116 years ago that laid the foundations of this grand nation and freed it from the control of the kings and emperors of the European countries.

We are accustomed to allude to this day as "The Fourth," but its popular name should be Independence Day.
There is a deep meaning in these words.
Independence means freedom from control and restraint, the power to act freely and to carry on one's own affairs without dictation or interference. It means also that in addition to being free and untrammelled, we are a self-reliant people, exempt from reliance on other powers and capable of self-subsistence.
And these are reasons for rejoicing.
These are causes for celebration.

At the same time we can look around

THE GLORIOUS FOURTH.

When the Song of the Firecracker Is Heard in the Land.

(Copyright, 1922. All rights reserved.)

THE Fourth of July is a purely American institution as well as a purely American invention, and the annual celebration of this holiday of holidays is no doubt the most popular and most successful of all the nation's annual festivals.

Young America as it is to the heart of the nation, and it is a source of pride and pleasure to all Americans that this day should be so popular and so successful.

Liberty and union, now and forever,
one and inseparable—Daniel Webster.

Love of country is one of the loftiest virtues which the Almighty has planted in the human heart—Emory A. Stokes.

And when the wanderer, lonely, friendless,
In foreign harbors shall behold
That flag unfurled,
Stretching out from his native land, Filling his heart with memories sweet and endless!

—Henry W. Longfellow.

Where America's liberty raised its first voice, and where its youth was nurtured in the strength of its manhood and full of its original spirit—Daniel Webster.

A weapon that came down as still
As snowflakes fall upon the soil,
But executes a freeman's will,
And lights the way to the will of God,
And from its force no door nor lock
Can shield you—this the halcyon hour.

No craven heart was ever fit to be a citizen. Courage is the source of patriotism—Henry Ward Beecher.

A star for every state and a source for every star—Robert C. Winthrop.

My own, my native land,
Of thee I boast!
Great empire of the West,
The dearest and the best,
I love thee.

—Abraham Colles.

A Fourth of July scene at Wichita Park, Tex., is thus described:

The hottest and funniest place on the grounds was the dancing platform. A can-cane troupe was stretched just overhead.
When some one of the troupe was strangely alone and downcast eyes, sat on the spring seat of a farm wagon and was polished before him by a thousand shinies. In a corner the orchestra, with a 553. This does not include sleeping car and meals on return trip. A considerable saving may be made by taking a lunch basket—coffee and tea will be served from the dining cars to those desiring. These tickets will be good to return until July 17, but by extension of the date to Aug. 15 may be obtained by depositing the ticket with the joint agent of the excursion, at the rate of 10 cents per ticket. The ticket will be checked through.

HE HAS DECLINED.

William J. Campbell Refuses to Conduct the Coming Campaign For the Republican Party.

His Legal Clients Refused to Consent and he Could Not Afford to Accept.

Senator Sawyer, of Wisconsin, Has Been Strongly Recommended For the Chairmanship.

MILWAUKEE, July 5.—Henry C. Payne, Wisconsin's member of the national Republican committee, was asked today if the report of Mr. Campbell's declination was true. "I saw Mr. Campbell in Chicago yesterday, where I went expressly for the purpose," he said. "The chairmanship was offered to Mr. Campbell, who declined it at first, and only under strong pressure consented to take it under consideration. Mr. Campbell has a large clientage and a law practice that pays him $10,000 or $15,000 a year. He had to consult his clients, refused to consent. He could have been induced probably to change his decision, but there was the Chicago Gas company, which would not release Mr. Campbell on any conditions. That left him only one course—to decline the chairmanship. These are the only reasons for Mr. Campbell's declination. It will be of no political effect."

"Who will the chairman be?"

"I can't say. I have strongly recommended Senator Sawyer."

WHAT CLARKSON SAYS.

No Idea as to Who Will be the Chairman.

NEW YORK, July 5.—Gen. James S. Clarkson was interviewed by a Commercial Advertiser reporter today at the Plaza hotel and admitted having received a telegram from Mr. Payne, of Wisconsin, stating that William J. Campbell would decline the chairmanship of the national Republican committee. No reasons for the declination were given. Gen. Clarkson does not think the Farwell letter had anything to do with it. He supposed Mr. Campbell could not afford to take the position and give up his Chicago business. He could not imagine how the telegram got into print. He has no idea who will be selected as chairman. There was not the remotest possibility of his being induced to take the position himself.

Gen. Clarkson did not care to express any opinion of party prospects, but did have something to say about the troubles at Homestead, Pa. He said Carnegie's vast fortune had been made by his workmen and he had been much about the responsibilities of wealth. Now was his opportunity to sustain his reputation as a philanthropist. His workmen must be right in their contentions. There had been no such convulsions in business as could possibly make these great reductions necessary. Mr. Carnegie should settle the difficulties at once and be generous to those men. He had discussed the beauties of co-operation in magazine articles and he should now put his theories into practice.

Gen. Clarkson leaves for Long Branch today. His family will occupy a cottage there during the summer.

WITH A BUTCHER KNIFE.

A South Dakota Man Killed His Wife

ARLINGTON, S. D., July 5.—A man named Thompson killed his wife and an old woman with a butcher knife yesterday. Last winter he beat his wife nearly to death and tied her down cellar, when her neighbors released her. He was on trial at the present term of court here, but was bailed out and allowed to go home.

His wife went with him, but remarked that she was afraid he would kill her. The other woman was a witness against him. He stabbed his wife five times. He admits his guilt and will probably be lynched.

FOUR WERE KILLED.

The Fatalities of the Fourth in Kansas

KANSAS CITY, July 5.—The Fourth of July cost four lives here yesterday, with several injuries, whose results cannot be foretold. The dead: Hoover, Henry, killed by a thrown bottle; Leslie, Ettie, colored, killed by a stray bullet; Peterson, Axtelle, killed in mock duel; Westerman, Clara, 5 years old, burned to death. The injured: Westerman, two brothers of Clara, severely burned by powder.

Triple Tragedy.
SHERMAN, Tex., July 5.—M. M. Pierce, a farmer living near Pottsboro, in this (Grayson) county, suspected Morgan E. Pack, his farm hand, and Mrs. Pierce of being too intimate yesterday. Pierce shot Pack dead with a rifle and then cut his wife's throat. After committing these crimes he lay down by his wife's side and cut his own throat.

A Costly Wreck.

WARREN, Ind., July 5.—The body of Frank Moore, the fifth of the victims of the Wabash railway wreck Sunday night, was taken from the debris at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. There was a terrible wound in his head and a hole torn clean through his left chest. The loss to the Wabash is estimated to be in the neighborhood of $100,000.

On Its Last Legs.

CLEVELAND, July 5.—F. D. Robinson has abandoned the Fort Wayne club of the Western League. The club is now being run on the co-operative plan. Robinson thinks the Western League is on its last legs.

A WAR IN CHICAGO.

Police and Vessel Men Have a Lively Fight Today.

CHICAGO, July 5.—Harbormaster Deane, backed by Inspector Hubbard and fifty policemen, undertook this morning to execute Mayor Washburne's order removing the excursion boats from the foot of Van Buren street. There was war from the start. The police first tackled the Rosalind, commanded by Capt. Davis.

There was a lively fight, in which the captain was knocked down. The engineer threatened to kill anyone who entered his engine room, but he too was finally overpowered and the entire crew carted off to the hospital, along with two policemen, who were laid out by blows from caulking hammers.

Then the police attempted to board the Josie Davidson, but were met by a stream of hot water from a two-inch hose and retreated to the dock. Finally they got aboard and another fight ensued, resulting in another cartload of wounded being hauled off to the police station and hospitals.

By this time the policemen began to get weary. Every boat had full steam up and was manned by a determined crew prepared to resist to the last extremity. The officers did not enjoy being scalded, to say nothing of having their heads cracked by mallets and at noon Inspector Hubbard, leaving a guard on the captured vessels, drew off his forces for dinner.

This afternoon the police authorities were trying to secure tugs to attack the excursion boats from the water side, but up so far had not secured one. The fire boat Yosemite could be used, except that she draws too much water to get near the hostile fleet.

A ROAST FOR RAUM.

His Removal Recommended By a Congressional Committee.

NEW YORK, July 5.—A Washington special to the World says Judge Wheeler's report of the Raun investigation, which is now practically complete and which will be submitted to the committee and given to the press in the course of a few days, is one of the most comprehensive and exhaustive documents ever emanating from a congressional committee.

In it the committee finds the pension office to be honeycombed by fraud, rascality, incompetent methods, prejudice and malice. The report recommends the removal of Commissioner Raun on the ground that he is incompetent, narrow-minded, malicious in the pursuit of supposed enemies, and because he has subordinated this great public machine to partisan ends, besides taking advantage of his official position to further his own financial projects.

MURDERED BY ITALIANS.

The Fatal Result of a Drunken Orgy in Pittsburgh.

PITTSBURGH, July 5.—Yesterday Frank Howsletter, aged 26, was murdered by three Italians at his home in the Eighteenth ward. The people concerned in the affair live in the same house. All of yesterday was spent by the men and families in drinking.

Late last evening a general quarrel occurred and Howsletter was repeatedly stabbed with a butcher knife and a razor, and beaten over the head with a beer glass. He died two hours after he received the injuries. All of the occupants of the house, except the murdered man's wife, were arrested.

HAVE SIGNED THE SCALE.

The West Duluth Manufacturing Company Pays Full Wages.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 5.—Tomorrow afternoon the second conference between the wage committee of the Amalgamated association and the iron manufacturers will be held in this city. It is not thought probable that an agreement will be reached. Any other conclusion of the conference would be the greater surprise.

Word reached the amalgamated headquarters this morning that the Detroit Spring works and the West Duluth Manufacturing company had signed the scale.

SUICIDE IN MID-OCEAN.

Crazed With Grief, a Woman Jumps Into the Atlantic.

NEW YORK, July 5.—Mrs. August Seyd, overwhelmed with grief at the death of her husband, August Seyd, late manager of the International News company, committed suicide by jumping into the sea at mid-ocean from the steamer Saal during the recent trip of that vessel.

The Saal arrived in port last Tuesday, but the matter only leaked out yesterday. It is probable that Capt. Ring will be called to account by the port authorities for neglecting to report the affair.

ST. LOUIS, July 5.—The rolling mill of the St. Louis department of the Niedringhaus mills was totally destroyed by fire at 3:30 this morning. The mill covered a block of ground. All the machinery is a total loss. The loss will be about $75,000.

Cyrus Field's Condition.

DORRIS FERRY, N. Y., July 5.—The physicians reported this morning that there was no change in the condition of Cyrus W. Field. He is still very low.

FILLED WITH LEAD

Volley After Volley of Shot Fired into the Body of an Alabama Negro.

He Attempted to Assault Two Women Within Two Hours on Sunday.

Was Chased by Men and Dogs and Was Finally Found Hidden in a Tree.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., July 5.—

received Minn Hist'l Society $15 tempted two women near Jasper, some thirty miles from here, by a negro. Sunday morning the negro was passing along the road by the house of the Brickwells, a few miles from Jasper. Miss Brickwell, a young woman, was in the lane near the house. The negro caught her by the arm, but her screams caused him to run off and she ran into the house.

A few hours afterward the negro crossed the field of William Kilgore. Mrs. Kilgore was gathering berries not far from the house. The negro caught her. She screamed so loudly that it brought her husband, who was at the house, to her assistance. The negro became frightened and ran away. The husband followed him to Black Warrior creek and fired several shots at him.

With the assistance of dogs the chase was continued, and yesterday morning, Mrs. Kilgore was gathering berries not far from the house. The negro caught her. She screamed so loudly that it brought her husband, who was at the house, to her assistance. The negro became frightened and ran away. The husband followed him to Black Warrior creek and fired several shots at him.

Killed at a Picnic.

MIDDLESBOROUGH, Ky., July 5.—William Patten, chief of police of Pineville, was killed yesterday by Lucius Smith at a picnic in the suburbs. The shooting grew out of a quarrel between the men. Patten was the last of the old Pattins in the Patten-Turner feud.

Fusion in Iowa.

DES MOINES, Ia., July 5.—An effort is being made to unite the Democratic and the People's party in this state, giving the People's party the electoral and the Democrats the state ticket.

Three Brothers Drowned.

LEMARE, Cal., July 5.—Three brothers named Martin were drowned yesterday afternoon in Kings river, while bathing.

WHEAT DULL AND LOWER.

Prices Depressed by Reports About the Anti-Option Bill.

The wheat market was steady with a better tone early this morning. The principal trading was confined to July and cash wheat which steadily strengthened in price up to noon on a very dull market. Little was done in the afternoon, the session being a waiting one. Reports from Washington about the anti-option bill had a depressing effect. Senator Davis was credited with saying that the modified bill would probably pass both houses. As a result prices declined here and the close was $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ lower than Saturday. Following were the closing prices:

No. 1 hard, cash 81 $\frac{1}{2}$ ¢; July, 81 $\frac{1}{2}$ ¢; September, 81¢. No. 1 northern, cash 79¢; July, 79¢; September, 78 $\frac{1}{2}$ ¢. No. 2 northern, cash 77¢. No. 3, 62¢. Rejected, 52¢. On track, No. 1 hard, 81 $\frac{1}{4}$ ¢; inspection today, 161. Receipts—Wheat, 103,296 bus. Shipments—Wheat, 220,596 bus. Cars on track, 443; last year, 126.

BUILT BY STATES.

How Some of the Great Commonwealths Will be Housed at the Fair.

Noticeable Varieties in the Styles of Architecture Shown by the State Buildings.

The Cottage and the Palace Almost Side by Side—Refusal of Mississippi.

Not the least interesting feature of the Columbian exposition at Chicago will be the state buildings. Their variety is particularly noticeable, as they range from magnificent palaces down to very plain structures or none at all. This is not a joke. At least one state—Mississippi—declares its intention to have none, has made no appropriation for any kind of an exhibit and has refused to give permission for counties to tax themselves for that purpose. Others, while not absolutely refusing, have so far made no appropriations.

THE TEXAS BUILDING.

Texas has appropriated $225,000 and will add as much more. It has also contracted for a $100,000 building. Kentucky has appropriated $100,000 and will have a handsome building. Florida will reproduce at Chicago old Fort Marion for its headquarters. Arkansas has contracted for the erection of an $18,000 building and West Virginia for one costing $40,000. As each state will, so far as possible, reproduce its most marked characteristics in its building, the general effect will be surprising at least, if not instructive.

Minnesota has adopted the plans prepared by Mr. W. Channing Whitney, of Minneapolis, and its building will be of Italian Renaissance style of architecture and in perfect harmony with other exposition structures. The framework of wood will be covered with staff to give the effect of stone construction. In this it will resemble most of the state buildings. The so-called main entrance will be in plain style, but the opposite side will more faithfully represent the state. The entrance there is through a portico having rusticated dome columns, and on the entablature over the center the name of Minnesota will appear in a raised panel.

THE MINNESOTA BUILDING.

At the extremities of the uncovered platforms, at either side of the portico, are statues on square pedestals representing the original owners of the country and the early settlers of the state, the Indian on one side and the pioneer lumberman, with his ax and rifle, on the other. Over the roof of the portico can be stretched an awning to afford shelter as a smoking loggia and place of observation. In the spandrels of the arches of the loggia, between the two wings, are shields with the coat of arms of the state of Minnesota and of the United States.

The Nebraska building has perhaps the best place of any state building on the grounds, as it fronts south on Fifty-seventh street, while a magnificent boulevard borders it on the east and a large lake on the west. It covers 6,000 square feet and has 12,000 square feet of floor space. Its dimensions are 60 by 100 feet, two stories high. The style of architecture is strictly classical, of the Corinthian order. The east and west fronts have wide porticoes and there are large wide steps on all sides, which cover one-third of the length of the building. Each portico is supported by six massive columns, which run the full length of both floors and to the under side of the cor-

THE NEBRASKA BUILDING.

Over each portico and resting on the columns is a large gable on a line with the main cornice. In the gable in bas-relief is the Nebraska state seal, five feet in diameter. Louisiana and Texas will have buildings after their own heart, so to speak—that is, representing the life of those states—and made almost entirely of native materials. That of Louisiana will be in the style of an old colonial plantation house.

Vagaries of British Temperature.

Some remarkable variations of temperature were experienced in England and Scotland during June. One Sunday the temperature in London was 32 degrees, lower than that of two days before, and no bright sunshine whatever was registered—the first sunless day for five weeks. In Edinburgh Thursday, the 8th, was the hottest June day but on for twenty years, while the very next day, Friday, was the coldest save one during the same period.

THE IMPOSSIBLE GIRL.

Oh, the pretty girl is a winsome pearl,
And her face is fair to see,
But the homely girl is nearer far
What a nice girl ought to be;
For the pretty girl is proud and vain,
And she treats the heart of man,
And she does just what she wants to do,
Because she knows she can—
Ah, yes!
Because she knows she can.

She's well aware that her face is fair
And her voice is soft and sweet,
And she knows she'll be forgiven, though
Her ways are indelicate;
But the homely girl she does not flirt
With the dudes who gallivant,
And she doesn't smooch the fellows' hearts
Because she knows she can't—
Alas!
Because she knows she can't.

The homely girl she helps her ma
To wash and mend and sew,
But the pretty girl she jabs her pa
And she's always on the go.
She knows that beauty rules the world
And has since it began,
But if they miss the pretty ones,
For whom they fiercely pant,
They swear they wouldn't have them then,
Because they know they can't—
Alas!
Because they know they can't.

Oh, I would wed could I find a girl
Who quite combines the grace
Of a homely maiden's honest heart
With the pretty woman's face,
To win this prize I would search for aye,
But, alas, I fear I shan't;
Though I explore the whole world o'er
I know full well I can't—
Alas!
And alas! I know I can't.

—Chicago Tribune.

He Was Zealous.

A well known doctor of divinity had in his congregation a most determined old fellow who seemed to be quite zealous in the good work, but one Sunday he did not appear at church, and for three successive Sundays the preacher noticed his absence and then he went to see him. He found him at home in his usual health and spirits, and after some general talk he came to the object of his visit.

"You haven't been to church lately, Brother Ball?" he said.
"No," confessed the brother.
"You are falling from grace, I fear."
"Mebbe I am parson."

"Why, my dear friend," exclaimed the preacher, "how does that happen?"
The erring brother braced up and his face grew hard and firm.

"You know that mule colt I bought?" he asked.
"Yes."
"Give a hundred dollars for him?"
"Yes."

"Not with a hooter unless he is broke?"
"No."
"Well, I undertook to break him."

"And I found out I couldn't break him and be a Christian at the same time."—Detroit Free Press.

Epitaph.

An incorrigible office seeker died a few years ago and his friends asked a well known journalist for an epitaph for his tombstone.

The journalist suggested the following, which was not, however, adopted:

The Vacation Disease.

Brother Champ—Our pastor's health seems to be failing rapidly. He has a hacking cough, and his eyes have an anxious, yearning look. What is your diagnosis of his complaint, doctor?
Dr. Sledge (a philosopher)—In confidence, Brother Champ, I am pretty well satisfied that it is the hanky-panky. If not checked very shortly it will be followed by a vacation.—Life.

She Was.

"You astonish me, madam! I never should have suspected you of being a smoker of cigarettes!"
"I never touch them, doctor."

"Why, I understood you a moment ago to say you were a victim of the cigarette habit."

"I am. My husband smokes them."—Chicago Tribune.

An Alliance Orator.

P. H. Stromme, the Alliance lecturer for North Dakota, recently appointed by the president of the state Alliance, is a typical Norwegian about seventy years old, but as youthful and agile in manner as a man of thirty. He possesses in a remarkable degree the quaint and original humor of his race, and it has made him famous in the northwestern states. In his own language he is forcible as well as persuasive. He speaks English with equal fluency, but employs the peculiar style that has become a dialect by itself under the odd title of "Ole Helverson." Many mimics of this peculiar dialect have sprung up in the northwestern press and furnish amusement as well as instruction to the public. Mr. Stromme is as courageous as he is good natured in his organization. He prides himself on being somewhat similar in personal carriage to Senator Hoar, of Massachusetts, whose style he copies on the platform.

A Ballade of Jest.
The merry wit of bygone years
Are dead and buried long ago,
To dust have turned the courtly ears
Of glib and glib on bells and bow.
For them there were no deathless lays,
Their fame or names we cannot know:
Where are the jests of other days?
Gone are the dames and cavaliers,
The kings who used to come and go,
When jesters mocked them from their feared.
Or cowered beneath the early blow:
For jesters then as now had woe,
And were not ever fed with praise,
And their jests were told and low:
Where are the jests of other days?

The snarling critic sadly sneers
At jokers banished to and fro,
And every whippersnapper jeers
At fancy's oddest, brightest glow.
And relegates to realms below
Our quaint, illusive, merry lays,
And will not give us half a show:
Where are the jests of other days?

EWING.
Prince, to some old newdealer go,
Of comic papers make a raise,
In them your answer lies, for lo!
There are the jests of other days.

Postal Savings Banks.
Postal savings banks have been frequently suggested for the United States, but very few persons have any idea of the amount of business which would be done by these banks should they ever be established in America. The system was introduced in France in 1882. During 1890 the 6,817 branch postal banks received 1,949,371 separate deposits, representing the sum of $30,465,832.47, which is a far larger sum than was handled during the previous year.

"Do not forget that benzine is one of the most dangerous substances in common use, even more so than gunpowder. If there is an open fire in the vicinity. The diffusibility of benzine is so great that one volume of it will render 10,000 volumes of air ignitable and 15,000 volumes of air explosive. The best way to use benzine, if it must be used, is out of doors, where it has the world to itself," advises an industrial journal.

Day and Night.
Charles Wyndham once called at the greenroom, and on entering sank languidly into his famous Garrick chair. Desiring to be genial, Secretary Le Clerq blandly remarked:

"Ah, Mr. Wyndham, you are growing more and more like Mr. Garrick every day of your life."

"Yes," instantly retorted a fellow actor sitting near, "and less and less like him every night!"—Argonaut.

Privileged Peersesses.
It means something for a woman to be a peeress of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, for there any one of these favored beings, whose title has been acquired by birth, marriage or creation, is free from arrest or imprisonment on civil process, and in the event of a peeress being charged with a criminal offense she would be tried by the house of lords.

An alligator at the Crystal palace, London, lived in perfect health upon nothing for eighteen months. It lately took a piece of very high mutton with relish.

HERE IS EVIDENCE.

EDITOR DAILY CALL, West Superior:—Some time ago I received a letter from my brother-in-law, Mr. Kennedy, of Saginaw, Mich., stating that he saw by the Superior papers that Dr. Speer was in this city. Knowing that Dr. Speer had cured my brother about two years ago of rheumatism, I called on Dr. Speer. He, without asking a question, described in detail my condition, in fact, better than I knew myself.

He located every pain, and told me what to do in order to get well. Everything he has done has acted as he said it would. I have only been under treatment a few weeks and I feel like a new man today. The other doctors I consulted would not or could not do me any good; neither were they able to tell me what my trouble was. The pains, mental depression, weakness and pain in the back and bad taste in the mouth, with all the other symptoms, have vanished. I look upon Dr. Speer as a marvel in the treatment of all diseases. Will be pleased to give any further information to anyone calling upon me.

CUT DOWN YOUR SHOE BILL

Attention, Mothers and Fathers! Why not have your Shoes and Kid Gloves as well as those of your Children looking like new continually? Why have them looking worn and rough when you can avoid it?

To do this you have only to oil them once a month with Tanner's Oil. Tanner's Oil does not injure but benefits the leather. It is now prepared by us for family uses. It prevents leather getting hard and from cracking, keeps it looking fresh and smooth, makes it soft and pliable and absolutely water-proof. Best of all—Shoes and Gloves kept thusly in good condition—will outwear three pair worn ordinarily. One box should last a family of three one year. On ladies' and children's wear you should use it instead of Blacking. Gentlemen can shine their shoes after using it equally as well as before. All we desire is to have you give it a trial. Shoe Dealers, Glovers, and those Dry Goods merchants who sell Kid Gloves should have it on hand to furnish up their stock that has become shopworn. It will give it an absolutely new appearance. Your youngest apprentice can apply it. Price by mail 40 cents. Special price to Dealers.

HAS WON HIS WAY.

A Rising Young American Artist Who is the Son of a Crazy "Prophet."

Has Climbed the Ladder of Fame Alone After a Life of Hardships.

Tale of Three Painters Who Got a Separate Compartment on an English Train.

Arthur Teed is a young American artist in Rome who has recently won some fame by breaking away from the hard realism so dominant of late, and giving to his landscapes a spirit and a life that seems the result of inspiration. His story is a rather sad one, and he has toiled against difficulties with a persistence which threatened to make him old before his time.

His case deserves to rank with those of the many geniuses who have suffered long and triumphed at last.

He was born in Utica, N. Y., in 1860, but taken soon after to Binghamton, where most of his life has been passed. He early showed a native talent for painting, and had made some progress when his father became infected with a religious craze and went off "in quest of holiness," as he termed it, leaving the boy the only support of an invalid mother. His life for many years thereafter was peculiarly hard, but he still worked at his chosen art and occasionally sold a picture.

His mother died after ten years of this life, and he had then given his whole time to art. Two of the pictures he then painted adorn the executive mansion at Albany, and others are in various parts of New York. His health failed by reason of hard work, but he had earned enough to go to Rome, and still refusing to follow the merely commercial line he developed his peculiar genius. Such success has recently crowned his efforts that he is in a fair way to reach the highest rank.

THE TALE OF THREE PAINTERS.

How They Got a Separate Compartment on an English Train.

In his life of Charles Keene, Mr. Layard remarks that Keene was once staying with a very famous painter, whose country house was near Godalming. Another painter was of the party, and all three were going up to London by an early train. They were discussing over the breakfast table the probability of getting room in the same carriage, when Keene announced that he would promise them a compartment to themselves. No guard was to be bribed, no porter was to be tampered with, no consideration was to move from customer to company—the thing was to be done, and done silently. A bet was readily made, for the feat to those who knew Godalming traffic seemed an impossibility. The three painters were early at the station, before the customary passengers arrived, and easily secured a compartment.

Then Keene gave his instructions to his friends. The brother artists painted his face brown and yellow and red, and muffled him in coats and gave him the corner seat near the window. When the other passengers arrived they avoided that carriage. They were business men, grave, solid, careful of their comfort, men who had sons-in-law with young families—they were not going to travel with a patient in virulent small pox. That at least was certain. And on the way up a dreadful idea occurred to them; suppose that very night they were to return in that very compartment without knowing it. The thing was too horrible. The guard was sent for and instant action in the matter claimed. And so the train was searched for that fever stricken patient, and every door was opened and every passenger scanned, but Charles Keene had won his bet and washed his face.

Like many other bright men the English chemist who first made a lucifer match failed to profit by his invention. The discoverer, Mr. Isaac Holden, M. P., has given this account of the affair: "In the morning I used to get up at 4 o'clock in order to pursue my studies, and I used at that time the flint and steel, in the use of which I found very great inconvenience. Of course I knew, as other chemists did, the explosive material that was necessary in order to produce instantaneous light, but it was very difficult to obtain a light on wood by that explosive material, and the idea occurred to me to put sulphur under the explosive mixture. I did that, and showed it in my next lecture on chemistry, a course of which I was delivering at a large academy.

"There was," added Mr. Holden, "a young man in the room whose father was a chemist in London, and he immediately wrote to his father about it, and shortly afterward lucifer matches were issued to the world. I believe that was the first occasion that we had the present lucifer match. I was urged to go and take out a patent immediately, but I thought it was so small a matter and it cost me so little labor that I did not think it proper to go and get a patent; otherwise I have no doubt it would have been very profitable."

Postmaster Over Fifty Years.

Speaking of James H. Miller, postmaster at Gauley Bridge, W. Va., a New York paper says he was appointed by President William Henry Harrison over fifty years ago, and is probably the oldest postmaster in the country. He has retained his office through all the political changes of the past half century, and at the age of eighty-six years is as prompt and efficient as any postmaster in the state. During the late war Mr. Miller's office was several times within the Confederate lines, but he was never disturbed or annoyed in any way.

Her Question.

"Mr. Spoonamore," said the young woman timidly, as the two walked along the quiet street on the way to church, "may I presume upon our somewhat short acquaintance to ask you a question?"

"Why—yes, Miss De Muir," he answered, turning slightly pale.

"It is the old, old question, Mr. Spoonamore?"

It had come upon him unexpectedly. He was not prepared for it. Long, long afterward he remembered how her voice trembled and how the little hand that rested upon his arm fluttered with a shy nervousness that awoke a responsive chord in his knees. Long, long afterward he could close his eyes and see as vividly as he did at that very moment every detail of the commonplace landscape that environed him—the street, with its rows of gas lamps struggling in vain to illumine the gloom of a cloudy evening, the sleepy looking houses that stretched monotonously away until lost in the dim, foggy perspective, the somber, bleak sky overhead and the occasional pedestrian flitting about in the semidarkness like an uneasy ghost suffering from insomnia and walking because there was nothing else to do.

"Why—Miss De Muir," he gasped, "certainly you—you may ask it if—if you feel that you must."

"Then, Mr. Spoonamore," she said, halting directly opposite a street lamp, and looking the trembling young man squarely in the face, "will you please tell me if my hat is on straight?"—Chicago Tribune.

The Guilty One.

She (after an absence of several years abroad)—How do you do? So delighted, I'm sure. Not married yet? Why, the last time I saw you, it seems to me, you were engaged?

He—Yes, I was.

She—Let's see; to whom?

He—To you, I like.

Teaching Welsh.

It takes a Welshman to teach Welsh. Few foreigners are able to pronounce the Welsh. The author of "Yorkshire Folk Talk" tells an amusing story of an Englishman's struggles to master that difficult sound.

The Englishman had been appointed to the Welsh school of St. David, and on taking up his abode in Wales engaged a native Welsh scholar to give him instruction in the language.

The pronunciation, and especially the Welsh, was almost at his wit's end to explain the lingual process by which the formidable sound was to be uttered.

At last a bright thought struck him, and being very observant in manner, he knew that the scholar was a native of the island.

"Your lordship must please to put your episcopal tongue to the roof of your apostolic mouth and then hiss like a goose,"—Youth's Companion.

Still There.

Mrs. Van Winkle—I hear that your son, who has been away so many years, has returned.

Mrs. Von Blumer—Oh, yes; and do you know I didn't recognize the boy at first, he had so changed.

Mrs. Van Winkle—Didn't he have any distinguishing mark?

Mrs. Von Blumer—Oh, yes. I finally identified him by his porous plaster.—New York Herald.

Doubtful.

"Young Mr. Slickens proposed to me the other evening," she said to her confidante.

"Did you accept him?"

"I haven't decided yet. He hasn't any money."

"But he is exceedingly shrewd."

"I know it. I can't make up my mind whether he's going to get rich or get into the penitentiary."—Washington Star.

An Irresistible Impulse.

Briggs—I see that Robinson disgraced himself at his new boarding house the other day.

Griggs—What did he do?

Briggs—They had rabbit stew for dinner and he threw a bootjack at it.—New York Herald.

A Drop in the Bucket.

Mr. Greatwaddle—These lawyers are fearfully exorbitant. I had my will drawn up today and he got fifty dollars for it.

Mrs. Greatwaddle—That's nothing. Just think of what he'll get when you die.—Detroit Free Press.

Not a Virtue.

"Your gardener is a hustler," said Blinks' visitor. "He doesn't let any grass grow under his feet."

"No, hang him!" said Blinks. "That's what's the matter with my lawn."—Harper's Bazar.

Poor Fellow.

Twynn—They say that Dingler hadn't a friend in the world.

Triplet—No wonder. He went about reciting eulogistic selections at parlor entertainments.—Detroit Free Press.

He Drew the Line.

Tourist (to forester who complains that so much wood is being stolen)—Why don't you put up a warning sign?

Forester—And have that stolen too? Not much.—Fliegende Blätter.

Knocked Out.

She bought some gowns of purest white; They were for summer wear, And were so cheap, her husband's delight Was great beyond compare.

But now her joy has faded out, His voice is hushed and still, He is completely paralyzed By her big laundry bill.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF NEW FIRM.

July 1st, 1892, French & Bassett succeeded the well-known furniture house of Geo. A. French & Co. The members of the new firm are George A. French and Charles E. Bassett, and the purpose of the new organization is to enlarge the business by the addition of complete and extensive lines of Carpets, Rugs, Mattings, Linoleums, Oilcloths, Wood Carpet, Parquetry Floors and all Floor Coverings, also Lace and Muslin Curtains, Drapery, Portiers, Window Shades, Sash Curtains and all Hangings.

Special attention MODERN ART GRILL WORK and Decorative Effects. Mr. Bassett will have these new departments directly in charge and he brings to the business an experience of ten years, gained in New York, Chicago and many other cities throughout the country, which experience, we consider, fits our house peculiarly to cater to the wants and tastes of our COSMOPOLITAN DULUTH. The business will be continued at the old stand and the new stocks will be in place Aug. 1st. Messrs. French and Bassett both leave for New York in a few days to complete their purchases, and we hereby invite the public to wait and inspect the handsome new stocks we intend placing on sale. We propose to handle all classes of goods in our line and will be able to supply any amount from the simplest to the most elaborate. The addition of these departments increases our expenses ONLY SLIGHTLY and we propose to give the public the benefit and to sell our wares at vastly lower prices than were ever attempted in this vicinity or state. We thank our patrons for making us the largest handlers of Furniture at the head of the lakes, and request all to look out for our opening announcement.

Very Respectfully,
FRENCH & BASSETT,
24 East Superior Street, Duluth.

The Weather.

U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, DULUTH, MINN., July 5.—Fair weather prevails everywhere this morning. Only two cloudy places are shown by the charts, Buffalo, N. Y., and Medicine Hat, N.
W. 2.Little rain has fallen during the past twenty-four hours, and that at widely scattered stations.An area of high barometer covers the most of the United States and an area of low pressure is now central over the extreme Northwest, moving slowly southeast.Fair weather will continue here today and probably tomorrow, but that depends upon the movement of the northwestern storm.The average temperature here yesterday was 41.5°, exactly the average for the 4th of July for the past twenty-one years; the highest was 74°.DULUTH, July 5.—Forecast till 8 p. m. tomorrow: Fair, probably followed by showers and/or; slight change in temperature; light easterly winds increasing in force.
R. H. BRONSON,
Observer.WASHINGTON, July 2.—Forecast till 8 p. m.
Wednesday: For Wisconsin: Fair; southerly winds; warmer in southeast portion. For Minnesota: Fair, probably followed by local showers, during the afternoon and night in the northwest portion; southerly winds; cooler in northwest portion.

A TRUST IS COMMUNISM.

Two months ago there appeared in the Forum a statement of the growth of the Standard oil trust, and a defense of its organization, by S. C. T. Dodd, the solicitor of the trust. In the July number of the Forum there appears a reply by Mr. Roger Sherman, who compactly makes an argument not only against the Standard oil trust, whose methods he sharply criticizes, but against trusts in general, all of which, he maintains, are illegal and communistic. Indeed, the gist of his argument is that a trust is essentially and necessarily communistic.The defenders of trusts tell us that by the prodigious accumulation of capital and the enormous savings that can be effected by large economies, great benefits may accrue to the consumer, while at the same time every producer may become a part owner of the trust.Against this alluring doctrine Mr.
Sherman builds up this argument:
Granting that what is said in favor of the trust is true, it nevertheless follows that it denies to those who would be individual competitors the right of individual action. The result is that every large trust becomes, in effect, a communistic organization, the members of which may not exercise their absolute individual rights, but must be owned and controlled by the rulers of the trust.
They must act in servitude and think only by proxy. The Standard Oil trust, by Mr. Dodd's own showing, Mr. Sherman argues, is palpably within the domain of communism.The question is whether it is better for a man to maintain his individual freedom or to become a slave of a community, and this is the essential question. "Is it really true," Mr. Sherman asks, "that the world has rolled backward to this desperate condition? Is it true that the force of money, moved by avaricious intelligence, has but taken the place of that physical force with which power, in earlier days, inflicted the wrongs against which all freedom successfully rebelled?
Before we answer in the affirmative, let there be careful investigation of the facts, and let the spirit of manhood, moral sentiment, and religious conviction unite with the active business interests of the land in protest against the gospel of greed."

THE FINANCIAL OUTLOOK.

The financial situation is viewed with much complacency by Henry Clews, the New York banker, in his review for the past week. In his opinion there has been little change in the situation during the week. Unfavorable crop reports from a few sections; reports of destructive floods in others, and continued gold shipments to Europe checked the reviving spirit of a week ago. But these influences have been about discounted, and the outlook is none the less encouraging. In fact, any change that has taken place has really been towards improvement. There is no further cause for uneasiness concerning the money situation, according to Mr. Clews, because gold shipments must shortly be suspended by a larger supply of produce bills;
and in the course of a few months we shall be importing instead of exporting the precious metal; a contingency already anticipated on the London money market. There is, moreover, no further reason for apprehension about the treasury being able to meet its obligations.
Secretary Foster has done a deal of close sailing in the last few months, and he deserves full credit for the skillful manner in which he has handled the financial helm.It is a most fortunate circumstance that the money market has required no assistance from the government this year; for, singularly enough, the government has been forced to ask the assistance of New York bankers in maintaining its gold reserve. However, there is nothing to awaken anxiety about the future of the money market during the summer months, the recent firming upbeing rather of a wholesome character than otherwise. "Rates are still too easy for the satisfaction of lenders," says Mr.
Clews, "and quite easy enough for all legitimate borrowing. At the West
there is also a superabundance of funds, so the westward currency movement is likely to be deferred. In Europe, too, low rates prevail, which is important as bearing upon the gold movement and the demand for good dividend-paying securities. During the month of July considerably over $100,000,000 in dividend and interest payments will be distributed at the three cities of New York, Boston and Philadelphia, a considerable portion of which will as usual be reinvested in Wall street."

A WASTE OF POWER.

An article by Mrs. Schuyler Van Rensselaer, on "The Waste of Woman's Intellectual Force," has just been published and is arousing considerable attention. Mrs. Van Rensselaer declares that in the women of America lies the nation's best hope of intellectual advancement, because leisure is what is needed for such advancement, and our women have leisure in an immeasurably greater degree than our men. From this she goes on to point out how under our present social condition not only leisure but wealth also are at the service of American women, and all the opportunities these bring. Mrs. Van Renselaer's plea is for the utilization of this leisure and wealth so that our women who now generously exert themselves to raise funds for hospitals and churches and other such charitable and missionary work, and those who spend their time and their money in social display, might, if this same force were properly directed, become the patronesses of art, of the sciences, and the leaders of a higher intellectual life than almost any American community now can boast of.There is indeed here a prodigious misdirection of energy, if not a positive waste. Under modern industrial conditions it seems improbable that there ever will be any great degree of leisure enjoyed by men of great capacity, for it is a remarkable fact that the leisure of forcible men seems to have disappeared from the world with the advance of our modern industrial system; and it is not the less true that the leisure of women then for the first time became greatly augmented. The conditions of intellectual labor, and particularly for intellectual inspiration, have for these reasons essentially changed in recent years, and an analysis would show that in almost any American city or town of considerable size there are not enough men of positive force who can get leisure from the exacting occupations of the time to carry out any non-remunerative undertaking; whereas in every such city or town, if the leisure and the wealth of the women are concentrated, there might be a literary, scientific, or artistic center.This is a most practical and fruitful suggestion, and it might be worked out in a larger or smaller way in almost any American community. Certainly no more inspiring hint has been thrown out to the vast army of women that have organized themselves for so many worthy purposes for the advancement of the gentler sex.The platform adopted by the Omaha convention is one prolonged calamity howl. It says that the people of the country are being ruined by the protective tariff, and that business is prostrated. The whole recital of woes was evidently written by Ignatius Donnelly as it bears his earmarks throughout. It is false from beginning to end. R. G.
Dun & Co.'s commercial agency, in its review of trade for the fiscal year ended June 30, says: "The fiscal year never matched in the whole history of the country, in volume of industrial production, in magnitude of domestic exchanges or in foreign trade, has just closed. * *
In spite of low prices additional works are going into operation in the manufactures and yet more in woolen and cotton. Moreover, the crops of this year promise to be very satisfactory and the new half year begins with excellent prospects."The People's party convention wrestled and fought about as bitterly as the conventions of the two old parties.
In fact, the delegates at Omaha used all the methods and tactics of the politicians whom they affect to despise.Weaver's joy in securing the People's party nomination will be somewhat dimmed by the knowledge that he got it only because another man would not take it.

The Literary Thief.

Two Harbors Iron News: The Duluth Tribune shows by the convincing parallel that one of the ablest editorialists which has appeared in the News of that place, was lifted wholly from the National Bulletin, and published as the offspring of the News editor's think tank. There is nothing surprising in this single adoption. The News has stolen the reports of ore shipments and considerable other port and local news at Two Harbors from the Iron News the whole season.

A Bad Give-Away.

Little Falls Transcript: Having a very friendly personal feeling for Mr.
Kendall we would suggest that he induce his organ, the Duluth Tribune, to devote less space to urging Duluth Republicans to support him for congress.
It is a very bad give-away and is one of the many foolish breaks made by that paper.

Growth and Bright Future.The editor of the Winterset, Ia., Madisonian was one of the party that visited Duluth at the close of the Republican national convention, and in a recent number of his paper considerable space is devoted to this city. Under the heading, "The Marvellous City," the Madisonian says:The conditions that are destined to make Duluth one of the important cities of the continent are, in some degree, its location for lumber industries, more important, its large though only beginning non-industries, but the most important of all, its location at the head of inland navigation. It is situated at the extreme western extremity of Lake Superior, and the farthest inland point reached by navigation connected with the Atlantic ocean. Duluth is 200 miles nearer the lumber districts, the iron mines and the granary of the world, the illimitable wheat fields of the Northwest than Chicago, while the distance by water to Cleveland, Buffalo, Detroit and all lake ports, and the Atlantic ocean is no greater than from Chicago.Cargoes of wheat have gone on the new marine wonders, the "Whaleback" steamers direct from the Duluth docks to Liverpool. This necessitates their passing the canal at Sault Ste. Marie, commonly called "Soo," which at present has but 14 feet of water. When congress gets tired of pouring millions every year into the harbors and rivers, and gives that section a break, while making a reasonable appropriation for deepening the "Soo" channel to at least 20 feet, so that the largest sea going vessels can be floated up to all inland ports, the Northwest will get some of the benefit. While the commerce of our own part of the country will not reach Lake Superior ports, it will go through rival lines, which under the stimulus of competition must reduce freights accordingly, we will reap much benefit nevertheless.After quoting a mass of statistics concerning the prodigious growth of the population and business of Duluth, the Madisonian says:With such a growth, and with the rapidly developing farming, mining and lumber interests to the west and northwest of the city, Duluth can not but be in a few years rival of the greatest commercial cities of the country, and manufacturing, especially milling, is opening up, though yet young. Coal for generating steam is brought from Cleveland and Buffalo at a freight charge of 10 cents a ton, so that it is but a little greater than in those cities. But new and efficient power is projected. The St. Louis river runs off the hills into the lake, giving in its rapid descent the opportunity of unlimited power. The drawback heretofore has been that the power was near where it was desirable to have the mills, at the lake shore. With the development of electricity, it is now proposed to put in dams, and operate dynamos by current to the mills, where it can be utilized.While this section of our country is cut off to some extent commercially from Duluth and Lake Superior ports, there is one aspect in which the zenith city has now, to some extent, and must inevitably have to a greater extent, our attention, and that is as a summer resort.
The cool and bracing lake winds, the healthfulness of the climate, the magnificent scenery, the hills of granite rising more than 500 feet above the level of the lake, all tend to make Duluth one of the most delightful places to spend the heated term.One thing especially noticeable is that among all the active, pushing business men, who are making the city so great, hardly a gray head is to be seen. They have the "young men for war," and utilize them for council also. This, of course, cannot always remain so, but the character of the place will be fixed for generations by the present energetic young men, who have settled down where the waves of the lake beat upon one side, and the rocky hills and illimitable forests of pine, spruce, fir, and maple crowd close upon the other.

A BIG BOOM IN JEWELRY.

Don't you want to see something that will match the most brilliant pyrotechnical displays? Have you an eye for the beautiful? Have you a taste which is cultivated, artistic and discriminating?
Whether your answers to all of these questions are in the affirmative or not,
you will take a good deal of pleasure in looking over our stock. We are not in the habit of putting much fuss and feather into our printed announce-what we say, and saying what we mean, but occasionally we have some special inducements to offer, and this happens to be the case at present.Andrew Jackson

WEST DULUTH.

West Duluth office of The Herald, room 4, Siting building, where announcements etc. may be left.West Duluth celebrated yesterday in good old-fashioned style and everything passed off pleasantly. The celebration on Bay View Heights called out an immense crowd and the only drawback to the perfect time was the inability of the inclined road to handle the crowd. Still the road handled 3500 people before 4 o'clock and the grounds were packed with picnickers bent on having a good time. The big platform was the center of attraction and dancing indulged in by all. In the evening the fireworks were displayed at the rock cut at the head of Fourth avenue west and the display was magnificent. Engineer Kiay, who had charge of this, deserves the thanks of the entire community for the creditable manner in which he set and displayed the fireworks. The picnic under the auspices of the A. O. H. at the Fourth avenue picnic grounds was largely attended and proved a very enjoyable occasion.G. J. Mallory has received the agency

AMUSEMENTS.

"Prince Methusalem."
The Miller-Calhoun company had packed houses yesterday both at the matinee and in the evening. "Chimes of Normandy" was sung in the afternoon and in the evening "Prince Methusa-lem" was put on for the first time, but the company did not appear to advantage and something seemed to be lacking. This opera will be produced again this evening and the company will undoubtedly be seen at its usual excellence.Hettie Bernard Chase.
Hettie Bernard Chase inflicted herself upon a very large audience at the Temple last evening. The most interesting feature was the menagerie. There is scarcely any dramatic ability in the company.

"The Bandit King."

James H. Wallick will produce Saturday evening at the Temple his five-act equestrian melodrama of "The Cattle King," founded on the life of one of Texas' greatest cattle kings. It is a dramatic picture of pioneer life in Texas, when the cattle kings' herds were countless in number and their ranges often extended hundreds of miles; when arbitration was settled by the pistol, and crime was effectively punished by vigilante law.

Will Come Today.

The insurance adjusters will arrive today to determine the loss on the pro-cathedral and the bishop's residence.
There is not much doubt but that a total loss will be allowed. Bishop Mc-Gulick's library is even more seriously damaged than at first supposed. He had a large collection of very valuable illuminated missals and manuscripts which he had gathered in Europe and other countries, some of which are hundreds of years old. It is believed that many of these were destroyed as they are missing. The bishop has rented one of the apartments in the Munger terrace and will move into it at once.

No Drunks Yesterday.

Today was return day at the municipal court as per adjournment. There were a number of unimportant civil actions. The criminal docket showed a very singular state of affairs; not a single arrest on Sunday or Monday. There were three drunks arrested Saturday night, who were released on $15 bail.

MORTGAGE SALE—

Default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage executed by Charles O.
Baldwin, mortgagor, to Robert L. Cochrane, mortgagee, dated May 31st, 1891, and duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in the county of St. Louis, state of Minnesota, on the 7th day of May, 1891, at eight o'clock a. m., in book 72 of mortgages, on page 323, which mortgage debt was afterward assigned by Edward L. Gregory.The premises conveyed by said mortgage are situated in said county of St. Louis, and state of Minnesota, and described as follows, to-wit:
Lot numbered thirteen, in block numbered seven, in Harrison's addition to Duluth, according to the recorded plat thereof in the office of the register of deeds, in and for said county of St. Louis and state of Minnesota.There is claimed to be due, and is due, on said mortgage at the date of this notice, the sum of four hundred and forty-six dollars and

IT WAS A GALA DAY

Everybody Celebrated the Great National Holiday in True Patriotic Style.

Enormous Crowd at the Pavilion During Both Afternoon and Evening.

Athletic Sports on the Hill and on the Water—The Suburban Celebrations.

All Duluth celebrated yesterday and in every quarter of the city the eagle was screaming. It was the first celebration of any particular magnitude which Duluth has had for years and this increased the interest. At Lester Park, West Duluth, Hazlewood Park and other suburbs celebrations were held and Minnesota Point was covered with picnic parties. Every boat in the club house and at the various places where boats are rented was out and the supply was unequal to the demand. The Barker and other boats gave excursions "round the horn" and were crowded every trip. The celebration of the day was that of the pavilion and it fully realized the anticipations of the most sanguine. As early as 12 o'clock people commenced to move up the hill and by 1:30 o'clock there was such a crush at the incline gates that even those who were to take part in the exercises could not go up. Long before 3 o'clock the entire pavilion, upper and lower floors was a perfect mass of humanity, and it was estimated that there were fully 15,000 people on the grounds and in the building.

The exercises commenced at 3 o'clock being delayed an hour by the failure of some of those who were to take part to get up the incline. Mayor d'Autremont presided and after the invocation by Rev. C. C. Salter spoke a few words on the propriety of observing the Fourth. It becomes us, he said, to celebrate this day upon which, in the year 1776, a new star arose in the galaxy of nations, one which was formed with its declaration of freedom and the consciences and intelligence of its organizers as their principal foundation. This nation, though weak at first, has risen from one of thirteen colonies to include nearly half a hundred states with 60,000,000 people. We owe it as a duty, he said, to our country's fathers and protectors to assemble and celebrate that grandest of all epochs in the history of our country, and to arouse in every breast such a feeling of patriotism that we may all be proud to say that we are American citizens.

A quartet composed of P. Doran, Frank Burke, J. C. Sherwood, and Fred Reynolds then sang a patriotic selection and received a storm of applause. Col. E. C. Gridley then read the Declaration of Independence in a clear, penetrating voice that could be heard throughout the pavilion. The address of the day was that of Rev. Dr. Forbes and it was a brilliant effort. There had been some trouble in securing order in the crowd, but as soon as Dr. Forbes took the platform he managed to secure perfect control of his hearers, and when he once had it he retained it to the close of his address.

He expressed his pleasure at speaking before such an audience and on such an occasion and complimented the committee on its work. A patriotic impulse, he said, had drawn them together on this day. Patriotism is a virtue. The time may come when this sentiment will not be needed, when all nations shall be joined in one great brotherhood, when God shall be the father, but this time may be distant. Nations exist for a purpose and until that purpose is effected and there is no longer any need for its existence every man should be devoted to his country. This nation began where others left off and she is the greatest. The best brains, intelligence and power of the old world were used to build her up. Dr. Forbes eulogized the memory of such noble heroes as Washington, Henry, Franklin, Randolph of the revolutionary period and Sherman, Sheridan, Grant and Lincoln of the civil war. He then turned his attention to the public schools and his treatment of this was especially politic and yet fearless.

"Free schools to educate the people," he said, "are the bulwarks of American liberty. May God wither the hand that dares to meddle with the public schools." He also declared religious liberty to be another of the bulwarks of American liberty and said that he was in favor of unrestricted immigration so that the Chinese, the natives of India or the savages of Africa might come and build their temples on the everlasting hills. Dr. Forbes also declared that if he had the power he would sever the last tie that binds the church to the state—the exemption of church property from taxation. If a church cannot live by virtue of its own inherent power without patronage from the state, then let it die. He closed with an eloquent tribute to the nation, saying that God had watched over it and peopled it with haste, and every one should guard it in the future and so it will go on increasing and proving its principles, spreading until all the battle-flags shall be furled in the home of man, and that flag of the principles it represents shall float triumphantly everywhere.

The quartet then sang two more selections and Ellsworth Benham delivered an appropriate address, mainly historical, reviewing the past and prophesying for the future a remarkable growth in which Duluth would be the greatest phenomenon. The singing of America by the school children under the direction of Mrs. Dinwiddie closed the exercises.

THE ATHLETIC SPORTS.

A Fine Program Both on Land and on the Water.

The athletic sports took place immediately after the exercises and excited great interest. The parallel bar exercises by Prof. Alletzhauser's class came first, and the members of the Turn Verein made a very good showing. The football match between two teams of the Duluth club was a lively and exciting game, but the grounds were poor. A. S. Wilson captained the winning team and

G. S. Wilson the other. The 100-yard dash was won by Michael in twelve seconds with Suers second. The prizes were gold and silver medals. Michael also took the first prize, which was $3, in the egg race and Robertson captured $1, the second prize. Hoople won the first prize in the bicycle race, receiving a gold medal, and Williams the second, a silver medal. Thomas Smith threw the 35-pound shot 20 feet 7 inches and received $10, Henry Dworschack throwing it 19 feet 6 inches and receiving $5, the second prize. The three-legged race, prize $4, was won by Nicholson and Barnes. Nicholson won the high jump, making 4 feet 11 inches, and received a gold medal, Barnes being second and just one inch below him. Michael won the sack race and scooped in $4, Barnes being second and getting $2. Henry Cole won the boys' sack race, receiving $3, Thomas Clark being second and getting $1. The pole vault was won by Quinn, who made 7 feet 4 inches, Barnes being second and just one inch less.

The aquatic sports took place just off the Northern Pacific dock and were witnessed by thousands of people. The single scull race was won by J. Kershaw in six minutes and thirty seconds, with H. D. Pearson second and Louis Reeder, of Superior, third. In the doubles Pearson and Mahoney won in six minutes, with Smith and Kershaw second and Goddard and Reeder third. The team, consisting of Kershaw, Pearson, Reeder and Goddard, won in the four, also in six minutes, the other team being D. Mahoney, J. Upham, W. B. McLean and E. Smith.

The Protechnical Display. The display of fireworks in the evening was very brilliant and could be seen from any part of the city. The bay was covered with boats, many people desiring the view from the water and their choice was well made. The fireworks which were sent off under the direction of the committee were the most elaborate and attractive but were not the only ones by any means. All over the city Roman candles, rockets and bombs were shooting into the air, making a dazzling scene. West Superior was not far behind and the display over there could be seen very plainly from Duluth.

The Day at Lester. The celebration at Lester Park was held in the beautiful grove just beyond Lester river. The grounds were crowded and the exercises were entertaining. The Harris military band furnished the music. Prof. A. A. Rudolph read the Declaration of Independence and C. A. Towne made the address. It was a brilliant oratorical effort, full of patriotism and devotion to country. A few games furnished amusement for the crowd. The fish hatchery was a point of interest and was crowded all day.

The Lutheran Celebration. The Lutheran celebration at Hazlewood Park was an unusually pleasant one and the attendance was very large. Speeches were made by the chairman Pastor Collins, Rev. H. L. McMurray, Rev. Mr. Fritschel, Rev. A. Smith, Rev. Peter Nilson, Rev. L. A. Ocasio, Rev. C. O. Cassell, Rev. M. O. Dohle and Rev. Mr. Stettendahl. Games and various forms of amusements provided the entertainment for the day.

But She Was a Chip From the Same Block With Sundry Improvements.

Story of the Fated Collision of the First Ironclads and Its Results.

CHAPTER of accidents, or what amounts to a series of happenings, it was that brought on the wonderful battle between the little Monitor and the huge Merrimack in Hampton Roads March 9, 1862. The meeting and its results turned the naval world upside down, decided who should rule the wave on the American coast and many things besides, yet accident, chance or what not was instigator and arbiter from first to last.

After seven months of incubation, during which time stories of her marvelous powers had terrorized the north, the ram Merrimack entered Hampton Roads on March 8, attacked the Union gunboat fleet, sank one and burned another of our finest frigates and then lay by for favorable tides to enable her to visit similar fate upon the others. At that time the only other ironclad in existence, and the only possible match for the Confederate ram, would have been from twenty-four to sixty hours distant from the scene instead of within sound of the guns, as she actually was, had the plans of her manipulators been carried out. Her presence in the vicinity was due to an accident, and, in fact, but for an accident she would not have been in existence at all. When the news of the building of the Merrimack and other projected ironclads of the Confederacy was confirmed at Washington in midsummer, 1861, congress authorized the construction of similar ones, and placed the matter in the hands of a naval board. Capt. Ericsson had a plan partly in his brain and partly upon paper, the latter in the hands of his friends, who placed it before the naval board, only to receive a rebuff.

One of Ericsson's colleagues, C. S. Bushnell, of New Haven, thought that the inventor would be his own best ambassador, and deliberately lied in order to get him before the naval board. He told Ericsson that his plan was approved and that the chief of the board, Admiral Smith, wished to talk over details with the projector in person. Ericsson hurried to Washington, and was so annoyed over the deception and the disappointment when the truth dawned upon him that his angry eloquence overpowered the opposition. "Gentlemen," said he, "after what I have said I consider it to be your duty to the country to give me an order to build the vessel before I leave this room." The upshot was an order to build an ironclad within one hundred days. This was accident number one.

Ericsson promptly divided the labor among leading iron manufacturers and work was kept up night and day from December to March. It was a novel structure and the men to handle it needed to be trained by the inventor, and the machinery itself was something that required frequent testings and alterations. Finally all was ready for a trial trip, and with volunteer officers and crew the Monitor left New York at midday March 6, 1862. Her commander was Lieut. J. L. Worden, of the navy, with Lieut. S. D. Greene second in command. The crew were volunteers from wooden gunboats then in service. Worden's orders were to proceed to Fortress Monroe, the impending seat of war, by reason of the preparations in the Confederacy for a naval raid on the Chesapeake bay and the Potomac rivers. The north was anxious to keep the Potomac and the bay open to preserve a water route to Washington, the south to close them. The existence of the new iron ram Merrimack at Norfolk and her expected prowess as leader of the southern fleet had been certified by the authorities in Washington, and to be brief they were ready to surrender the main point—the Chesapeake—before a blow had been struck. When it was announced in Washington that the Monitor was ready to sail, a dispatch was sent ordering her to steam up the Potomac to the capital. When this dispatch reached New York the ironclad was at sea and a tug that went in close failed to overtake her. Here was accident number two. So the Monitor sailed on across the Chesapeake past the mouth of the Potomac to Fortress Monroe, arriving late in the evening of the 8th, the last few miles of the voyage being within sound of the guns in the fight between the Merrimack and the wooden fleet. Meanwhile the dispatch that had failed to catch the Monitor's destination on leaving New York had been forwarded to Fortress Monroe. The naval commander there was Capt. John Marston, and when the novel craft came to hand he deliberated. On the one side the burning Congress, the lost Cumberland, the Minnesota aground and riddled with shot, the Roanoke and St. Lawrence pierced with heavy shells from the Merrimack's guns, and the redoubtable ram lying just across the channel unquestionably the victor in the first encounter, and only breathing and waiting for daylight and happy tide to sail from her mooring and make an end to the Union fleet on the lower Chesapeake. On the other hand, imperative orders to send the Monitor to Washington, uncertainty as to whether the little black thing would be worth a button in a fight anyway, and also whether, should she prove to be all that was claimed, prudence did not demand her mooring and make an end to the Union fleet on the lower Chesapeake. On the other hand, imperative orders to send the Monitor to Washington, uncertainty as to whether the little black thing would be worth a button in a fight anyway, and also whether, should she prove to be all that was claimed, prudence did not demand that she be spared to attend the Potomac and the capital. He decided to break the cast iron routine of the service, substitute common sense for red tape and send the disabled Merrimack down the channel. This was the key accident of the series—like an auctioneer's third and last call. The Monitor steamed to where the Minnesota lay, near the shore in the north channel, about midnight March 8. The outlook of the Merrimack across the Roads on the south shore got a glimpse of the strange object by the light of the burning Congress. His report aroused the curiosity of the officers upon the ram and they guessed that Ericsson's famed new contrivance was also in the list, though a late arrival at the tournament. Next morning they made out the shape as that of "a cheese box on a plunk" or "a tin can on a board."

The element of daring was high in the breasts of the Monitor people when they closed with the enemy on the morning of the 9th. The trip from New York down had brought out the weaknesses of their craft. The waves flooded her hold, deluging her furnace room and coal bunkers and checking the fires, besides almost suffocating the crew. Herports could only be closed by cessation of firing; one shell in her only gun chamber—the turret—would disable her fighting powers, and her shots must be delivered almost at random, or "on the fly," as the turret revolutionists called it. The target opposite the gunport for an instant. Besides, the cannon were a new invention, and the charge limited to fifteen pounds of powder for a 180-pound shot. Other drawbacks diseased themselves in fighting. The Merrimack, on the contrary, had made a record and proven invulnerable. The ram steamed along the south channel, passing the Minnesota and giving her a 11-inch shot at long range, as she still lay aground. The north and south channels intersect about two miles from where the Minnesota lay, and the Merrimack kept on to that point and turned into the north channel to close on her prey. To get at the Minnesota and destroy her was the avowed purpose of the commander of the Merrimack. His pilots promised to lay the ram within half a mile of the grounded vessel. But as she approached the Monitor steamed out to meet her, opening fire at a third of a mile. She kept on until she was squarely alongside. The Merrimack's shots rattled on the iron turret and platted deck of the newcomer without leaving a dent, and the revolving gun turret baffled the Confederate gunners in attempts to make portshots and destroy her fighting power.

Besides, the little vessel maneuvered as readily as a tug, and often took position where the ram's guns couldn't touch her. The Merrimack tried ramming with her plated prow, but the Monitor bobbed up and reached, and in return made a lunge at the propeller of the ram which missed by only a hair. The Monitor's shots, even with light charges, started the bolts of the plating on the ram, broke up the iron and at places caused the wood backing to bulge inward. Confederate gunners were disabled by the concussion when these shots struck near them. A double charge of powder would surely have enabled the Monitor to riddle her opponent at all points. The ram had only an inch of plating over the hull below the water line, and there was her vulnerable point, but the Monitor's gunners didn't know that and had no chance to study their opponent, shut up as they were in the turret, with only short glimpses of the ram when the gun openings came abreast of her during the revolutions of the turret.

The communication between the captain and pilot and the people in the turret was cut short by the breaking of the speaking tube early in the action. Messages passed thereafter from the lips of men stationed at intervals. The captain and pilot were in the pilot house, a structure made of square iron logs, belted at the ends. It was fifty feet away from the turret. After fighting three hours the shot in the turret needed replenishing and the vessel was hauled off. The Merrimack at once turned to the Minnesota. She was met by a full broadside of twenty guns that would have blown a wooden vessel out of water. She answered with a shell that tore the inside out of the vessel amidship and set her on fire. The Monitor, seeing again engaged the Merrimack and not with her first severe mishap. A shell from a gun, not ten yards distant, struck the upper log of the pilot house at the sight hole where Worden happened to be looking out. He was stunned by the concussion and his eyes blinded by the powder and fine debris blown into them. Believing that the pilot house was destroyed along with the steering gear, Worden ordered the vessel to "sheer off," and sent for his subordinate, Lieut. Greene, who was in the turret. Greene examined the damage to the pilot house, and finding it slight determined to go on with the fight, but the Merrimack had meanwhile set her course back for Elizabeth river, whence she had come so proudly on the morning of the 8th.

The fire on the Minnesota was put out and she escaped engage in many another fight, so that the object of the Merrimack when she set out to serve her as she had done the Cumberland and Congress was defeated, and the baby Monitor had accomplished it. Worden and his crew crowded over it as a victory, as might be expected of men who held the battle ground and saw their enemy beat a quiet retreat.

This ended the first fight of ironclads and decided the future of naval science. The superiority of the pygmy lay in her revolving gun turret with its impervious shield, her rapid movements and her low, invulnerable deck. Her weaknesses were that the turret was not under complete control and her guns experimental and not fully effective. The shots were delivered at random, never twice in the same place.

The Merrimack was repaired, and two months later, on May 11, was blown up to prevent her capture. The Monitor sank on her way to Hatteras in December, 1862, and in that disaster the nation lost a noble relic. With what enthusiasm would she be hailed today in a naval parade, escorted by the white squadron, which but for her gallant, forlorn fight might be a thing unknown.

North Carolina's Democratic Leader.
Elias Carr, the Democratic nominee for governor of North Carolina, was born in Edgecombe county, that state, fifty-one years ago. He is the son of James Carr, formerly a noted agriculturalist and owner of the big Bracebridge estate, and on being notified of his selection by the convention remarked in his speech of acceptance: "I know how to do only two things. One is to superintend a farm and the other is to vote the Democratic ticket." Candidate Carr is a man of fine education, and has studied at the University of Virginia and the University of North Carolina. He has what is considered the finest plantation in the state, and has long been prominent in all movements tending to benefit farmers. The present, however, is his first political venture. He married Miss Eleanor Kearney just before the war and has a charming family.

Swell Society at Creede.
Society in Creede, the new mining city of Colorado, is very select and the local four hundred have armed guards at the hall doors to see that no improper characters enter. At the first full dress ball a fine Italian orchestra furnished the music, and the hotel people gave a spread that was a marvel of completeness. The cards were handsomely embossed, and premiums are being offered for them by people who were not there, to treasure them as souvenirs of the first ball in Creede.

Curious Pistol Practice.
Andy Champ and George Sterling fired at each other a few times in Springfield, Mo., the other day. Sterling died of his wounds and Champ confessed to having killed him, but on the surgical evidence the coroner's jury decided that Sterling's own pistol gave him the mortal wound.

BIG DEAL CLOSED

The Hartman and Duluth Electric Companies and the Subway Company Consolidate.

New Station to be Built and the Facilities of the Old Companies Increased.

The New Company Will Lay a Mile of Subway on the Business Streets.

A Reduction in the Price of Electricity is One of the Probable Results.

A big deal which has been under way for some time is just about to be consummated, and in fact is practically closed. This is the consolidation of the Hartman Electric company, the Duluth Electric Light & Power company and the Northern Electric Subway company.

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Hartman Electric company held this afternoon, the board of directors was authorized to amend the articles of incorporation so as to allow it to acquire by purchase the stock of the Duluth Electric Light & Power company, and also the stock of the Northern Electric Subway company. The name of the new company will be the Hartman General Electric company.

The plans for a new station were approved. Work will immediately commence upon it and it is intended to be as complete a plant as there is west of Chicago. The location has not yet been decided upon. The capacity of the new consolidated plant when completed will be 30,000 incandescent lights and 1500 arc lights, besides power circuits and supplying large blocks with steam.

The consolidation of all these interests and the consequent increase of business will have the effect of materially lessening the cost of production, and the new company intends that the people shall have the benefit of this. It is not probable that, with the completion of the new plant and facilities, the prices now charged for electricity will be reduced.

Another beneficial feature which will result from the consolidation will be the laying of wires in subways. It is the intention of the company to lay at least one mile of subway in the business portion of the city this year and the tearing down of the network of wires which is now to be seen along the streets. The subways will be used by the telephone companies and probably by the telegraph companies just as soon as they are laid and this will practically bring everything down except the street car wires.

The following officers and directors were elected at the meeting: A. W. Hartman, president; Charles R. Haines, vice president; R. A. Costello, treasurer; C. E. VanBergen, secretary; Paul Sharvy, C. C. Hartman and F. B. Rogers, of Boston.

THE CITY FINANCES.
Treasurer Voss Prepares His Report for June.

The report of City Treasurer Voss for the month of June shows the receipts in the general fund from all sources to have been $35,700.20. On June 1 there was a balance in the treasury of $10,986.39, giving a total of $55,686.59. The disbursements for the month were $20,750.10 and the balance on hand July 1 was $25,936.49. In the permanent improvement fund the receipts were $65,441.25 and the balance from May was $9,778.39, a total of $158,230.25. The disbursements for the month were $61,243.10, leaving a balance to the fund's credit of $96,987.15. The fire department fund shows no receipts for June and no balance. The disbursements during the month were $60.96, to which figure must be added the previous overdraft of $1205.77, which leaves this fund in arrears or overdrawn to the extent of $8116.74. The library fund shows no receipts for June, but there was a balance left over from May amounting to $2507.13. The disbursements during the same period were $1077.70, leaving a balance on hand July 1 of $1429.43. The park fund shows no receipts for June, but there was a balance of $3799.81. The disbursements were $817.24, leaving a balance of $2982.60. There were no changes in the interest or sinking funds since the May report.

Chief Smith's Report.
There were five alarms of fire during June, on the 8th, 18th, 25th, 28th and 29th. The total loss by fire during the month was $857. The value of property attacked by fire was $4,000 and the insurance on the same was $2,800. Pipe-man Arthur Twaddle was hurt at one fire by being burned on the neck by falling plaster. The horses are in good condition and the health of the men is good. There are a number of recommendations regarding the condition of hydrants, but on the whole Chief Smith's report is highly favorable.

A slight correction in the set of cases for next Friday was made so that on that day the cases heard will be Nos. 72, 112, 113, 116, 119, 113. The case of Louis Melard vs. the Highland Improvement company was continued by consent. Cases 45, 46 and 47 were ordered to be submitted upon briefs and agreed statements of facts within 10 days. They are similar actions of several banks or bankers against Robert H. Harris as assignee of W. O. Filletson. Case 51 was continued by consent.

Gilman vs. McFaden is now on trial. This is quite an interesting action, in which J. M. Gilman seeks a divorce from his wife Anna Belle Gilman, on the ground that she has represented to him that she was legally divorced from Hugh A. McFaden. He evidently grew tired of his wife and left her and sought to justify his action by claiming that she never was divorced from McFaden and that her subsequent marriage to the plaintiff, Gilman, was bigamous and therefore null and void. The couple have a male child about 6 years old. The wife avers that she was legally divorced in this county and if all the records of the case are lost or destroyed it was an intentional act on the part of some interested party. She claims to have been divorced in Duluth on or about May 13, 1886.

Before Judge Stearns in room 2, the real estate action of Mary F. Marvin vs. Isaiah Faries was heard and when the evidence was all in and the case was ready for summing up, by counsel, the judge announced that he was an interested party some years ago in the property in dispute, he would therefore annul the proceedings and continue it until it can be heard before some judge who is not in any manner interested. The case had been on trial a day and a half. The case of the Cloquet Lumber company vs. W. W. Billson was settled this afternoon. Case 44 is a lien case and will be submitted on briefs.

MADE THEIR MARK

Two Young Women Are Enthusiastic Republicans and Have Shown It.

One is the Wife of Gen. E. Bird Grubb, Who Was Minister to Spain.

The Other is Mrs. Carson Lake, Who Recently Inspired the Blaine Followers.

American women are indeed coming to the front in politics when one of them can keep a national convention in an uproar for twenty minutes and another is the only woman in the world to have received the Iron Cross of Merit from the emperor of Germany.

GENERAL E. BIRD GRUBB.

Germany. Perhaps we should now add a third (though an American only by adoption), as the wife of the late minister to Spain has received the highest honors from the queen regent of that country.

Mrs. E. Bird Grubb, who recently arrived from Spain with her husband, was noted in her native Scotland as "The Rose of Lismore." She was Miss Violet Sopwith, daughter of Thomas Sopwith, a prominent manufacturer, and her extraordinary beauty was fairly matched by her talents, winning manners and charitable disposition. She had long been patroness of a Sunday school near Lismore.

The marriage on Nov. 3, 1891, at St. Stephen's church, South Kensington, London, was an affair of unusual brilliancy, and the events leading to it have the flavor of romance. Miss Sopwith's father had large investments in Spain, and so the family had acquired a social standing at Madrid. There General Grubb's daughter met Miss Sopwith. It was a case of "love at first sight." The general was a widower of forty-nine, and his mother and daughter accompanied him to Madrid. It is generally said that the whole family fell in love with Miss Sopwith, and it is still in dispute as to which one "made the match."

So true it is that the match was made and all Philadelphia declares that so far from the "Lismore Rose's" beauty being over-rated, she is a little above medium height, a clear blond with violet eyes, slender and graceful form and an expression that is indescribably winning. Although Philadelphia society claims General Grubb (who by the way has discarded his elegant side whiskers), his residence is in New Jersey, where he may be the Republican candidate for governor. His record in the war was brilliant. He is a man of wealth and his home at Edgewater, N. J., is a great social center. If she follows English precedents his wife may aid him in his canvass.

Mrs. Grubb is the only lady who has received the decoration of the Marie Louise badge. It was bestowed on her by the queen regent of Spain.

The lady who raised such a storm in the Republican convention is Mrs. Carson Lake, wife of the well known journalist of that name. He has long been an enthusiastic supporter of James G. Blaine, and his wife appears to have a keen sense of that man's enthusiasm. At her home in New York she is known as a very modest as well as a very pretty little woman, and certainly when she went to Minneapolis nothing was further from her thoughts than to create a sensation. But the hour came and the occasion was too much for her.

Mr. Blaine's name had been presented to the convention by Senator Wolcott, of Colorado, and the regular cheer was dying out when suddenly from a seat just behind the platform a bright and pretty woman rose, shot a white parasol into the air and waved it like an orchestra leader's baton. In an instant it seemed that one woman was master of the convention.

MRS. CARSON LAKE.

An electric thrill went through the vast body. As she waved her baton the multitude rose, first by dozens and then by hundreds, and all went wild with cheering. In ten minutes or so the cheering began to die away, when she mounted a chair, opened her parasol and started again.

Every one then took notice that she had a very shapely arm, that her face was a handsome one, oval, and eyes large and luminous. A flag was handed to her and she started the crowd a third time. Then she suddenly discovered that the "Isidok friend" had his aim on her and dropped into her chair with a blush. It was a sudden impulse and she could not have explained it.
